Work Nears Completion on Community Hall in Butte Falls

By MARY JO HARRIS

Butte Falls—Three lots, one purchased from the Town of Butte Falls for $25 and the other two donated by Medford corporation, were the beginning of the Butte Falls Community hall. After many hours of planning and discussion by many people the project finally got underway in 1955.

The Community Hall club was granted an incorporation certificate Feb. 1, 1955. First meeting was held May 3 of that year at the high school and officers elected were Charles A. Jenkins, president; E. A. Morley, vice president; R. H. Tracy, secretary; and Mrs. Charles (Red) Capello, treasurer.

Much of the material and equipment needed to start work on the building was donated by Medford Corporation. Many hours of work were donated by volunteer labor. Women of various organizations served coffee and doughnuts and potluck dinners on several occasions to men working on the hall. Bill Edmondson made the cedar and sugar pine shingles at his steam shingle mill for the roof and siding.

Phoenix—A Phoenix Community club meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the community clubhouse to elect officers, according to a club spokesman.

Everyone interested in developing a community recreation program for all ages is invited. However, only members of the board of governors for the club are entitled to vote on new officers.

All 20 organizations in Phoenix are asked to make sure their delegates are present. If the regular club delegate cannot attend, an alternate should be sent, a spokesman said.

that the hall be built primarily for the children of the community. Recreation being a scarcity, the thought was to have a place where teenagers might hold dances, roller skate and have various social activities. The adults, too, could put the hall to good use for organization meetings, projects, storage for organization property and roller skating.

Dedication ceremonies were held Dec. 19, 1959 at the hall. Following the potluck supper, a program was held, during

Tablets

By R. E. NEALON

Table Rock—A large crowd of Grangers from many of the county Granges gathered at the Sams Valley Grange hall Saturday night to help the Sams Valley members celebrate the 35th anniversary of their Grange, and to honor some nine past masters. Among the past masters was Mrs. O. T. Wilson of Central Point, who served a short term, being appointed to fill a vacancy, shortly after the Grange was organized. Other past masters honored were Elwood Abbott, Jerry Fitzgerald, Ralph James, Bill Duggan, Herman Priem, Charles Hockersmith, R. E. Nealon, and Albert Straus, who had served seven terms. There were only four present who signed the charter 35 years ago. They were Abbott, Straus, Mrs. Wilson and Nealon.

Victor Croxton, lecturer, opened one of his usual highly entertaining programs with a short address, telling the many benefits farmers have received through the Grange, and concluded by saying that the Grange is the oldest farm organization in the U.S. and the only fraternal farm organization in the world.

Short talks were made by visiting masters and other dignitaries, and county zoning was discussed by Charley Hoover and Bill Duggan. Both speakers, while disagreeing on some points, were agreed that zoning should be a local matter, not to be regulated by a county zoning committee. Both believe that zoning will be here, as the city people are for it, and they outnumber the rural population, so we should make a careful study of it and be ready to combat any features that would be detrimental to our interests.

Fred Pierce, of Billings, Mont., a newspaperman with the Billings Gazette, was a recent visitor with his nephews, Ed Pierce of Medford, and Bert Pierce of Modoc Orchard.

George Lottin, of the Beagle zone, a partner of Ezra Benson has a plot lotus which he says is out of this world, being more than two hands high, "horse measure," now. The seed, called Los Banos, came from California, cost $3.50 per pound, and was planted on dry sticky soil.

A rattlesnake, about 3 feet long with 10 rattles, was killed last Saturday in the road at the new curve near the Table Top ranch, by members of the ranch crew, according to Mrs. Jess Elder.

Henry Conger, farmer of the West Side, reports that he didn't make enough hay during the sunshine last summer, so had to buy some, and was greatly surprised at the sudden up-turn of farm prices.

At last Sunday's session of the local Sunday school, it was decided to patch the roof of the building for the present, and Jimmy Fleischer was given the job.

The local Sunday school is arranging a short Easter program for Sunday, followed by a preaching service by Garland Shinn, American S. S. Union Missionary. There will be an Easter egg hunt after Sunday school is dismissed. A cordial invitation is extended everyone to attend this service, which starts at 10 a.m. through 11:30.

Charley Hoover, and son, Bud, developers of home sites in the Camp White area, were recent visitors here. Bud Hoover has made quite a study of zoning, and has had some experience in zoning and planning. He believes in both, but thinks that in a county like Jackson, with such a diversity of products, kinds of soil, and ways of making a living, that one over-all zoning setup will not do. He thinks a city area zone won't work in a farming area, that such areas should be zoned and regulated by the people living there. In other words, they should have home rule. In that way they could have their own inspectors, and a say of what they want or don't want in the zone.

The Hoovers and others who are petitioning for a zone in the Camp White area first made a house to house canvass to learn what the people wanted or didn't want in their zone. Some things they don't want are garbage or disposal plants, slaughter houses, animal rendering plants, wood yards, wrecking and junk yards, no more saw mills or gravel dumps, and no establishment selling liquor to be consumed on the premises.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Edgecombe and son Jerry, of Susanville, Calif., Mrs. Emma Houston of Trail and Mrs. Josephine Cornutt, Old Stage rd., Central Point were Monday visitors with relatives at the R. E. Nealon home.

Thought for the day: A hungry reporter is like a blind dog in a meat house.

TOASTMASTERS MEET
Illinois Valley—The Rev. Gene Denning was guest speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the Caves Toastmaster's club in Cave Junction. New member present was Don Orton. Bert Clifford was named secretary.

Lone Pine—Richard Michaels, fifth grade teacher at Lone Pine school, was elected president of Lone Pine PTA at the group's business meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers elected, all unanimously, were Mrs. William Underwood, vice president; Mrs. Hugh Judd, secretary, and Mrs. Elzy Kees, treasurer.

Officers will be installed at the May PTA meeting. The program, Michaels announced will include a band concert and several numbers by the school chorus.

Guests at Tuesday's meeting were Lee Merriman, vice president of the city council; Mrs. Chester Keene, vice president of the county council and Elliott Becken, assistant superintendent of Medford public schools, who came to explain the 1960-61 school budget. A question and answer session followed their talks.

Carl Hayes, county director of special education, showed colored slides of mentally retarded children and talked on social training as it can be applied to daily life.
