

Tornado Vies in Haywards; Hopes To Better 1958-'59

University of Oregon, Eugene—The 34th annual Haywards Relays, a prep track and field classic which always attracts a banner field, opened this afternoon at Hayward field here. It will conclude on Saturday.

There was a mammoth entry list with 84 teams among four divisions.

Class B and C teams were in competition today with 23 and 21 schools in the respective divisions. Fourteen schools vie in Class A and 26 in the Metropolitan division on Saturday. Field events are set for 12:30 p.m. starting with the first running event at 2:30 p.m.

St. Mary's of Medford in Class C and Coquille in Class B were defending 1958 titles today. Jefferson of Portland and Cottage Grove were Metro and Class A victors last year.

The meet was originated by the late Col. Bill Hayward, Oregon track coach for 44 years. It is now sponsored by Eugene Active club.

Medford's High school track and field team goes to Eugene on Saturday ambitious to improve on 1958 and 1959 Black Tornado showings in the annual Hayward Relays.

The Black Tornado will compete in the Metropolitan class.

Through 1957 Medford thins were the scourge in the big school divisions of the meet. They won 15 championships in 18 years and never finished less than second.

However, last year and the year before, with other schools putting more emphasis on track, the Tornado had to settle for seventh place.

A comeback in Medford cinder and field prominence loomed last Saturday when the Tornado won the Rogue Valley Relays for the first time in three seasons. Whether the showing was an indication of better things to come in statewide rivalry will be better known tomorrow.

Hopes Bolstered

And, the Tornado head north with the realization that with the improvement of cinder and teams around the state, the competition should be tough. Their own improvement, nevertheless, strengthens the Tornado's hopes.

Coach Dean Benson reported that in the Rogue relays everybody on the squad, with scant exception, exceeded previous performance.

Among particularly pleasing efforts, to Benson, were Kent Blew's blazing 50.9 quarter-mile in the mile relay and Len Griggs' sizzling 21.3 in his 220-yard leg of the half-mile relay. The coach said that Wayne Cowan has been looking real good in the discus this week.

Medford will contend in its division against an anticipated 25 other schools. The program will be 13 events, the same as in the Rogue relays with seven contests on the track and six in the field.

Squad of 31

Races are the 440-yard, 880-yard, mile, two-mile, distance medley and shuttle hurdle relays and high hurdles. Field contests are the javelin, discus and pole vault, in which individual efforts are scored, and the shot put, broad jump and high hurdle relays in which the efforts of three men of a school in each event are totaled. The high hurdles is the only "individual" race.

Benson has indicated that he will take a squad of some 31 trackmen, including alternates to Eugene. The Tornado crew will go to the university town tomorrow morning.

MEPFORD ROSTER:

High hurdles—Mike Hood, Walt Ayres (alternate); Bill Charley; shuttle hurdles—Robert Hamilton, Ayres, Dick Andrews (alternate); pole vault—Skip Bennett, Nick Langren; javelin—Terry Ryan, Charley (alternate); Eric Koelner; discus—Wayne Cowan, Jerry Winetout (alternate); Al Funston; broad jump—Hood, Phil Humphreys; Dan Sieg (alternate); Len Griggs; shot put—Tom Borlis, George Clearwater, Funston (alternate); high jump—Bob McIntyre, Jerry Shulte, Hood (alternate); 440 relay—Mike McCullough, Humphreys, Jim Schmidt, Griggs (alternate); 880 relay—Humphreys, Kent Blew, Ryan, Griggs (alternate); 1,600 relay—Bruce Hill, Bob Rix, Dan Miller, Bill Dahlstrom, Ray Smith, distance medley—H. Benson has indicated that Medford High tennis team members recorded their second Southern Oregon conference victory of the week yesterday and have their third engagement in the loop on Saturday.

Tornado netmen blanked Klamath Falls there yesterday 7 to 0. Saturday foe is Grants Pass which won from Klamath by the same count. The match tomorrow is at Grants Pass.

mings over Keith Baxter, 6-2, 6-1, John Shaw over Dan Ross, 6-2, 6-3, Dave Ryn over Duane Fitzsimmons, 6-3, 6-3, Jim Randles over Ken Henry, 6-4, 6-1, and John McKinley over Gary Buchholz 6-1, 6-3.

Chemistry Career Goal Of Golfer

Las Cruces, N.M. — UP — When freshman Tom Veal glances around the New Mexico State University campus he sees little that reminds him of home.

True, there's plenty of farming country nearby, but it produces cotton, not predominantly wheat. And there's a prairie not far away. But the summers are much longer — and much hotter — and the winters milder.

But it's a different story on the golf course, where Canadian Tom Veal would be at home anywhere.

Veal is from Manitoba and traveled nearly 2,000 miles into another country to go to school, using his natural ability as an athlete to help pay the way. He's here on a golf scholarship and his first matches indicated that a little thing like an early winter didn't stop him from learning his way around the links.

Athletic Heritage

Veal is adept at many sports, reflecting an athletic heritage. His grandfather, Courtney Veal, once was a bantamweight champion of England. Besides being an avid hunter and fisherman Tom took part in baseball, basketball, ice skating, hockey and curling in school.

After his graduation from high school, he worked two years in a Dauphin pharmacy in hopes of furthering his ambition to be a chemist.

College took money and he had none. John Lawrence, the golf pro at Riding Mountain National park near Dauphin, had the answer. Try for a golf scholarship at some American college, he advised.

Several letters later, Veal was on his way to New Mexico.

Veal shoots in the low 70's despite his restricted practice in Canada. Now that he can play as often as he wants, his coaches believe the stage is set for his development into an outstanding golfer.

