Stock List Rallies In Early Trading; Specials Dominate

Mobility Said To Lift Many Objections

Washington—(UPI)—Defense officials predicted today that numbers of long-range Polaris missiles would be deployed in Europe in 1963, which has been described as the critical year of the missile gap. The officials said mobility to be given the Polaris, by putting the missile on trucks, railroad cars or barges, would remove many European objections that balked previous programs to deploy the 1,500-mile Thor and Jupiter missiles abroad.

To Discuss Program
President Eisenhower and French President Charles de Gaulle are expected to discuss the land-based Polaris program during De Gaulle's official visit to Washington. Decisive action toward approving the American plan could be taken at a meeting of the NATO foreign ministers in Istanbul May 24. Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. told a news conference Thursday that development of the Polaris could begin in Europe before 1963 if NATO leaders acted promptly in approving a proposal made by the United States in Paris last month.

Principal Objection
One of the principal European objections to the Thor and Jupiter missiles, both liquid-fueled, was that they would be located at fixed bases, which would make nearby population centers subject to attack as military objectives. The solid-fueled Polaris, much smaller and requiring comparatively little servicing, can be placed far from population centers.

In addition, the Polaris' mobility would prevent the Russians from training their attack missiles on any particular locations. Chicago—(UPI)—Daylight savings time goes into effect for most Americans Sunday, but it will also turn the United States into a nation divided. Only about half the population moves its clocks ahead an hour. But practically everyone feels the effects of the last hour, which is probably why more and more communities now go on fast time for part of the year.

Earthquakes Jolt California Area

San Diego—(UPI)—Four sharp earthquakes jolted a large area of Southern California Thursday, rattling windows and dishes but apparently causing no damage. Seismologist Fred Robinson said the most severe tremor was recorded at 3:38 p.m. p.s.t. and had an intensity of more than three on the Mercalli scale of 12.

RIOTS IN ITALY—An angry mob overturns an Italian army jeep during riots at Leghorn, which reportedly developed from incidents between civilians and parachutists on leave in the city. Riots continued today with police hurling tear gas into crowds. Heavy troop reinforcements from nearby Florence gained control of the streets later, it was reported. (UPI Radiotelephoto)

Religious Issue Said Certain To Remain as Part of Campaign

Washington—(UPI)—The so-called religious issue appears sure to remain in the 1960 political campaign because it will be subject to constant assessment by those who will select the Democratic presidential nominee. Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a Protestant, two of the rivals for that nomination, both laid out arguments Thursday why there should be no such issue. Both contended that a candidate's religious faith—specifically, Kennedy's—should not be a factor in the choice of a candidate. Both were applauded by their audience at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Time of Confusion Will Start Sunday In Parts of Nation

Chicago—(UPI)—Daylight savings time goes into effect for most Americans Sunday, but it will also turn the United States into a nation divided. Only about half the population moves its clocks ahead an hour. But practically everyone feels the effects of the last hour, which is probably why more and more communities now go on fast time for part of the year.

Ohio Governor Spares Man's Life

Columbus, Ohio—(UPI)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today spared the life of condemned murderer Frank Poindexter, 50, because his partner in crime had been spared. The governor granted the convict clemency 11 hours before he was scheduled to die tonight in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair. DiSalle commuted the death sentence to life after a week of indecision. Not to do so, he said, would create "a revolution in the hearts and minds of responsible citizens who are concerned with the principle of equality before the law." Poindexter accompanied a Hollis Leigh, Cincinnati, April 10, 1959, to the Hamilton, Ohio, home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hires. Poindexter shot Mrs. Hires and she died. Leigh shot Hires, but he lived.

N.Y. Longshoremen Return To Work

New York—(UPI)—Longshoremen return to work today in the port of New York following a nine-hour work stoppage estimated to have cost about $1 million. Cause of Thursday's stoppage was 90 white collar workers. Local 153 of the Office Employees' International Union spread pickets thinly over 75 per cent of the port in an effort to win recognition as bargaining agent for the New York Shipping Association's office workers. The International Longshoremen's Association had agreed not to cross the picket lines. The pickets left after the local accepted a National Labor Relations Board proposal for a secret ballot election next Thursday on union representation.

FREEZER TO COOLER
Lumberton, N. C.—(UPI)—Elizabeth McKellard, 26, was sentenced to six months in the cooler Thursday after a bail bondsman found her hiding in a food freezer where she had locked herself to avoid a court appearance on a liquor charge.

Newspapers Said Guilty of Shortcomings

Washington—(UPI)—A broadcasting official told newspaper editors today that the press is guilty of many of the shortcomings which it has been criticizing in television. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, appeared before the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to reply, with caustic humor, to newspaper editorial criticism of TV programming. Democrats Accused
Another convention speaker, Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton, accused congressional Democrats of trying to concoct "an elixir for every elector."

The Kentucky senator said Democrats are so eager to provide an election year boon for every type of voter that "they have developed more remedies than there are ills." Stanton said that he has been a little baffled by some of the "righteous indignation about violence on television" which has been voiced editorially by "newspapers which assign whole teams of reporters" to milk the last drop of sensation out of crime stories. "Some of the most eloquent protests against riots on television," he said, "come from newspapers whose front pages have been ablaze with inside stories on personalities whose contributions to television are light entertainment."

"Some of the most sensitive attention to decolletage on television has come from newspapers of well-earned reputations for warmly imaginative photographs of richly endowed actresses." Concern for Circulation
"I am reluctant to conclude that this great gap between what you would wish of us and what many of you practice for yourselves results from a good, hard, practical concern for circulation." Stanton suggested that newspaper editors remember when appraising television, that "you, too, are supported by an advertising economy; that you, too, must entertain as well as inform and edify; that you, too, have the problem of providing something for everyone."

Gina Lollobrigida Heading for Canada

Rome—(UPI)—Gina Lollobrigida, Italy's most illustrious emigrant, left her pine-shaded Roman villa today for Hollywood and a new life in Canada. She took her Yugoslav-born husband and their 2-year-old son with her, leaving her native land after a bitter fight with Italian red tape. "My mind is far away," Gina told UPI correspondent Herbert G. Spencer as she rushed to leave their villa on the ancient Apennine Way. "What I have to do, I do. We are going to Hollywood to finish the picture, then to Toronto to set up housekeeping."
