14 Contests, One Measure on Ballot for Oregon Voters Friday

Morse-Kennedy Race Highlights Primary Election

Legislative Pay Increase Included

Portland—Thirteen contests and a legislative pay measure face Oregon voters Friday in addition to the Democratic presidential race highlighted by the campaign between Sens. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.).

Three Oregon Congressmen, Democrats Charles O. Porter and Al Ullman and Republican Walter Norblad, are unopposed for nomination. Rep. Edith Green has opposition on the Democratic ticket from Brooks Washburne of Portland.

Oregon will nominate candidates for U. S. Senator, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and election committee members from both parties.

In addition voters will decide whether to raise legislators' pay from $600 to $2,100 a year.

Election officials have forecast a voter turnout of about 400,000.

Maurine in Race

Mrs. Maurine Neuberger seeks both the long and short-term nominations to succeed her late husband, Sen. Richard L. Neuberger. She is unopposed for the short term, running from the election until Congress reconvenes next year, but has opposition from four others for the six-year nomination. They are Judge Harry Fowler of Prineville, Portland radio man William Murphy, R. Imzie Conn of Lake Grove and Fred Like of Seaside. Daniel Cox of Springfield also is on the Democratic ballot but is ineligible for the nomination because he failed to register as a voter soon enough.

Ex-Gov. Elmo Smith seeks both the long and short-term nominations for senator on the Republican ticket. He is opposed for the short-term nomination by George Altwater of Portland. Running also on the long-term ballot only, are R. F. Cook of Silverton and Thomas Killam of Portland in addition to Smith and Altwater.

Two men seek to face Norblad in the general election, Democrats Marvin Owens of St. Helens and Steve Anderson of Salem. Republican Ronald E. Phair of Klamath Falls, a farmer and businessman, is unopposed to face Ullman in November. Durno-Fleming Vice

Three Republicans, Richard Hill, Orvall Rasor and Walter Lee, all of Portland, are after Lee, all of Portland, are after the nomination to face Mrs. Green or Washburne.

State Sen. Edwin Durno, a Medford doctor, and Leslie P. Fleming, Springfield attorney, are running for the GOP nomination to Congress to oppose Porter. Howell Appling Jr. is unopposed on the GOP ticket to succeed himself as secretary of state. He'll be opposed in November by State Sen. Monroe Sweetland of Milwaukie, Walter Kendrick of Cascade Locks or Vic Davis of Portland.

A spirited contest developed between incumbent Howard Belton and State Rep. Shirley Field for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. The winner of the one faces either State Sen. Ward Cook, Portland, or Judge Joseph Jaross of Hillsboro, the Democratic aspirants, in November.

Thornton Unopposed

Incumbent Robert Thornton has no opposition for the Democratic nomination for attorney general while Carl Francis, state senator from Stayton, is opposed by Merlin Estep of Salem for the GOP nomination.

Another contest which has sparked interest is for Republican national committeeman. It's a write-in battle among GOP Chairman Peter Gunnar, Salem, and John Merrifield, Lowell Paget and William

Polling Places Open Between 8 and 8 for Primary Election

Polls will be open between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. tomorrow for Jackson county residents to select major political party candidates for national, state and county offices.

Also on the Oregon primary election ballots will be candidates for delegates to the

DOG MEASURE

Confusion over the wording of the Medford and Jackson county dog control measures, on the ballot tomorrow, continued today. Wording of the proposal is spelled out in state law.

A "yes" vote means dogs should be permitted to run at large.

A "no" vote means dogs should NOT be permitted to run at large.

Wording on the city and county measures is identical.

Democratic and Republican national conventions. Convention delegates will be elected from the state at large, and from the fourth congressional district, of which Jackson county is a part.

Voters in the Gold Hill and Ashland districts will elect justices of the peace on a non-partisan ballot, and residents of the county, the cities of Medford and Rogue River and those living in precincts 65 and 68A will vote on dog control measures.

In addition, residents of

Rides to Polls Are Offered by Parties

Persons needing rides to the polls Friday may call one of three numbers for transportation, the Mail Tribune was notified today.

The numbers are SPring 3-4777, Democratic headquarters; SPring 3-7561, Republican headquarters; and SPring 3-1436, Kennedy for President headquarters.

Coultais, all from Portland. And the Democratic race for national committeeman among incumbent C. Girard Davidson, State Rep. Al Flegel of Roseburg and James Moore of Portland has brought on heated exchanges during the final days of campaigning.

Mrs. Collis P. Moore of Moro has no opposition for GOP committeewoman but four candidates, Virginia Grant, Elaine Hoffman, State Sen. Alice Corbett and Helen Stoll, seek the post on the Democratic ticket.

Oregon also will nominate state senators and representatives and pick delegates to national conventions from a flock of candidates.

Medford will vote on two annexation proposals. An explanation of the annexation proposals appears on page 8, section B of today's Mail Tribune.

