Truck Crashes Ashland Residence

Ashland–A bakery truck rolled down a hill Friday morning when its emergency brake failed and crashed into a home on Van Ness st. causing approximately $500 damage.

Ashland police cited the operator, Robert L. Custance, of 1310 West Main st., Medford, for having defective equipment and for having neither a chauffeur's license nor an operator's license.

The mishap occurred about 8:45 a.m. while Custance was delivering baked goods to a home on Skidmore st. Police said the truck, a covered pickup owned by Johnson's Model Bakery, 300 East Main st., Ashland, rolled down Skidmore and crossed Van Ness.

The vehicle, policed continued, smashed through a wall of the 240 Van Ness st. home of C. H. Chaney. It ripped loose a bathtub, tore out gas lines and crashed through a closet. No one was injured.

The Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a Judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Cynthia A. – Mother needs me.

Nat A. – A competent nurse would be better.

* * *

Cynthia A. – My husband and I are in our late 40s and are childless. For the past three years we have had my mother living with us and she is suffering from an incurable disease. The doctors say she won't last the year.

Naturally I am terribly upset about this and I feel my husband is letting me down. Instead of being sympathetic and thoughtful he keeps nagging me to go with him and spend less time with my mother.

Nat can't understand that I just can't enjoy myself when I go out. My mother is suffering so terribly I feel guilty every second I'm away from her. She can't bear to be touched by a nurse or anyone but me.

* * *

Nat A. – I may be selfish, but I feel we all have only one life to live and we've got to make the most of it. Cynthia and I will be old and ailing in our time. Why do we have to suffer with her mother?

Cynthia's mother has had a long, rich life. She is past 75 and was always in good health. I know she is suffering now, but she should consider Cynthia anyway. A competent nurse can handle her even better..

Cynthia's two sisters have done very little to pitch in and help. It's true they have families to care for, but they should do something to cooperate.

* * *

Council – There is no question that Cynthia is going through about the worst of life's trials. At such times, it is easy to think that others are unsympathetic and lack understanding.

In this instance, however, this is far from the real case. Nat is extremely understanding is making a reasonable request. He wants his wife to take this harsh situation in stride.

Cynthia creates the impression that she dwells on her mother's sufferings excessively. Possibly she feels she can in some way alleviate her mother's pain by taking a little of it on herself. But this is impossible. Actually, the person bearing the pain suffers less mental anguish than the watcher.

Possibly Cynthia has found a degree of satisfaction in her unhappiness. Although she is childless, she has found someone who seems to need her as urgently as any child. Unfortunately, there cannot be the same joy as a mother experiences in watching her offspring grow into new strength.

Because she has taken over so completely, Cynthia's sisters may feel somewhat shoved out of the way. It is also quite possible that her mother would like a little more attention from them. They should certainl be called in to shoulder some share of this unhappy responsibility.

We hope Cynthia will recognize that in this case her husband knows best. A good nurse will be able to win her mother over – at least as a part-time arrangement.
