

Festival Company People Are Noted

Ashland - Douglas Russell, costumer for the Oregon Shakespearean Festival company, will return for the 1960 season to head the costuming staff. Festival officials have announced.

Also returning to that department will be Marie Melinat, who last year made the costumes Russell had designed in absentia. Joining them in the wardrobe department will be Ann Whitlock of the University of Miami and Jean Grimm of Lewis and Clark college, Portland.

New members announced for the technical department are Susan Stockbridge of Stanford, Sheila Dorey of Palo Alto, and Joseph Kaough from the University of Texas. Kaough will serve as master carpenter.

Three University of Oregon journalism students have been named to the promotion staff as assistants. They are Gary Aldridge, Gayle Charles and Marge Langenes. The 1960 company convenes in Ashland June 9 for auditions and casting. A six-week preparation period follows, with the performances scheduled for 41 consecutive nights, July 25 through Sept. 3.

COMEBACK PLANNED - Earl K. (Uncle Earl) Long, governor of Louisiana, made a farewell speech over a Louisiana television network. The earthy politicians told listeners "the truth once crushed will rise again," and "Uncle Earl may be back in 1964." (UPI Telephoto)

HAVE EARNED RESPECT

Columbia, S. C. - (UPI) - The state Senate, killing outmoded laws in preparation for a 1962 reprinting of the law books, wrote off an ancient statute Wednesday requiring citizens to treat Clemson College students like gentlemen.

"Whether it's the law or not," Sen. James Mozingo said, "a Clemson man will always be treated as a gentleman."

Food Damaged When Fuses Are Taken

Several hundred dollars worth of frozen food was ruined this week when someone took several fuses from the fuse box on a building owned by Jerry C. Jerome, route 1, box 242, Central Point, he reported to Jackson county sheriff's deputies. Jerome told officers the freezer was in a small building near his residence.
