Sympathizers Said To Hold High Positions

Washington — (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter says Premier Fidel Castro's Cuban regime appears to follow a Communist pattern in some of its actions.

Herter also said Communist sympathizers hold high government positions but added that "I don't think anyone could say affirmatively that Cuba is Communist at the present time."

He made the statements in an interview with Sen. Everett Saltonstall (R-Mass.). The program was recorded before the State Department announced Friday that U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal would return to Cuba.

Bonsal went back to Havana Sunday in a new effort to improve U.S.-Cuban relations. He was recalled Jan. 22 in protest against attacks on him and this country by Cuban officials.

Herter said Castro's attitude toward the United States has been "very difficult for us to take because we have been subject to innuendoes and accusations which really required us, as you know, to withdraw our ambassador from Cuba."

The secretary declared that the United States was very sympathetic to the aims of the Castro revolution. He said this country never has objected to Castro's land reform law, but does insist that U.S. owners be compensated for property taken from them.

Herter also commented that he thought Cuba "got the short end" of its recent economic pact with the Soviet Union but he did not explain why.

On other matters, he: —Warned against expecting dramatic results from the Big Four summit conference beginning May 16 at Paris.

—Predicted a United Western front on Germany and other issues at the conference.

—Reiterated that the United States would not agree to any disarmament proposals which fail to provide for effective control or inspection to guard against cheating.

Helen Keller's Companion Dies

Bridgeport, Conn. — (UPI) — Miss Polly Thomson, for nearly 25 years "the eyes and ears" of Helen Keller, died last Sunday night at Bridgeport hospital. She was 75.

Miss Thomson was admitted to the hospital Dec. 1 as a medical patient.

Since 1936 she had been the inseparable companion of Miss Keller, who has been blind and deaf since infancy. Miss Thomson served as Miss Keller's link with the world, communicating with rapid finger movements in the palm of her hand.

Miss Thomson joined Miss Keller, who will become 80 this June, after the death of Anne Sullivan, Miss Keller's first teacher. The lived in nearby Easton.

Attorneys to Fight Mass Negro Arrests

Washington — (UPI) — A conference of civil rights attorneys agreed Saturday to use every legal means to fight the mass arrests and fines arising from the wave of Negro lunch counter strikes in the southern states.

The attorneys, who are holding a three-day strategy meeting here, signaled a new round of segregation test suits aimed at coming to the legal defense of Negro students involved in the southern "sit in" strikes.

The test suits will be based broadly on the premise the denial of service to Negroes at public lunch counters and the arrest of demonstrating students violated the First and 14th amendments to the constitution.

Temperature Forced Down

A refrigeration blanket was wrapped around the patient, forcing his body temperature to drop four degrees in one hour. The tumor, containing blood and a small nodule, was then removed.

There was no sign of brain or nerve damage and the body temperature then was allowed to creep up to normal.

Another Week Forecast in Debate on Civil Rights Act

Washington — (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) today forecast "at least another week" of debate before Congress finishes with civil rights legislation.

Mansfield said he saw no indication that the House would complete action on a civil rights bill before the middle of the week. The Senate still would need time to act on the House version.

Both the Senate and House resumed the civil rights battle at noon, with the Senate entering its sixth consecutive week on the subject and the House starting a second full week of discussion.

New Drive in Senate
Action in the House centers on Southern attempts to weaken a section based on a modified form of the administration proposal for court-appointed referees to oversee Negro voting rights.

And in the Senate, liberals began a new drive to strengthen the referee plan. The latest move, by Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), was a try at writing in a combination of federal enrollment officers, first suggested by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.).

Senate leaders still planned to let the House act first in hopes it would pass a bill that the Senate could approve without change. This would

Kennedy's Organization Said Best Ever Seen in Wisconsin

Washington — (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is being credited in Wisconsin political circles with fielding the best organization ever seen in the state's presidential primary campaign.

Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) are matched in the April 5 contest, which now looks like the most important of the presidential primaries before the Democratic National Convention.

Useful at any time, a good organization is particularly important to a candidate in primaries where the voter turnout normally is smaller than in general elections. Kennedy's smooth organization was counted a significant factor in the record vote he polled recently in New Hampshire.

Questioned Sunday by Sen. Kenneth P. Keating (R-N.Y.), Kennedy said it would be "extremely difficult" for him to win the presidential nomination if he loses in Wisconsin.

But like Humphrey earlier, Kennedy said he would not pull out if he should lose in Wisconsin.

The two candidates face a rematch in the West Virginia primary May 10. This contest will be watched by politicians trying to measure the effect of the religious issue in the 1960 campaign. Less than 5 per cent of West Virginia's residents share Kennedy's Catholic faith.

