The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Clinic

Overweight People

According to a recent study of 100 overweight people made by Drs. Donald Berkowitz and Nathaniel Berk, of Philadelphia, most stout persons, when put on a diet, do not lose much weight, or do not hold their loss. The trouble is that one in three really doesn't want to make the effort; one in five hasn't sufficient intelligence to understand what needs to be done, or to see the great need for making the effort; and one in five wants to eat often to get emotional satisfaction. Such persons love to eat even when they are not hungry.

Dr Alvarez

The 100 people failed to reduce properly or to stay reduced even when, each day, they were given a drug to help them. Thirty-eight quit before they finished their course, and practically all of these gained back their weight as soon as they stopped treatment. Nineteen even gained so much on the rebound that they weighed more than when they started! Forty-two lost 20 pounds or more, and one woman lost 70 pounds. Six behaved so well they went back to their normal weight. Fifty-six were still under treatment at the end of the year. Half of the many people who soon gave up the struggle apparently didn't care enough about their appearance.

Mental Retardation

During the last few years chemists have been doing much work in an effort to learn more about those few retarded children who have a brain that was badly injured by some body chemical which was not quickly destroyed or thrown out by the kidneys as it should have been. The chemical remained in the body to poison the brain. Often the reason for this defect in body chemistry appears to be the hereditarily-produced lack of some ferment which normally destroys the harmful chemical. The situation may be much like that in diabetes where, for lack of insulin, sugar piles up in the body.

I do not want now to raise unwarranted hopes in the minds of thousands of unhappy parents who have a feeble-minded child. As Dr. Richmond S. Paine of Harvard, recently wrote, probably half of the morons we doctors see inherited a poor brain from some ancestors who had poor brains. In other cases, the child's brain was terribly injured while he was being born, and in a few more, the injury was due to an encephalitis or brain fever.

Dr. Paine has summarized in a masterly way most of what is known about the several types of mental retardation in which abnormal chemicals can be found in the urine. Doubtless more and more of these diseases will soon be discovered and perhaps, as time passes, ways will be found to help some of the children so that their brains will not be so badly poisoned. As yet, there is little that can be done in a curative way: what is good is that the door of hope is opening up a bit.

Mental Health Association

A group of people whom I like to help are those at 10 Columbus Circle, in New York City. They are struggling to do something about the commonest and often the most awful of all diseases—mental disease. For years people have said, with a good deal of justice, "Why give money for research on mental disease? There is mightly little that anyone can do about it." Fortunately, in the last 10 years, conditions have changed, and now the problem is being tackled, not by the old armchair theorizers, but by scientists who go into a laboratory and study how the brain really works in animals and men. Already mental disease can be produced at will, with the help of a number of drugs, and this helps doctors to study insanity. Every month now new drugs are being found which will either stimulate a depressed brain or calm a too-active brain. A new scientific psychiatry is rapidly coming into being, and already the old edifice of the mumbo-jumbo type of theoretical psychiatry is beginning to totter.

For a while yet I fear dispensers of great funds will keep giving thousands of dollars for so-called "research," to men who know exactly how everything will come out before they even start working, but perhaps soon this sort of foolishness will grind to a halt; and then the only men who will be given money for research will be scientists—brain physiologists and psychiatrists who, without theories that they have swallowed whole, will study mental disease as they find it, with all the wonderful new devices that are being supplied by the chemists and the physicists.

Dr. Alvarez' booklet on weight control may be obtained by sending 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. MMT, The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Box 957, Des Moines 4, Iowa.

Cordy Says Frost Hurt Fruit Crops

The Rogue Valley fruit crop has been hurt by frosts this season, County Horticultural Agent Clifford B. Cordy said Saturday, and in some cases seriously affected.

"To all intents and purposes the fruit frost season is over. However, all orchardists should keep their heaters in the orchards ready to fire if needed, Cordy advised. "The season officially ends June 1. However, in 1932, some orchard heating occurred on June 12."

"It's generally conceded that the frost cut the pear crop generally 20 per cent," the county horticultural agent said. "There will be quite a little frost marking as the crop matures," he added.

A half or more of the apricot crop was lost due to frost, according to County Agent Don Berry. About 60 per cent of the peach crop remains, Berry added. The total apricot crop is in five or six orchards. Largest loss in the peach crop occurred in the Ashland area, the center of peach production in the area, Berry explained.

PLAN RIGHTS AWARDS

New York (UPI)—The American Jewish Congress today announced it will present civil rights leadership awards Sunday to U.S. Attorney General William Rogers, Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.), Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins.

New Law to Be Discussed on TV

Oregon's new anti-discrimination law on housing for members of minority groups will be the subject of "Dateline Statehouse" at 10:45 o'clock tonight over KBES-TV.

Appearing on the program will be Milton Goldsmith, Portland, chairman of the advisory committee for the civil rights division, Oregon bureau of labor, and Mark Smith, Portland, civil rights administrator for the agency.

A new law affecting the rights of members of minority groups to buy or rent housing and other real property was passed in the last Oregon Legislative assembly.

FATBACK, J. ROARINGHAM

Born 1900 - Porkland Oregon. Showed early talent for swinery. After modest start, hit the pig-time by combining Central Pork with Yellowstone National Pork. In 1927, bought out Hyde Pork, Inc. Changed name of exclusive New York street to "Pork Avenue", and erected 250-story Hampire State Building.
