Perhaps the biggest social event of the year, the junior-senior prom will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday in the high school gymnasium.

Coronation of the queen and the princesses will take place at 10. Mike Phillips, junior class president, has announced that refreshments are to be served and there is no admission charge.

Students were reminded this week that dates from other schools must have special invitations from the dean of girls office prior to the prom. No junior high students are allowed at the dance, according to the regular high school dance regulations.

Those not wishing to come to the dance were referred to a junior-senior banquet, for several years a counterpart of the prom, to be held this year at Hoover school May 14.

A special bulletin by the office was sent to each room late last week concerning details about the prom.

DeAnne Taylor, Mary Frohnmayer, and Judy Sims, juniors, have been chosen as Medford's delegates to the 19th annual session of Girls state, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary.

Nancy Hinman and Mary Kay Harris are alternates. Girls state will be held June 13 to 19 at Willamette university in Salem. Girls attending will assume the duties of citizens by electing their own city, county, and state officials. Also elected will be state senators, and representatives in accordance with Oregon law.

Wednesday during reg. room all boys in the junior class reported to the auditorium to nominate princesses for the junior-senior prom.

Girls nominated were Ann Barker, Becky Gates, Pam Gilkison, Linda Morlan, Rosie Patch, Joyce Roelfs, Roberta Willett, and Marty Wyatt.

Diane Lewis, Elaine Jennings, Mike Phillips, and Dean Goddard were featured on the regular Medford High radio program over KYJC Saturday night.

Dean presented his winning oration as given at the Knights of Pythias recent oratorical contest. Elaine and Mike discussed the general topic that was used in the contest, "2000 A.D." Diane was the announcer for the program.

The stenography class in the business education department of MHS has entered its work-experience program.

This program usually commences in the middle of the second semester each year.

One girl is sent from the class each week to the Chamber of Commerce office, Medford, where she is employed from 1 to 5 p.m. every day for that week. Her work entails all the duties of a regular secretary such as typing, taking dictation, answering the telephone, and learning to use the various machines in the office.

Her work is graded in a report which is made out by her employer and mailed to the school. The report is filed in the student's permanent record.

Junior and sophomore girls interested in joining Pep club are practicing marching through Wednesday after school.

Ninety-nine applications have been filed, and only 47 are to be selected.

Teachers of each girl are asked to give their opinions of the girls' capabilities and personal appearance. Try-outs will be Tuesday and Wednesday.

Judges will be Janice Crisp, Patricia Mounts, Grace Berg, and the club officers, Karen Simco, president; Carolyn Finch, vice president; Martha Sanborn, secretary; and Susan Yoder, uniform manager.

Several members of the Future Teachers of America club went on observations May 5. In order to participate in this program, in which a student interested in teaching observes a classroom for a day in various schools in the city, a student must complete a specified number of hours of work for a faculty member.

The students who went on observation were Jeannine James, Jerilyn Smith, Judy Potter, Lois Stedman, Mary Satterfield, Diane Franklin, Jeri Smith, Rita Miller, Peggy Gilbert, Joan Ward, Al Watson, Barbara Whalin, Lynn Bailey, and Susan Hall.

Sophomores voted on their ring styles Monday. DeVere Taylor, class advisor, said. The ring displays represented two Portland ring manufacturers.

The Oregon Shakespearean Festival association has made arrangements for MHS students to attend the production of "Julius Caesar" Aug 15.

Nearly 55 students have reserved seats, and another 100 seats will be reserved until the end of school, in case a student would like to obtain one.

Student prices of $1.20 have been reduced to $1. A refund will be made to those who have purchased $1.20 tickets. Bob Semon, English department head, announced last week.

Two students received 5.0 grade point averages for the third nine weeks as revealed by the honor roll posted earlier. These students were Doug Kliever and Lindaglenn Miller, both seniors.

Two hundred and twenty-three other students placed on the honor roll. Twenty-three others received straight A's.

Selected orchestra members were excused Wednesday to entertain at the Kiwanis club meeting at luncheon.

Participating were Walter Ayres, Sharon Thomas, Betty Kyker, Julie Latham, Carolyn Pitt, Pam Gilkison, Sharon Smith, Lynn Latham, Bonnie Allingham, Julie Gandt, Ann Matthews, and Susan Fontaine.

Torch honor members were reminded last week that the last opportunity this year for ordering club pins would be this week. Mrs. Francis Ruck, club advisor, indicated that May 11 would be the deadline.

Majorette try outs for next year's band will be held in the band room May 19 at 4 p.m. Interested students should see J. A. Mirick in the music department for a special bulletin on requirements and further details.

A Hospital Careers day conference will be held at the Sacred Heart hospital May 12, National Hospital day. The members of the MHS chapter of Future Nurses of America will be taken on a conducted tour of the hospital.

A nursing career film will be shown, and informative lectures will be given.

An invitation was extended to FNA members and their parents to attend a conducted tour of the Rogue Valley hospital May 9.

Scores of the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test taken earlier this spring by the juniors have been received. Juniors were able to receive their individual scores starting Monday afternoon.

An academic honors list will replace the traditional valedictorian - salutatorian recognition at Medford High graduation ceremonies starting this year, school officials announced recently.

The academic honors list will consist of the top 5 per cent of the class scholastically, based upon seven semesters of high school work.

Named to the list are Bonnie Allingham, Molly Barker, Gary Beach, Keith Berg, Nancy Dean, Mary dePlace, Dorina Fraysner, John Frohnmayer, Robert Hamilton, Elaine Jennings, Douglas Kliever, Anne Matthews, Margaret Medina, Carolyn Mencke, Lindaglenn Miller, Pat Novak, Henry Olson, Richard Peterson, Margo Preston, Lauren Staylor, John Shaw and Pamela Watson.

John Crawford and Jerry Gastineau will head the 1960-61 Crater staff as co-editors, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Settle, yearbook advisor.

Members of the copy and layout staff will be Chris Prentice, Sharon Foster, Fay Adams, Vicki Brumback, Lynn Creel, and Mary Satterfield.

Selections from art projects shown in the all-school art show held last week at MHS will be made by the Junior Red Cross.

The works are in part of a cultural exchange between other nations. They will be chosen on how much they express the modes of the community and the spirit of the times.

The Rogue Valley Art association has invited the MHS art department to show its work in the Rogue Gallery May 24-27.

Advanced art students will display oils, water colors, sculptures, and drawings. The gallery is located on West Main st.

Salem - The Oregon Bureau of Labor has announced that Joseph E. Loranger has won the contest for Portland carpenter apprentices to become Portland's candidate in state competition at the Albany Timber carnival in July.
