South Africa Challenges UN's Right in Dispute

United Nations, N.Y. — South Africa repeated its challenge today to the United Nations' right to intervene in its racial turmoil and said any action by the Security Council would be regarded by its government "in a serious light."

The United States nevertheless announced its support of a resolution asking the Security Council to call upon South Africa to end racial discrimination.

'Double Standard' Charged

South African delegate Bernardus Gerhardt Fourie, who pulled out of the council debate Wednesday after a similar protest against discussion of racial killings near Johannesburg and Capetown, accused the United Nations today of adopting a "double standard" toward such disturbances.

He renewed his argument that the U.N. Charter bans intervention in domestic affairs of any country.

He also attacked Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev for charging that South Africa had "embarked on a course of mass destruction of people of other races."

"I have already stated how greatly the union government regrets the loss of life that has occurred—a loss of 73 persons," Fourie said. "I must however, pose the question: If this constitutes the mass destruction of other races, how would the distinguished representative of the Soviet Union regard the loss of life running into hundreds of thousands, elsewhere?"

Asks About India

"I hope he feels equally strong about such a loss of life."

Noting that India was one of the 29 Afro-Asian countries signing the complaint against South Africa, Fourie asked why "the very serious civil disturbances that took place in India in 1956, in which a large number of people were killed and wounded, never came before the council."

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the council the resolution introduced Thursday by Ecuador, with the backing of the 29-nation Afro-Asian group, "seeks to build a bridge and not a wall."

LOGS 30 MILLION MILES

Washington — The Federal Space Agency reports that the Pioneer V sun satellite has logged more than 30 million miles since its launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., March 11. The 26-inch sphere is in an elliptical, 514.5-million-mile orbit around the sun between the earth and Venus.

Stocks Continue In Narrow Range In Early Trading

New York — Stocks continued to work within a narrowly irregular price range in the early trading today.

Industrial stocks eased in their average on losses of more than a point in Du Pont and Swift & Co., and around a half in Chrysler and International Nickel.

Another decline today would make it six in a row for the list.

A sharp increase in auto production brought firmness into the motors section with gains of around a half in American, Ford and General Motors.

Texas Instruments added 2 in the electronics where General Tim Zenith and Philco rose more than a point each and IBM lost around 1. Polaroid, off more than 14 Thursday, dropped another 5.

Union Attorney Satisfied on Plant Guards

Portland — A union attorney indicated Thursday he was satisfied about the question of armed guards at the struck Oregonian and Oregon Journal plants.

The matter came up before the city council which postponed a hearing on application for a license for Wallace Security Agency.

Attorney Sidney Lezak, representing the Inter-Union Newspaper Strike Committee, said he wanted to be heard because a change of circumstances constituted a "threat to the peace of the community." He said he had been advised that the Oregonian was going ahead and hiring armed guards on its own and that this was an attempt to circumvent licensing procedure.

Lezak said the strike committee wanted an investigation to see if this was going on.

Mayor Terry Schunk said he had talked to management of the newspapers and had been assured there was no intention to have armed guards except in the pressroom. Lezak said if this was the case he was satisfied.

"I have assurance that there will be no great number of armed guards and I expect them (management) to adhere to their word," Schunk said. "If that is true we have accomplished our purpose," Lezak said.

League to Provide Measure Material

Information on candidates and measures to appear on the primary election ballot will be provided for Jackson county servicemen by the Medford League of Women Voters, County Clerk Marvin Madden has reported.

The non-partisan information will be mailed to servicemen at the request of friends or relatives as a part of a state and national program of the voters service group.

Madden said that friends and relatives of servicemen may call Mrs. John McLaughlin, SPring 3-3860, or Mrs. Robert Bosworth, TWinoaks, 9-1641, for the service.

Group Expresses Southern Negro Student Support

Washington — The White House Conference on Children and Youth called today for an outpouring of federal money to improve America's schools.

It also:

- Expressed support for Southern Negro students conducting sit-down demonstrations against racial segregation.
- Urged President Eisenhower to "use all means at his disposal, including the prestige of his office," to speed nationwide compliance with Supreme Court desegregation decrees.

—Endorsed the principle of "family planning" and said both public and private agencies should be prepared to assist married couples who seek "medical advice and services for child spacing."

—Proposed a general strengthening of public welfare programs, with particular emphasis on relieving social conditions such as acute poverty and overcrowded housing which breed juvenile delinquency.

Taking of Census Officially Launched With Call on Ike

Washington — President Eisenhower told the census taker today that the White House has inscribed himself as head of his household.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower were officially counted at a White House ceremony which got the 1960 census underway across the nation.

PGE Stockholders Seek Injunction Against Dam

Portland — Fourteen stockholders of Portland General Electric Co. Thursday filed suit in Circuit court here seeking injunctions to restrain the firm's officers from proceeding with construction of Round Butte dam on the Deschutes river.

