Miss Rosemary Doolen, Medford student attending Willamette university, was chosen Miss Salem in a contest sponsored by the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce last week. Miss Doolen, a graduate of Medford High school and a daughter of Mrs. Horace Doolen, 612 West Second street, won out in all categories of the contest, talent, personality, poise, intellect and appearance. There were six contestants. Miss Doolen, a freshman in music at Willamette, was recently pledged to Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honor society for women. The winner is shown here with Miss Thelma Masserdotti, Miss Salem for 1959. (Salem Statesman photo.)

Medford Ladies of Elks installed two co-chairmen at a luncheon Tuesday afternoon in the party lounge of the lodge temple. Mrs. Emil Unger (seated, left) and Mrs. Bruce Blew (standing, left) are the new chairmen. Mrs. Alva Perkins (standing, right) who recently moved to Roseburg, is the retiring chairman and Mrs. Joe Hosick (seated, right) is the wife of the new exalted ruler of the lodge. Officers and trustees of the lodge and their wives were honored at the annual officers' ball last night at the temple. A dinner for the honored group preceded the ball. Mr. Hosick attended the luncheon briefly to present flowers to the new chairmen.

Beautiful oriental art objects from the home of Colonel and Mrs. G. R. Owens will be displayed at the annual benefit tea of the Medford committee, American Cancer society, to be given Thursday, April 28, at Hillcrest orchard. Mrs. Owens holds a Chinese mandarin robe more than 100 years old which will be on display at the tea. Other objects from the Owens' home at the tea will be the elaborate Chinese bronze bowl, two large painted Japanese scrolls and the black lacquer and pearl inlay box at right. The tea, always one of the largest of spring events in the valley, will be from 2:30 until 4:30 o'clock.

Two of the women who attended the large Easter Monday luncheon given at Rogue Valley Country club Monday afternoon were Mrs. Robert Lindstrom (at left) and Mrs. E. B. Hogan. At the entrance to the clubhouse they paused to admire a gay gingham umbrella covered with fresh spring flowers. The umbrellas were also used to decorate the rooms of the clubhouse. The Easter Monday luncheon is given each spring by St. Anne's Altar society of Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The entire Rogue Valley Country club was given over to the annual Easter Monday luncheon of St. Anne's Altar society. Among those who were seated in the lower cocktail lounge were (left to right, foreground) Mrs. Richard Knoll, Mrs. Oscar J. Halboth and Mrs. Robert Elliott. Seated at the table near the window were (left to right) Mrs. B. Brandt Bartels, Mrs. David Holmes and Mrs. Fred Spiegelberg. Mrs. Knoll was one of the hostesses for the party.

Mrs. Laurance V. Espey (at left) and Mrs. Henry E. Storino were among the members of St. Anne's Altar society who worked on committees for the society's annual Easter Monday luncheon. The two are shown as they prepared to distribute bridge prizes donated by merchants for the large event. Mrs. Espey has worked with the society for many years, and Mrs. Storino is a newcomer to the valley. (All Easter Monday luncheon pictures by Knackstedt.)
