

LION BAGGED—This mountain lion, which measures 6 feet, 8 inches in length and weighs 110 pounds, was killed recently by two Happy Camp men in the Clear creek area about 10 miles west of Happy Camp. Marion Southard and Faye Beam, who own 11 hounds between them, spent five days tracking the big cat. A year ago the two men killed a female mountain lion and captured two young ones in the same vicinity.

EP Seeks Name for City's New Park

By DOTTIE HARBISON
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Eagle Point—A name for the new city park located at the north end of North B st. is needed immediately. Suggestions should be sent to the Scout Community Center Building committee at box 56.

A group of judges will select the best names and a contest will be held later to choose the one for the park. Deadline for these names to be turned in is midnight, May 31. Any person living in the community is eligible. Those submitting names must enclose their names and addresses. Contributions for the building fund also will be accepted.

Harry Hanscom, chairman of the building committee, stated that a post office box has been secured for the Scout Community Center Building committee's use and all communications and contributions should be sent to Box 56, Eagle Point.

Hanscom also asked that all previous canvass teams contact him and, if unable to continue with their areas, turn in their lists of names so someone else can continue where they left off.

Mrs. Ed Kimmel asked that all organizations be contacted to ask the wives of the men working on the building to bring potluck luncheons for their families and join the men at noon for lunch.

Ed Kimmel and Harold Holloway volunteered to replace the picture of the building back on the corner of East Main and C streets this Saturday morning and get a thermometer showing progress of the financial status of the building fund.

Tentative plans were made for a combined breakfast and dedication ceremony for the new building. More information will be available the first of next week.

Rangers Work to Control Erosion In Applegate Area

By MAUDE ZIEGLER
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Applegate Valley—A vast amount of erosion control is being carried out in the timbered mountain areas here by forest service workmen.

Rangers have a name for denuded areas—disturbed soil. When soil has been disturbed by fire lines, logging skid trails and road cuts, a "healing" application of grass seed is used.

Thirteen miles of roadside seeding and mulching have been completed, according to Neil Suttell, district ranger. A machine is used which scatters the grass seed, fertilizer, and straw on the cut and fill slopes of new mountain roads.

Roadside mulching also decreases road maintenance costs. Seven men comprise the mulching crew which is under the supervision of Pete Gregory.

One hundred fifty acres of clear-cut logged land has just been seeded, which means valuable top soil will be held in place over these areas. In addition to the straw mulch two units of bark mulching product have been used, although results are inconclusive due to the question of mechanical application and the uncertainty of grass pushing through, Suttell explained.

Wanted: Correspondent

We need a good correspondent in Happy Camp. Several of our subscribers in that area have voiced disappointment because we haven't carried many stories from Happy Camp. We're sorry about this, and we want to do what we can to improve the situation.

If anyone is interested—and we hope someone is—we'd like him (or her) to contact the Mail Tribune regarding a position as correspondent. We'll be glad to provide the full particulars—pay for stories, what kind of stories we want, etc.

Any takers?

Ambulance Now Stationed in Illinois Valley

By KATHERINE SCOTT
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Illinois Valley—Ambulance service is again available in the Illinois Valley.

The vehicle, provided by the L. B. Hall Funeral home of Grants Pass, is stationed at the new fire hall in Cave Junction. The valley had been without ambulance service since L. J. Thychoot discontinued operation of his Valley Ambulance service several weeks ago.

Herb Falkenberry will be the main driver with relief drivers on call day and night. Problem Discussed

Stationing of an ambulance here came as a result of discussions of the problem by the Illinois Valley Chamber of Commerce and the local medical association.

Named to discuss the matter with the L. B. Hall firm was Laurence A. Cushing. Arrangements were made after it was guaranteed that a local driver would be on call at all times.

Reserve drivers are Cave Junction Police Chief Phil Keller and E. W. Grant of O'Brien.

Local residents desiring ambulance service should dial the operator, giving their name and address. The operator will relay the message to the driver.

EP to Ask Loan For City's New Sewage System

Eagle Point—The Eagle Point city council reconvened last week to continue discussion of the new sewage lagoon system. Discussion centered on the need for a loan. The council authorized Mayor Ed Putnam to act as the city's official representative in applying for the loan as soon as possible.

The city attorney, Hornecker discussed and read a resolution which had to pass before the action could take place. A motion was unanimously passed to accept the resolution as read.