The complainants own 1,575 shares of PGE's 3,600,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

Levi McDonald Hearing Slated

Oregon City — A second attempt to have the Oregonian and Oregon Journal cited for contempt in connection with publishing details of confessions arising from the Jan. 31 dynamitings of 10 newspaper trucks was scheduled for a hearing in Circuit court here Monday.

McDonald's attorneys have asked Judge P. K. Hammond to issue an order to show cause why the papers should not be held in contempt. Judge Hammond did not issue the order but said that he would consider the motion Monday.

Payroll Astray But Panic Averted

Castle Rock, Wash. — A panic was almost caused here Thursday when a $26,000 Castle Rock school district payroll went astray in the mails.

Cowlitz County Auditor Sarah Ivie put 79 checks in the mail Tuesday and they were to be delivered here early Wednesday. But they did not arrive.

An investigation was launched and it was found that the money was delivered by mistake to Toutle, Wash.

Control Board Not Complying with Law

Salem — The Oregon Board of Control office admitted today with some chagrin that the board for the past 24 years has not complied with a state law which requires that its first meeting every month be held on the month's third working day.

J. N. Peet, board secretary, brought the technicality to light after poring through the statutes.

By custom, the board has met all these years on every Tuesday.

Peet announced that effective immediately the board's first meeting of each month will be scheduled to comply with the law.

Oddly enough, the board's next "lawful" meeting — and the first of the month — falls on a Tuesday.

First Visit

He expressed belief that this was the first time he had ever been visited by a census taker.

"I've been in the Army all the rest of my life," he told Census Director Robert W. Burgess and Louis J. Alexis, census supervisor for the District of Columbia.

Secretary Notified

The complaint said that stockholders Lenox H. Dick, Walter A. Goss and Lawrence J. Cohen, acting for the PGE stockholders' committee, notified PGE Secretary Clarence Phillips of their intention to present two resolutions to the board meeting set for April 20. They asked that notice and information of the resolutions be included in the meeting call.

They said that no mention of the resolutions was made in the notice to stockholders, and instead, stockholders were asked to submit proxies approving the action of the board.

Cease Applications

The proposed resolutions were that the corporation not build the dam and cease applications for licenses and further expenditures and that the corporation not construct or attempt to construct Round Butte dam without first obtaining a permit from the Oregon Hydroelectric commission.

Sweetland to Speak At Demo Installation

Officers of the newly-formed Medford chapter of the Young Democrats of Oregon will be installed in ceremonies Saturday, April 2, in Kim's banquet room. The club also will receive its charter.

Charles A. Langston is president of the local group; Gary Picard, vice president; Mrs. William Wheat, secretary; treasurer: Gerald Scannell, legal adviser; and James Shopp, public relations chairman.

State Sen. Monroe Sweetland, Milwaukie, will be guest speaker. Officers will be installed by Fred Chambers, Salem, state vice president of Young Democrats; Daniel Marsh, Eugene, vice president of the first district; and William Williams, secretary of the Eugene club.

The public is invited to the luncheon meeting. Reservations may be made by calling Democratic headquarters, SPring 3-4777.

Investigation of Political Ad in Wisconsin Urged

Milwaukee — Demands poured in today for an investigation of a political advertisement urging Protestants to vote for Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the Wisconsin presidential primary Tuesday.

The religious issue, ever in the background in the campaign between Humphrey and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a Roman Catholic, flared into the open Thursday when the advertisement appeared in most of the state's weekly newspapers.

Asks Square Deal

The two-column, six-inch ad said:

"Let's give Humphrey a square deal. A leading pollster reports solidarity of Catholic voters for Kennedy is far greater than that of Protestants behind Humphrey. Included are normally Republican voters who said they would back Nixon against any Democrat except Kennedy."

"Should Republican voters like those quoted above determine who the Democratic nominee should be?"

Wisconsin Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson, a Democrat, was asked to investigate the ad, which he labeled "reprehensible—a crude and offensive attempt to stir up religious prejudice."

No Connection Claimed

Both Humphrey and Kennedy and all their followers remained categorically firm in denying any connection with the advertisements.

Early this morning the man who has admitted being the promoter of the idea was found in Chicago, preparing to take a bus back to his Tampa, Fla., home, Charles Greene, formerly of Milwaukee and a one-time state chairman of the Democratic party, refused to say who was involved in the matter with him.

WORKER MAKES FIND

New York — Charles Dunne, a Transit Authority maintenance man, found a billfold with no identification and $1,100 in $100 bills Thursday. Police said Dunne, who makes $103 a week and has a wife and three children, could keep the money if no one claims it within a year.

TV DIRECTOR DIES
