EASTER VIGIL—Sisters at St. Mary's school follow the service in their Holy Week Prayer books during the Easter Vigil Saturday night at Sacred Heart Catholic church. The Sisters were among some 300 worshippers who attended the service beginning at 11 p.m. The Vigil started with the lighting of the fire with flint at the door of the church, the blessing of the new fire by the Rev. Carl Mai, priest who celebrated the Mass, the blessing of the Easter candle, and the solemn procession and lighting of the people's candles as they entered the church. Easter Vigil at Sacred Heart was among the many Easter services attended by valley residents during the week end. Grey skies Sunday morning prevented the sun's appearance during the sunrise services, but rain did not start in Medford until late morning. —(Knackstedt photo)

A. W. Norblad, Former Oregon Governor, Dies

Astoria Lawyer Once State Senator

Astoria —(UP)—A. W. Norblad, 79, former governor of Oregon and father of Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.), died at his Astoria home late Sunday.

Norblad was elected president of the Oregon Senate in 1929, and became governor on the death of Gov. Isaac L. Paterson. He served as governor until 1931, then returned to the practice of law in Astoria with his son, Walter. He was the senior partner of the Astoria law firm of Norblad, Wyatt, Macdonald and Dean. Norblad was born in Malmo, Sweden, in 1881, and came to the United States with his parents when he was a child. He moved to Astoria in 1909 from Michigan, where he had practiced law in Grand Rapids after graduating from the Chicago Law School, serving as Grand Rapids city attorney. Norblad was elected to the Oregon Senate in 1918, and served five regular and two special sessions before succeeding to the governorship.

Self Made Man

Norblad was a self-made man, whose father earned a bare living as a brick mason in Grand Rapids, Mich. Young Albin W. Norblad was self-supporting at the age of 12. He sold newspapers on the streets of Grand Rapids and Chicago, peddled hot dogs and played clarinet in a circus band, and traveled on the road selling school and church furniture. He put himself through law school by working as a reporter on the Chicago American.

Booster of Highway

Norblad, an ardent fisherman and promoter of the sport, also was one of the early boosters for improving the Oregon Coast Highway, and was first president of the Oregon Coast Association, organized in the 1930's. Norblad had been ill for some time and had been confined to his home for several weeks. Survivors include his son, a daughter, Mrs. Ward Sorrels of Portland, and two grandchildren.

Kidnaped Child Found Unharmed

Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia —(UP)—A 14-month-old boy was found alive and unharmed today seven hours after he was taken sleeping from his crib by a tall uncommunicative kidnaper.

Police said the boy, Russell Mackenzie, was found alongside a fence less than 100 yards from his home by Jean McPhee, a store clerk on her way to work.

The kidnaper left no ransom note or other explanation of his action before he roared off in an automobile with the still-sleeping child. A medical examination showed Russell apparently suffered no ill effects from his night away from home.

French President Due at Ottawa This Evening

Cold Reserve Seen During Conferences

Paris —(UP)—President Charles de Gaulle left today by plane for Ottawa to begin a trip to Canada and the United States in search of friendlier treatment of France's policies on NATO, Algeria and the atomic bomb.

His Air France Boeing-707 jet airliner streaked off from Orly Field at 6:34 a.m. (p.s.t.) The North American visit will cap previous talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in France and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in Britain.

It will complete a round-robin of meetings between chiefs of state and government leading to the summit conference which de Gaulle will host in Paris next month.

Canada was prepared to greet the French president on his arrival in Ottawa this evening with an enthusiasm equal to the welcome Britain gave him earlier this month.

Cold Reserve Expected But around the conference tables in both the Canadian and U. S. capitals, de Gaulle could expect to find a certain cold reserve regarding certain attitudes France has displayed under de Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

On the NATO issue, the Canadians may reproach the French president with pushing for the creation of a special NATO directorate, a sort of steering committee that would include only the "big three" Western nations: the United States, France and Britain.

Algeria To Be Issue The Canadians also are expected to press de Gaulle on what positive steps France has taken to end the Algerian conflict and to advance de Gaulle's program for Algerian self-determination outlined in a speech last Sept. 16.

On atomic issues, the Canadians are known to be firmly against any action that may threaten the possibility of an East-West accord to stop atomic testing.