Long Opening Day In Coast Circuit

By PETE COLEMAN

United Press International

The Pacific Coast league just might come up with the longest "opening day" on record this year.

It'll be three days for sure and possibly more until all eight teams are in the standings officially.

To start with, this season's "opening day" was divided into two parts. Four members of the circuit were to play Thursday, and the other four were to go today.

However, only two teams made it to the starting game Thursday, Sacramento and Vancouver.

They played a day-night doubleheader in the California capital city and the hosting Solons took both games, 10-9 and 5-1.

Portland Delayed

Tacoma, back in the league after a 55-year absence, and Portland were to open in Tacoma, but were rained out, delaying the Giants official return by at least two more days.

The two teams were scheduled to try it again in a day-night twin bill Saturday. However, the best the weather man would say for the day was "cloudy," and that could be bad because it has been raining in western Washington since Monday.

Today's half of the "opening day" slate finds the Seattle Rainiers, who won 16 of 20 spring training games, at San Diego for a day-night double bill and Spokane at Salt Lake for a single night game.

Sacramento and Vancouver banged out 26 hits between them in the 10-inning opener of their doubleheader.

The Solons blasted six Vancouver pitchers for 17 hits, including a home run by Dave Roberts, while the Mounties worked over four Sacramento hurlers for nine safeties, two of them home runs by Howie Goss.

Sacramento trailed going into the last of the 10th, 9-8, but won it on a double by Bill Smith, a single by Manuel Jimenez, a sacrifice and two walks.

Pitcher Elmer Singleton and outfielder Al Heist, a pair of Coast league veterans, combined their talents to give Sacramento the nightcap win.

Singleton held the Mounties to seven hits and struck out 10 while Heist belted out a home run and a triple to drive in three runs.

Bob Baicena homered for the only Vancouver run.

Wood Has Lead In Greensboro

Greensboro, N.C. — UP — Thorne Wood, a left-handed golfer from Asheboro, N.C., led a field of 128 today into the second round of the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

The fact that a lefty topped the field was a rarity and Jim Gacquin, PGA field secretary, said it was one of the few times a left-hander has ever led a PGA-sponsored tournament.

Wood, who stands 6-1 and weighs 160 pounds, slashed five off par Thursday with an opening round 33-33-66. He attributed his low score to a superb putting performance. He sank a 25-footer for an eagle three on the 453-yard par five 18th hole.

One stroke back at 67 going into the second 18 holes of the 72-hole tournament were defending champ Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia.

BOOST EARNINGS

Dunedin, Fla. — UP — Arnold Palmer's victory in the Master's golf tournament last weekend boosted his yearly earnings to $44,300. Ken Venturi, who was runnerup in the Master's took over second place in the PGA standings with $23,300 total earnings.

Cubs Nudge Giants 6-5; Winning Run On Pop-Fly Double

By HAL WOOD

San Francisco — UP — A pop-fly double broke up a battle of home runs last night—and handed the San Francisco Giants their first defeat of the 1960 National league campaign.

But Manager Bill Rigney wouldn't blame anybody for the misplay that gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 victory before 32,350 fans in radiant-heated Candlestick Park.

"I hate losing a ball game that way," said Rigney. "But it couldn't be helped. And I don't like to have a day off like this after losing a game."

"But we'll get 'em tomorrow with Sam Jones going for us."

There wasn't much conversation in the Giant dressing room after one loss. The Giants, who had been trailing all the way, finally hit the jackpot in the bottom of the eighth when Willie McCovey clouted a three-run homer to tie the score at 5-5. That set the stage for fate.

Relief pitcher Billy O'Dell walked Bob Will with one down. He got Ernie Banks on a fly to center and Frank Thomas came to bat. Thomas hit a fly to left field that Orlando Cepeda got set to catch. Then a blast of wind came along and started carrying the ball to the infield.

Wild Chase

When it finally came to earth, with Cepeda wildly chasing it, it was only a few feet back of the shortstop position.

"I think maybe Ed Bressoud could have caught it if he hadn't given up too soon," said Rigney. But the ball fell free and Will galloped home all the way from first with the winning run.

This ruined all the other home run heroics. San Francisco had taken a one-run lead in the second on Cepeda's homer. Then in the third, Ernie Banks clouted the eighth grand slam homer of his career to give the Cubs a 4-1 advantage.

They got another break in the seventh on a walk to Richie Ashburn and Tony Taylor's triple off Willie Kirkland's glove in left field. Kirkland got that run back in the bottom of the seventh when he smashed a solo homer.

Glant jottings: Rigney plans to start Johnny Antonelli on Sunday and Mike McCormick Monday against the Los Angeles Dodgers. Pitcher Moe Drabowski, working in the Chicago bullpen, cost the Cubs a run in the eighth inning. Thomas clouted a line-drive down the third baseline that rolled into the bullpen. Drabowski fielded the ball. The umpire sent Thomas from second back to first. Don Zimmer followed with a single that would have scored Thomas from second. Thomas ultimately died on third . . .

Said Cub Manager Charley Grimm: "I could have died when I saw him pick up that ball. There's an old adage: Never pick up anything when it's rolling." . . . Catcher Hobie Landrith of the Giants will be sidelined with his injury for another week. . . . Antonelli hasn't been used yet because of a stiff back . . .

The Giants turned on the radiant heating system to toast the 20,000 fans in the reserved seat section . . . The wind was practically nil last night, allowing the first homers over the left field fence . . .

The traffic jam that failed to materialize on opening day hit with a bang for the night game. Most of the fans decided to leave for the game less than an hour before the start. The result was that many didn't get in until after the third inning. However, the parking lots were cleaned out in an hour after the battle.
