United Press International
A couple of dandy pitching jobs by Dave Stenhouse and Art Swanson and a good heavy rain has left Spokane all alone at the top of the Pacific Coast league standings.

Stenhouse flipped a five-hitter as Seattle downed Sacramento, 3-2, in Monday night's play and Swanson hurled five innings of shutout relief ball to pace Salt Lake to a 4-1 verdict over Portland.

Sacramento and Portland had been in a three way tie with Spokane for the league leadership going into Monday action, but the defeats, plus the Indians' rainout at Tacoma, left the Washington State team on top of the heap by percentage points.

In the other game, Gary Peters, making it a pitchers night all around, tree a four-hitter at Vancouver as San Diego blanked the Mounties, 2-0, to move from fifth place to second.

Ex-Oregon Star To Kick For Cleveland Browns

Cleveland—UPI—An era in professional football will end next fall when Paul Brown sends Sam Baker into a game to try a field goal for the Cleveland Browns.

That move will mark the beginning of the end for Lou Groza, most famous field goal kicker in football history. Groza has been kicking field goals and extra points for the Browns since they were organized in 1946.

Brown obtained Baker, one of the National Football League's outstanding punters, place-kickers and humorists, from the Washington Redskins Monday in return for two linemen. The Redskins received Francis O'Brien, an offensive guard and tackle and Bob Khayat, a offensive guard, from the Browns.

Khayat, who played college football for Mississippi, was Cleveland's No. 6 choice in this year's NFL draft.

O'Brien, former Michigan State star, was Cleveland's No. 3 choice in 1959.

Baker, a witty man who at first refused to learn place-kicking has been with the Redskins since 1953. The former Oregon star led the NFL in punting in 1958 and led the Redskins in scoring the last four years.

Brown said the fact that Cleveland has acquired Baker did not mean Groza has played his last game for the Browns.

"This does not mean the end of Lou Groza," Brown said. "Naturally, there will be competition in the place kicking, but Groza still remains a valuable offensive tackle."

Back Stairs: No Tension in Augusta

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
Washington—UPI—Backstairs at the White House:
When President Eisenhower spent 11 days recently in Augusta, Ga., some of the Chief Executive's friends were concerned that Negro lunch counter sit-downs prevalent in other parts of the South might develop in Augusta during the Eisenhower vacation and possibly embarrass the President.

There was no racial tension whatever evident during the Eisenhower visit, however, and some local citizens reported behind-the-scenes conversations that may have been a factor in discouraging demonstrations, if ever any had been planned.

The Masters Golf Tournament dominated Augusta life the week before Eisenhower arrived and this annual affair is a source of sizeable extra income for Augusta and for Negroes and whites alike. Thousands of visitors flock to town for the tournament.

A Frenchman explained that while De Gaulle is a man of great dignity, his stern attitude reflected the poor condition of his eyesight more than his mood. The French president's vision has been seriously impaired by cataracts which required surgery, and without heavy glasses, he does not see clearly.

Prison Escapee May Win Freedom

Salem - UPI - A 1942 escapee from the Oregon state prison who turned up as a janitor in Seattle last February and was returned here may be paroled shortly.

Monday, Circuit Judge Val D. Sloper suspended imposition of sentence on Merriell M. Scofield, 56.

Action on a parole for Scofield is expected soon.

Scofield, who escaped in March 1, 1942 from the state prison farm, had no trouble with the law during his 18-year absence but a family quarrel in Seattle in February brought police to his house and his true identity came to light. He was returned here.

Scofield was serving a term for assault with intent to commit rape when he escaped.

Neutral Agreement

According to one story circulated in Augusta, some local white business men talked over the possible economic disadvantages of anti-segregation demonstrations with leaders of the Negro community and there was mutual agreement that nothing should be done during the tournament to risk disturbance. And, so the story goes, the same attitude continued during the visit of the President who arrived in Augusta the day after the tournament ended.

Of course, this story could be apocryphal but it does demonstrate how over a period of years, a President, as well as a golf tournament, can come to be regarded as a definite economic asset to an area where he visits regularly for recreational purposes.

When former President Truman visited Key West, Fla., in the fall and again in the early spring, the local authorities did their utmost to avoid disconcerting or disturbing local incident that might intrude

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule." And with Chevy's torsion springs smoothing every mile of the way! Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load. You see why Mr. Blankinship is adding another Chevy middleweight soon.

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners talk about economy, low upkeep, cab comfort, high payload capacity. They talk volumes. But sooner or later they're back on Chevy's revolutionary ride. The fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 300 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.
