Diana Roberts, Tom Ashton, Bob Betz, Noel Dunlap, Bill Foust, Jack Young, Sandra Heidemann, Phyllis Hagle and Linda Sheppard represented the MHS distributive education program at a conference held at Oregon state college in Corvallis March 25-27.

Although this was a competitive meeting, only one of the Medford students was eligible to enter. The fields in which the student could enter was at layout, merchandising essays, merchandising speeches, and job interviews. The students also could enter a field of judging, such as window display and selling demonstration.

At this conference a DE "Club of the Year" and a DE "Student of the Year" were chosen. Medford did not participate in this because the DE program was not recognized until the beginning of the second semester.

The students traveled in two cars to the college and were accompanied by John Crabb, MHS distributive education director, and his wife.

Dick Day, well known around MHS for his outstanding art work, has scored for the school again by being chosen to represent Oregon in the Hallmark Scholarship award contest.

Dick will send his oil painting to Kansas City to be judged in the national contest in May. The award for winning this competition is a $500 art scholarship.

On March 23, Dr. Langdon Hedrick, an employee of Technicians in Portland, gave a lecture to the Southern Oregon Teachers association on the importance and the making of the cathode ray tube.

Five teachers and four students from Medford attended the lecture, which was held in Grants Pass. James Johnston, Medford physics teacher, presided.

Also attending were Jim Tungate, Roger Harris, Craig Wright, and Ray Bellevue. Local instructors included Mrs. Delphie Cox, Arthur Scott, Marvin Troutman, Floyd Pawlowski and Johnston.

National Library week opened at MHS with displays, new books and eye-catching paper book markers.

The displays consisted of exhibits on art, books written in the Russian language, and combinations of current popular books. The library displays featured science and science-fiction books.

The library has about 80 newly-received books.

The 19th annual session of Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, will be held June 13-19 at Willamette university in Salem.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Edward Leach, Mrs. Clark Walker and Mrs. Leon Haskins interviewed 18 girls from Medford. Not more than three girls from this area will be able to go.

The girls who attend Girls' State will assume the duties of citizens by electing their own city, county, and state officials. Also elected will be state senators and representatives in accordance with Oregon law.

Health Careers day, held Saturday at the Oregon Medical school in Portland, was to be attended by MHS students Ruth Covert, Eloise Herbert, Sandra Jewett, Lynn Latham, Janice Nelson, Dale Peterson, Cassie Thompson, Ray Konopasek, Susan Fontaine, and Julie Yoakley.

Dayle Stratton, junior, was chosen chairman of the clothing drive, and Jim Albright, sophomore, was selected chairman of the book drive for the International Relations league.

IRL members plan to collect useful clothing to send to the underprivileged in Communist satellite countries. The Philippines will receive all text books collected by the club. These books do not have to be new, but should be in fairly good condition.

Thespians Troupe 358 will hold a semi-formal initiation and award banquet May 19 at the Medford hotel.

About 30 students attended the Latin club banquet April 9 at Ping's restaurant. A Vestal virgin ceremony was presented, and each class put on a skit.

Also present were three "slaves" from each of the two junior high schools in the area.

Members of the Home Economics Service club met Tuesday to discuss plans for a dinner April 18 for the foreign-exchange student, Therese Inglin.

National Future Homemakers of America was celebrated last week by members of the local FHA club.

Each day, Tuesday through Friday, various teachers were honored with a red rose and were pronounced "Teacher of the Day." The teachers were chosen by a drawing conducted by the club members.

Teachers honored were Mrs. Maxine Smith, Miss Patsy Hansen, Arthur Scott, and Glenn Schreman.

Other events to celebrate the week included a cupcake sale Thursday and a car wash Saturday.

Tuesday, members of the Future Nurses of America club held a business meeting to discuss plans for touring the White City dormitory. They were accompanied to White City by Mrs. Stella Demo, nurse.

Shutterbug club members will hold their election of officers for next year, May 3. The nominating committee composed of Ray Bellevue, Gary Fields, Eugene McFadden, Sharon Knight, Lynn Latham, Barbara Gordon and Marilyn Conner will nominate two candidates for each office and nominations from the floor will be accepted.

Further plans for the bowling and skating party, to be held May 10 in Grants Pass, are now being discussed. Marvin Trautman is the club advisor.

The production staff for "The Birds," the Thespians spring production to be presented May 5 and 7 has been announced.

Heading the staff is Lenore Zapell, dramatic coach, as director; Ken Hall, student director; Sandy Sanner, stage manager; Arliss Buettner, assistant stage manager; Ken Peek, Jim Yoder, and Bob Siedman, technicians; Stan Zapell with crew Jim Shaw and Wes Duggan, set designers and construction; and Pat Bandy and drama classes, set decoration.

Five Accidents Are Reported in Medford by Police

Medford police received reports of five traffic accidents Wednesday and early Thursday. None of the accidents resulted in any injuries.

A three-car collision occurred about 3:55 p.m. Wednesday, when a car operated by Wilbur James Buss, 42, Orange, Calif., pulled from the curb on Central ave., between Fourth and Fifth sts., and was struck by a car operated by Nell Payne Phillips, 19, of 3434 North Pacific highway.

The impact of the collision knocked the Buss vehicle forward into a parked car registered to Ernest B. Low, box 495, Central Point. Police said moderate damage was done to the first two vehicles. No citations were issued.

Ernest Henry Graves, 57, Klamath Falls, was cited by city police for failure to obey a traffic sign, after the car he was operating allegedly ran a red light at the intersection of Central ave. and 12th st., about 8:08 p.m. Wednesday, and struck a station wagon operated by Fay Albert Hofman, 43, of 836 East Ninth st.

Grants Pass Man Cited
 James F. Cook, 20, Grants Pass, was cited by city police for failure to obey a traffic sign, after his car too allegedly ran a red light, resulting in a collision with a vehicle operated by Ronald Joseph Schaefer, 18, of 518 Oregon Terrace. The accident occurred at the intersection of Riverside ave. and Eighth st. about 10:35 p.m.

A car operated by Richard Irvin Hall, 20, of 255 DeBarr ave., struck a parked car registered to the U.S. government, at the intersection of Fifth and Holly sts., Wednesday about 12:30 p.m. Police said Hall told them he was bothered by a bee in his car, and he momentarily lost control of it, striking the parked vehicle. No citations were issued.

A fifth accident occurred about 2:20 a.m. Thursday at 1482 and 1474 Grand ave., when a car operated by Jeanie Guskus, 28, Klamath Falls, went out of control and ran across a lawn and a small tree at that location, according to city police. She told police that another car forced hers off the road.

Prisoners Given Week End Freedom
 East Liverpool, Ohio—(UPI)—A Jewish judge told prisoners in the city jail they can go home today for the Easter week end, provided they promise to return to their cells Monday.

"Jail is no place for anyone on Good Friday or Easter," Judge Samuel M. Chertoff said Wednesday.

Chertoff also ordered police to release for the week end prisoners convicted of misdemeanors.