Five Buildings Burn to Ground; Several Homeless

Damage Estimate Placed at $200,000

Amboy, Wash. —(UP)—Five struck the "old town" business district in this small southwest Washington logging town early Sunday and wind-fanned flames burned five buildings to the ground.

Two families and half a dozen tenants of an apartment house were homeless. Damage was estimated at $200,000. No one suffered serious injury.

Store Owner Hurt Firemen said the flames apparently started after 1 a.m. in a second hand store owned by Robert Snow, who lived upstairs in the two-story frame building.

Snow suffered a knee injury when he leaped from a window to a roof projection and then to the ground as the blaze raced through the structure.

Tongues of flames, spurred by a changing wind, leaped to buildings in two directions. A service station and a garage to the east and a shopping center to the south were ignited. Fire spread quickly to a two-story apartment owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Wisner.

Tenants Flee The Wisners, their three children and tenants of the building, fled into the streets as flames licked at a cottage to the rear of the building.

Fire spread and engulfed the home of Myra Abrahamson and she was forced to flee. The Evangelical United Brethren church was saved for Easter morning services by the Battle Ground fire truck crew.

Accident Kills Dean of School

Yreka — Mrs. Mary P. Cody, 29-year-old dean of the Newburg school for girls in Hillsboro, Ore., was killed Sunday when her car went out of control, hit a utility pole guy wire and turned over.

Her husband, Stanford Cody, 35, and their two children, Randall, 15, and Sandra Linn, 6, were taken by ambulance to Klamath Valley hospital in Klamath Falls. They were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Highway patrol officers said the accident occurred at about 5 p.m. one-half mile north of MacDoel, a community about 30 miles south of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Cody, they said, was driving close to the center line and met an oncoming car, also near the center line, while rounding a curve.

After losing control, the woman was thrown from the car and killed instantly.

Highway patrol records showed Mrs. Cody had been issued a citation for speeding only an hour and a half earlier in the day. However, the woman apparently was not traveling at excessive speed at the time of the crash, police added.

Portland Papers Back To Separate Publication

Portland —(UP)—The Oregon Journal and the Oregonian, which published combined editions for nearly 24 weeks after a strike by the Stereotypers Union began, were back publishing separately again today.

The Journal published a 40-page Northweek edition Sunday, and the Oregonian's first Monday morning edition since last Nov. 10 carried 48 pages.

Pickets Remain The strike continued with no settlement in sight, and pickets remained in front of both buildings.

The two rival dailies planned to continue to share some personnel. Basic beats were to be covered by a single staff. Teletypes linked the police station, city hall, county courthouse and the Vancouver, Wash., bureaus of the two newspapers.

An estimated 800 newspaper union members and their families staged a three-block parade in downtown Portland Sunday, in an apparent protest to the resumption of separate publication. The parade group was led by a brass band and one banner said, "Easter parade of newspaper unions."

Several employees of the two newspapers have returned to their jobs.

"Like Old Times . . ." The Journal's first edition carried a banner-line, "At Last Your Favorite Newspaper is Back!" The Oregonian carried a story headed "Like Old Times We're Single." The two papers had published in the Oregonian plant.

Sheriff's Office Checks Leads in Ashland Shooting

The Jackson county sheriff's office is continuing to check leads in reply to a bulletin mailed to Pacific Coast law enforcement agencies in connection with the murder of an Ashland rancher's wife, Sheriff Joe Walsh said today.

Saturday the sheriff's office received test firings from a .22 caliber pistol taken from two men held by Redding, Calif., authorities for questioning in connection with the shooting of Mrs. Marian Stella Hamilton, 2700 East Main st., Ashland on March 15. The firings were sent to the state crime laboratory in Salem. The bullets will be compared to some removed from Mrs. Hamilton's body.

Walsh said both men answered the general description of the bulletin he issued, but a witness failed to identify pictures of the two men being held in Redding.

Walsh said today he has received several replies from bulletins he mailed out. Six persons were mentioned as possible suspects. Some of these proved to be wrong leads and some are still being checked out, he said.

Most of the response has come from western Oregon and northern California law enforcement offices, Walsh said.