The attorney was granted authority by the council to proceed with negotiations with Clarke and Groff to modify the contract for the lagoon.

Deputy Oran Chastain was granted authority by the council to act as trustee officer for the Eagle Point school district on his own time and with the use of his own car. His salary will be paid by the school district.

Hornbrook Voters May Still Register

Hornbrook—Any eligible voters in the Hornbrook precinct who are not registered may do so now at the home of Mrs. James (Lillian) Marlow, who was sworn in April 19 by Rachel Cordes, Siskiyou county clerk.

Mrs. Marlow has served this area as notary public for the past four years, and recently received her new commission for a second four-year term. Before coming to Hornbrook, Mrs. Marlow had 28 years' experience as a notary in her home town of Baltimore, Md.

Station Inspector Leaves Hornbrook

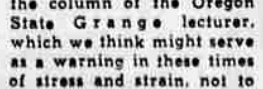

Hornbrook—Mr. and Mrs. George Reese and sons, George and Gene, left Thursday morning for Santa Barbara where they will make their home. The Reeses have lived in Hornbrook for the past 14 months, where he has been an inspector at the local quarantine station.

In Santa Barbara, he will be a standardization inspector, checking produce trucks coming from the fields and bound for the Los Angeles area.

CUB ACTIVITIES

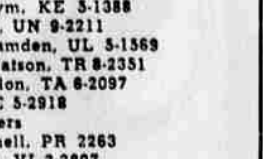

Illinois Valley—Cub Scout Pack 20 will meet at the Kerby school cafeteria at 7:30 tonight. The pack will hold its money-raising event, a box social and dance, at the American Legion hall at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Fishing Enthusiasts Ready for 'Big Day'

By KATHERINE CHAPMAN
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Hornbrook—Tomorrow is the "Big Day" for fishing enthusiasts in this area. It marks the opening of the fishing season in northern California counties.

Closing day of the season is Oct. 31.

An exception to this is a section of the Klamath river from Copco dam downstream to 500 feet below the mouth of Jenny creek, which is a salmon spawning area and is closed to all fishing from September 1 to October 31.

The limit is 10 trout or salmon in combination, but not more than 10 pounds and one fish. Catfish limit is 30. Copco lake has an all-year open trout season below County Bridge No. 7. Here the limit is five trout, except during the general trout season in adjacent areas when the limit for the latter season applies.

A sport fishing license is required of any person 16 years of age, or over, including members of the armed forces of the United States. The sport fishing license year is from January 1 to December 1.

Cost of a resident license is $3, and of a non-resident license $10. A special 10-day non-resident license is $3.

"Resident" means any person who has resided continuously in California for six months or more immediately prior to date of application for license, or persons on active military duty with the armed forces of the United States or auxiliary branches.

Source of this information is the 1960 Sport Fishing Regulations Handbook prepared by the California Department of Fish and Game. The booklets are available wherever licenses are sold.

Licenses may be obtained locally at either Haight's market or the T. Jones store.

Physical Science Tour Set by Class

Eagle Point—The Eagle Point High school sophomore class and their advisor, Vern Steward, will leave by bus tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for a physical science tour of Brookings, Ore., and the area on their route. This is an annual tour for the class.

Steward stated that the class will observe and study different plants, the redwoods, and the rock strata formations in the Smith River Canyon, and will collect seashore specimens when they reach Brookings.

A sack lunch picnic will be held at Harris state park near Brookings. The class plans to arrive back at the high school at approximately 7 p.m. tomorrow. Other adult advisors also will accompany the class.

Williams Grange Expects Crowd

Williams—A large crowd is expected tonight when candidates from the Williams Grange will receive third and fourth degrees by the Roxy Ann Grange degree team.

The event will begin at 8 p.m. in the local Grange hall.

The local Grange, after a long period of inactivity, is experiencing a rebirth. Thirty-three candidates, including 20 from Williams, were given first and second degrees April 15 by the Phoenix Grange degree team.

That meeting was attended by 134 persons and speakers included Victor Vroxtton, state Grange deputy and lecturer; Herb Rudd, county deputy; Floyd Lacy, master of Phoenix Grange; Frank Hall, master of Live Oak Grange; Bob Bitterling, master of Eagle Point Grange; Ben Fulton, master of Butte Falls Grange, and Gail Buffington, master of Upper Applegate Grange.

Numerous members of Central Point, Eagle Point, Live Oak, Phoenix and other Granges also attended.
