Plumley Leading NW In Shot Put

University of Oregon, Eugene—(Special)—Dick Miller, the veteran Oregon two miler, topped the list of improved performers in Northern Division track and field last week end as two leaders changed and another half dozen marks were bettered.

Miller, running on pace alone, was clocked in 9:01.8 to move into second place nationally with the best performance of his career.

Oregon State's Neil Plumley took over the lead in the shot put with his best career mark, 54-7/8, and Spike Arlt of Washington State ran the low hurdles in 23.5 to move into the top spot there.

The new men who appear in the rankings this week include Don Maw of WSU, who ran the 220 in 21.2 against Washington to take third place away from OSC's Amos Marsh, and Bill Frank of the Cougars, who hit 158-1/2 in the discus to get third place.

Idaho's Bill Overholser also won a share of the third spot in the high hurdles with a 14.6 effort.

Sig Oheimann of Oregon bettered his leading mark in the 440 (48.3) and another Duck, D. C. Mills in the javelin (232-5/8), strengthened his hold on the runnerup spot in the javelin. The other improvement came from Washington's Don Falla in the pole vault (14-4).

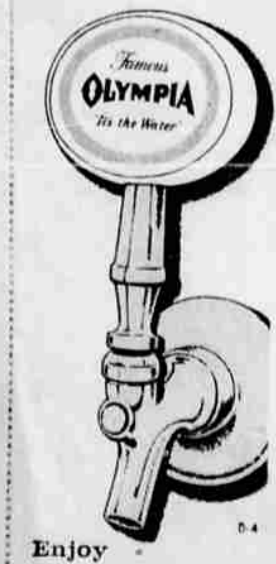

Idaho travels to Washington this Saturday in the only remaining dual meet competition before the Northern division meet on May 21 at Hayward field, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State are all idle, but will have competitors in action at the West Coast relays at Fresno.

Ex-Nationals Spur American Loop To Triumph in Tuesday Conflicts

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Even if they build a bridge, Rip Repulski, Johnny Temple and Dick Hall ain't going back to the National league because the American league suits 'em just fine.

This is the first season in the American league for all three and if they had any idea it was this easy, they probably would have wanted to move over from the National a lot sooner.

Repulski, an ex-Dodger, barely took his hat and coat off with the Red Sox when he delivered a grand-slam homer in his first time at bat in the American league Tuesday night to beat the White Sox, 9-7.

Temple, a Cincinnati star for many years, drove in the first run of the season off Yankee relief ace Ryn Duren to break a 1-1 tie and help the Indians to a 5-1 victory in 10 innings.

And Hall, who couldn't make it with the Pirates, reeled off his third straight triumph without a defeat in pitching the Athletics to 10-0 decision over the Orioles.

The Tigers snapped a 10-game losing streak by beating the Senators, 1-0, in the other AL game.

The Giants retained their game - and - a - half National league lead by defeating the Phillies, 4-2, for their fourth straight, while the Pirates downed the Dodgers, 3-2. The only other scheduled game between the Reds and Cubs was postponed because of cold and rain.

Repulski's homer was one of five hit in the Red Sox-White Sox struggle. Roy Sievers, Al Smith and Sherm Lollar each connected for the White Sox while Vic Wertz put the Red Sox in front with a grand-slam off starter Early Wynn in the first inning.

The White Sox kept rapping away, however, and tied the score at 5-5. That's how matters stood when Repulski came up as a pinch hitter with the bases full in the eighth. Don Ferrarese was brought in to pitch to him and Repulski then unloaded the clincher. Reliever Frank Baumann was the loser, however, and Frank Sullivan the winner. Despite the loss, the White Sox retained the AL lead by a game.

Jim Perry of the Indians was rolling along with a one-hit 1-0 lead over the Yankees until Elston Howard tied the score with a homer in the eighth. Duren, who hadn't yielded a run previously this season in 10 innings, got into trouble in the 10th when he hit pinch hitter Wally Bond. Temple, who had doubled earlier in the game, then broke the tie with his second double and after Harvey Kuenn singled, Jim Piersall followed with a three-run homer. Reliever Dick Stigman was credited with his second victory.

