

Governors Split Along Party Lines On Medical Care

Seattle-AP - Western governors split along party lines Wednesday in sharp debate over medical aid for the aged.

The 12 governors - seven Democrats and five Republicans - spent more than an hour debating a medical aid resolution offered by Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, one of the GOP executives.

Hatfield's resolution called for states to carry a full load of responsibility along with the federal government in establishing medical aid insurance for persons 65 and over.

Objectable Provision
What Democratic governors objected to most was a provision that each state and individuals within the state have the privilege of deciding separately whether to participate in the program.

As offered, the resolution would have financially responsible senior citizens contribute to the cost of their medical care insurance.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown termed the resolution "a fake and a fraud," and Republicans Hatfield and William F. Quinn of Hawaii countered by charging the Democratic governors with ducking their state responsibilities.

'Heart' Removed
The resolution finally was adopted, but only after Democratic Gov. Stephen L. McNichols amendment taking the heart out of Hatfield's proposal was adopted. Hatfield said the resolution as adopted was "like being against sin and for motherhood."

The amended resolution called on Congress to enact legislation making a federal-state medical insurance program possible.

Utah Gov. George A. Clyde, Republican, was elected chairman for the 1961 conference which will be held at Salt Lake City, Alaska Gov. William A. Egan was named vice chairman, meaning the 1962 meeting likely will be in Juneau.

Drunk Had Something Up Sleeve - Squirrel

Jacksonville, Fla. - Patrolman J. D. McCormick was frisking a drunk at the city jail when he felt something move in the prisoner's sleeve.

McCormick reached in further and came up with a squirming squirrel. The prisoner, who was in no shape for explanations, remained in jail. The squirrel received a police escort to a veterinary.