Humphrey in Wisconsin
Humphrey was in Wisconsin today to finish up a week end of campaigning. Kennedy, who finished a four-day Wisconsin tour Sunday, was scheduled to go to Indianapolis to make his formal entry into the May 3 Indiana primary, where he faces no major opposition.

Both will return to Wisconsin again later this week and then move to Detroit to attend the Midwest Democratic Conference next week end. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), an unannounced candidate for the presidential nomination, also will visit Detroit.

Motherwell Trial To Set Sentence

Downville, Calif. — (UPI) — The first wife of Larry Lord Motherwell will be the state's first witness today at the trial to determine whether the 43-year-old construction worker will be sent to the gas chamber.

Motherwell was convicted last Tuesday of the first degree murder of Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, well-to-do Washington, D. C. widow.

California law provides for a separate trial in such cases to set the penalty.

Prosecutor Lynn Compton said the woman would tell of attempts made on her life by Motherwell during their marriage. This testimony would be intended to show that Motherwell has been guilty of other acts of violence besides killing Mrs. Putney.

No End in Sight For Actors' Strike

Hollywood — (UPI) — The Screen Actors Guild strike against seven major motion picture studios entered its third week today with no prospect for a settlement in sight.

Representatives of the Guild and the studios held their last negotiating session Friday. Another session was scheduled for sometime this week, but no specific day was set.

In addition to the 14,000 actors affected by the strike, about 12,000 workers in related fields also were idled by walkout, according to industry estimates.

Hypothermia Used In Brain Surgery After Heart Stops

Rochester, Minn., (Science Service)—A brain tumor has been removed from a patient whose heart stopped just before surgery began.

The surgeons who performed the operation, Drs. Alfred Uihlein, Robert G. Lippert, and John S. Welch of the Mayo Clinic here, believe the operation was successful because they subjected the patient to hypothermia (lowering of the body temperature).

If the heart stops, the brain is quickly damaged. The Mayo surgeons used hypothermia to minimize this brain damage.

Lesion of Brain
The case history of their 35-year-old male patient, reported in the current Proceedings of the Staff Meetings of the Mayo Clinic, included several head injuries and convulsive seizures. Laboratory tests showed a lesion on the under side of the brain. This lesion had pushed the brain slightly askew. Surgery was needed to remove the lesion.

While the general anesthetic was being given, the man's heart stopped. Immediately his chest was opened under sterile conditions and the surgeon began heart massage.

Heart Began to Beat
After 30 to 60 seconds, the heart began to beat regularly. Two and one-half minutes after the heart had stopped there was a pulsation in the wrist again. Blood pressure, pulse and breathing were stable within 35 minutes after the chest incision was closed.

Now the question arose: Should the patient be subjected to the added physical shock of an operation?

The brain was already in danger of damage from the earlier heart arrest. Pressure inside the brain, purposely introduced during one of the pre-operative tests, might kill the patient or cause the heart to stop again if the space-occupying lesion was not removed immediately. The decision, continue.

Temperature Forced Down
A refrigeration blanket was wrapped around the patient, forcing his body temperature to drop four degrees in one hour. The tumor, containing blood and a small nodule, was then removed.

There was no sign of brain or nerve damage and the body temperature then was allowed to creep up to normal.

The patient made a rapid recovery. At the time of his discharge, his heart was behaving normally. He had a slight weakness in the left arm, but this had been severe before the operation. This condition was slowly disappearing.

Stocks Stage Early Irregular Advance

New York — (UPI) — Stocks staged an irregular advance in the early trading today.

Steels featured a gain of more than 1 in Youngstown Sheet and around a half in Republic. U. S. Steel lost a small fraction and Bethlehem was unchanged.

Autos ruled fractionally lower with Ford and General Motors off around a half or more. Chrysler firmed. Auto dealer stocks climbed to a new record of more than a million units in early March.

De Gaulle Stand Stirs Political Storm in France

Paris — (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's refusal to summon Parliament into session on farm problems stirred up a political storm among the Socialists today 48 hours before Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's arrival.

Former Premier Guy Millet, Socialist party chief, summoned a meeting of his party leadership for Tuesday. There were reports he might call an emergency national party convention.

The conservative daily newspaper Figaro said de Gaulle's increasing trend toward one man rule had "pushed the Socialist party... toward the Communists."

Indignation Shown
In all political circles there was some indignation at de Gaulle. Some rightwing politicians feared there was growing danger of a "popular front" which the Communists have sought for so long.

The trend to the left appeared to be a windfall for the Communists who have been laying extensive plans to reap political benefits from the Khrushchev visit.

An absolute majority—287 of 551 deputies—of the National Assembly has demanded an emergency session to debate farm problems. The farmers protest they are being squeezed in de Gaulle's austerity program for the nation.

But de Gaulle said Friday he would not call Parliament back because this would be to pressure groups and violate the spirit of the constitution.