Hall had a minimum of trouble with the Orioles in snapping a three-game losing streak for the Athletics. The six-foot-six righthander limited Baltimore to six hits, struck out six and did not walk a batter. Kansas City clinched the game with a nine-run outburst against loser Hoyt Wilhelm in the fifth. Dick Williams' grand-slam homer was the big blow.

Rocky Colavito's homer with two out in the ninth broke up a fine pitching duel between Don Mossi of the Tigers and Tex Clevenger of the Senators. The home run was Colavito's fourth of the season but only his first since April 23. Rocky had collected only four singles in his previous 39 times up. Mossi pitched a three-hitter for his first victory while Clevenger, who suffered his first loss, gave up five hits.

Don Blasingame broke up a 2-2 tie between the Giants and Phillies by singling home Willie Kirkland from second base in the seventh. Stu Miller, who came to Johnny Antonelli's rescue in the seventh inning after Wally Post had tied the score with a two-run homer, was credited with the victory although he faced only one batter. Billy O'Dell held the Phils to one hit over the last two innings. Gene Conley gave up five hits and three of the Giants' runs in 6 2/3 innings to absorb his first defeat.

Vern Law of the Pirates posted his fifth victory in six decisions by holding the Dodgers to eight hits, including a homer by Norm Sherry. Bill Mazeroski's two-run homer off Johnny Podres in the fifth broke a 1-1 tie and sent the Los Angeles left-hander down to his second defeat. Hal Smith homered in the second inning for Pittsburgh's first run.

Righthander Team May Vie for LA

By ALEX KAHN
Los Angeles—(UPI)—In an effort to bolster his club's hitting manager Walt Alston said he was thinking of starting an all right-handed lineup tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers meet the Pittsburgh Pirates again.

The Dodgers matched the Pirates in the number of hits Tuesday night, each club getting eight, but they could not match Pittsburgh's homers and the Pirates took a 3-2 victory.

Alston named strikeout star Sandy Koufax (0-2) for tonight's game opposing Joe Gibbon, (2-1) a southpaw like Koufax.

"We hit a little better Tuesday night, but right at somebody," Alston commented after the close defeat.

The chief bright note was the hitting of catcher Norm Sherry, older brother of pitcher Larry Sherry. Norm homered his first time up in the third inning. In his previous time at bat last Saturday, Sherry's homer brought the Dodgers a victory over Philadelphia.

Coliseum Woes Bring Lament From Drysdale

Los Angeles—(UPI)—A "typical Drysdale temper tantrum" was the way Los Angeles Dodger officials described pitcher Gene Conley's serving on a line just over glove of third baseman Alvin Dark and into left field for the big hit.

Willie Kirkland, who collected two singles and a triple in three trips to the plate, raced in from second base.

Then San Francisco capitalized on two errors by the young Phillies in the eighth inning to score a clinching tally.

Stu Miller rushed to the assistance of wobbly Johnny Antonelli in the seventh frame to retire one batter—Conley—for the third out and get credit for the win.

"It's a rather embarrassing way to win one but I'll take it," Miller wryly grinned afterward.

Billy O'Dell took over in the eighth and hurled the rest of the game. Things looked a little dubious for him in that inning when Ted Lepcio led off for the Phillies with a single and Wally Post, who had hit a two-run homer which tied things in the seventh, sent a long fly to left field. But Orlando Cepeda backed up against the fence to gather the ball in.

past second base. It was the sixth pitching win of the season for Andy.

Lowell Dean, Parsons, Quinney and Barry each got two hits for the Black Tornado.

Runner Reaches Third
Crater's biggest threat to score saw Bill Anhorn get a base on balls in the fourth inning and move to third base on successive groundouts by Loyal Higginbotham and Jerry Korbol. Jeff Anhorn fanned to end the bid. Comet runners made it to second sack in the first inning and in the third.

A double play halted Crater in the third canto and Medford made another double kill in the fifth.

Anderson whiffed five batters in a row at one stretch, striking out the side in the sixth inning.

Crater batters knocked the ball out of infield range on just four occasions. Nice flyball catches by Barry Quinney and Parsons in the outfield spoiled Comet chances for hits.

Medford plays a doubleheader at Grants Pass on Friday with the first tussle counting in the league. Crater goes to Ashland for two games on the same day.