The dog control measure reads "For dogs running at large," with squares for marking either yes or no. If a majority of voters vote yes, dogs may run at large as at present. If the majority vote no, state law provides that a dog be muzzled if not on a leash or accompanied and under the control of its master.

Registered Democrats will be issued a Democratic primary ballot along with non-partisan ballots, and registered Republicans will be issued a Republican primary ballot with the non-partisan ballots. Voters registered in miscellaneous political parties will receive only the non-partisan ballots.

Absentee Balloting

County Clerk Marvin Madden noted that should a registered voter find he can not get to the polling place for his precinct because of an emergency an absentee ballot may be cast.

Many Pamphlets Said Not Received

Milwaukie, Ore.—State Sen. Monroe Sweetland said today that "thousands of voters in both parties in Lane and perhaps other counties have failed to receive voters pamphlets."

Sweetland, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state to oppose Appling in November, urged that steps be taken to make a supply of pamphlets available in affected counties.

First Totals of County Census Expected Friday

Last of Jackson Books Are Mailed

The last of the census books enumerating residents of Jackson county have been mailed to district headquarters in Eugene.

Harold Sander, crew leader for the western half of the county, said the census takers in his district completed their calls Wednesday night. Preliminary totals are expected tomorrow from district headquarters in Eugene.

Total population figures for rural Jackson county are expected to be considerably higher than the earlier estimates of the bureau of census, although the preliminary census count fixed Medford's present population below the estimate.

The bureau's early 1960 estimate for Jackson county was in excess of 71,000. Thomas A. Redlingshafer, acting district director, Eugene, today declined to give specific estimates of increase, but said figures so far indicate "many more" persons now reside in the county.

Preliminary Totals

Redlingshafer reported that Josephine county's preliminary total is 29,650 residents, compared with the bureau's last estimate of 26,433. Grants Pass now has 10,001 residents, less than the estimate, according to preliminary census reports.

Grants Pass had a population of 8,116 in 1950 and 9,900 in 1958.

Residents in this area who were missed during the census may still become a part of the 1960 population rolls by mailing in "Were You Counted?" forms. The form was published in an earlier issue of the Mail Tribune, and will be republished tomorrow.

Important Factor

Don McNeil, manager of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, said "an accurate population picture for both Medford and Jackson county, will be an important factor in our continued economic development."

Federal and state fund allotments are often re-apportioned to governmental subdivisions on a population basis. The count is also important in contacting industrial firms for plant relocation, and in developing growth trend data for marketing studies.

Persons who were not counted should mail "Were You Counted?" forms to the bureau of census, Lane county courthouse, Eugene.

County, State to Close Offices

Offices in the Jackson county courthouse, except the elections department and the sheriff's office, will be closed Friday, May 20, due to the primary election. Majority of state department offices here will also be closed.

The telephone switchboard will be open for calls to the elections department only, County Clerk Marvin Madden said. All doors into the courthouse will open as eight precincts will have polling places there.

Persons needing election information may call the courthouse number SPring 3-6211, extensions 200, 208, or 217. Madden said that persons wishing the location of their polling station should have the number of their precinct when they call. The precinct number may be found on their registration identification cards, Madden reminded residents.

Any questions which might arise during the day regarding election law interpretation will be referred to Madden's office, it was reported.

Council Session Hears Herter on Spy Information

Important Data Declared Gathered

Paris—(UPI)—The North Atlantic Alliance pledged its complete solidarity with the United States today at a NATO council session which heard Secretary of State Christian A. Herter report that U2 spy flights had produced information of great importance for safeguarding the Free World.

A NATO communiqué blamed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for torpedoing the summit conference and agreed with Herter's assertion that the Russians had determined in advance to wreck the meeting because of Communist pressure within his own country.

No Protest Raised

At the permanent NATO council session, no protest was raised against the U2 flights which Herter said had started four years ago. However NATO ally Norway protested last week that the U2 shot down over Russia was to have ended its flight in Norway.

Herter said the U2 incident was only one aspect of espionage and that the Russians had been extremely active in espionage over the years and still are. He explained the U2 flights were undertaken in the interests of all NATO members who have a great stake in the security of the Free World.

Allies Support America

Not a voice was raised against the U2 flights in the NATO meeting. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd pledged the readiness of the Allies to back the United States in any future cold war negotiations.

The gist of Herter's remarks was revealed by official sources. There was no indication of whether Herter spelled out the specific information garnered by the U2s.

City to Continue Hearing on Paving

The Medford city council will continue a public hearing on the proposed paving of Niantic st. from Edwards to Maple sts., when it meets at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the city hall council chambers.

At a special meeting last Friday, the council elected to add the city's name to a petition to have the street paved. The city owns some 231 feet of property fronting Niantic st., in the area proposed to be paved.

Also on tonight's agenda will be a proposal to authorize plans and negotiate with the state highway commission for widening of South Riverside ave., from Ninth st. to Central ave.

A preliminary proposal has been received by the city from the highway department in which the state would agree to bear 75 per cent of the cost of widening Riverside from 38 to 48 feet between curbs. Cost to the city would be an estimated $26,000. Overall cost of the project is estimated at $104,000.

If Riverside ave. is widened it would necessitate the removal of a number of trees between 12th st. and the Central ave. intersections.

The council will also consider placing restrictions on the airport limousine service. A number of requests are before the council. One of these is for a time extension on the Jackson park swimming pool project and another is a request to name a street in the Medford heights addition.

Bids are scheduled to be awarded for the 10th st. bridge and the paving of the 10th st. extension.

Rescuers Try Desperately To Save Climbers

Summit, Alaska—UPI—The leader of a mountain-climbing expedition radioed an urgent plea to Air Force authorities today to continue efforts to snatch five injured mountaineers from Mt. McKinley by helicopter.

"A ground party will be too late," Paul Crews radioed from the scene.

Mt. McKinley, Alaska—UPI—High adventure on the slopes of the highest summit in North America, 29,320 foot Mt. McKinley, was being enacted at the 18,300 foot level today as rescue workers try desperately to save the lives of five persons.

Four of the five, John Day, 50, Pete Schoening, 30, and James and Lou Whittaker, 31-year-old twins, were members of a Pacific-Northwest mountain climbing party led by Day. The fifth injured person, Mrs. Helga Bading, 31, was a member of another group led by Paul Crews, Anchorage, Alaska.

All are described as in "very serious condition."

Entry Deadline For Miss County Pageant Is May 23

Ashland—Deadline for entering the May 28 Miss Jackson County contest is Monday, May 23, Harry Wright, general chairman of the Ashland Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored event, has announced.

The pageant, which will be held in Ashland, will be patterned after the Miss American contest. Wright said, with contestants participating in three categories. They are formal gown modeling, swim suit modeling and talent performance.

Seven girls between the ages of 18 and 28 who are single and have never married have so far entered the contest. They are Miss Shirley Satterfield, Medford; Miss Mia Raanhorst, Ashland; Miss Brenda Woods, Ashland; Miss Judy Johnson, Ashland; Miss Carolyn Edwards, Central Point; Miss Sharanlee Finchum, Medford; and Miss Karen Lytle, Klamath Falls, a student at Southern Oregon college.

Wright said SOC students are eligible to enter the Jackson county contest. All contestants must have lived in the county for the six months prior to the contest, and be high school graduates by September, 1961.

Winner of the local contest will be the county's entry in the Miss Oregon contest, and the winner of that event will participate in the Miss America contest in 1961.

The entries committee of the Ashland Jaycees will interview all nominees, whether contestants are entered by individuals or organizations, before the pageant.

Wright said the committee hopes to have at least five more entries by the deadline, and encouraged local residents or organizations to consider entering a candidate.

World Urged To Rally Against Russian Tactics

President To Arrive In Washington Friday

Lisbon, Portugal—UPI—Hundreds of thousands of cheering Portuguese gave President Eisenhower a hero's welcome here today. With the failure to the summit conference still heavily on his mind, he admonished the Free World to rally stronger than ever against Soviet Russia's torpedoes tactics.

Regarded as Hero

President America Thomas welcomed Eisenhower as a "tireless knight errant of peace" and the cheering Portuguese who filled the air with cries of "Viva Eisenhower, Viva Eisenhower" made it clear they regarded him as the hero of the summit encounter with Nikita Khrushchev.

The President, described by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty as "completely disgusted and fed up with the tactics of Khrushchev," said he thought that while there was no pressing reason for dismay, the free nations had to tighten their belts and work harder in the face of Soviet abuse and accusations.

Returns Home Friday

Eisenhower flew in by jet from Paris for overnight talks with Prime Minister Oliveira Salazar and Thomas before continuing on Friday to Washington where he will report to the American people within a few days on the failure of the summit meeting.

The President rode through the sunlit streets of this picturesque capital to Queluz Palace where he received members of the American Embassy staff and the U.S. military assistance advisory group.

Local Watermaster Names Assistant

The appointment of Joseph L. Diddock, Salem, as assistant watermaster for this area was announced today by Watermaster David Hendrix. Diddock has been working with the state engineer's office.

Hendrix said the appointment was made because of the "increase in the amount of surveying and requests for information on wells in this area, and because there is a need to determine more about ground water."

The watermaster said his office hopes to keep track of key wells about the valley to determine the static water level. Diddock will also work with regulation of stream flow, replacing emergency stream assistants used in the past.

The watermaster said the cool wet weather this spring has helped stream flow and irrigation districts, but added that he still feels stream flow will be low by late July unless there is more than normal precipitation this summer.

Roseburg—Petrus Johannes Van Riel, 25, Vancouver, B.C., died Wednesday from injuries suffered in a Tuesday automobile accident, state police reported.
