

Kid Paret, Jordan End Training

By JACK CUDDY
Las Vegas, Nev. —(UPI)—Well-known champion Don Jordan and Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba finish training today for Nevada's first world title fight in a half century at Convention Hall Friday night.

Unexpectedly, Jordan of Los Angeles, says he is not taking any great risk with his 147-pound crown, here in the city that became America's gambling center during the 50 years that elapsed since Jack Johnson kept the heavy-weight crown by knocking out Jim Jeffries at Reno, Nev., in 1910.

When rangy, sleepy-eyed Jordan squares off with Paret Friday night, "I think I'll win the fight very easily," he said. If he does win easily, the victory will surprise many waging men who have made challenger Paret a 2-1 favorite.

Promoters Mel Greb and Jack Doyle wish that fight fans in Nevada, California and Arizona were as confident of the champion's prowess as Don claims to be. Because of Jordan's comparatively poor showing at Baltimore last week, Convention Hall's 7,800 seats may be only half-filled, and the gate may be curtailed to $45,000.

Black Tornado Captures District 6 A-1 Diamond Laurels, Outlasts Pelicans 7-5

SOUTHERN OREGON CONFERENCE STANDINGS:
(Final)
Medford 35
Klamath Falls 27

Grants Pass 23
Medford defeated Klamath in playoff for District 6 A-1 title.

Medford High school's Black Tornado, scoring early then weathering potent Pelican challenge in tensioned final innings, outlasted Klamath Falls 7 to 5 here yesterday afternoon to gain an Oregon prep baseball championship playoff berth for the second successive year.

Tuesday's encounter was a Southern Oregon conference runoff. The Tornado will carry the District 6 standard into quarterfinals in the eliminations for the state's Class A-1 diadem. Medford High opposes the North Eugene Highlanders at Eugene on Friday afternoon, May 27, in the quarterfinal fray. The tangle tentatively is set for afternoon at Bethel park.

The Big Wind of the City of Pears sent runners across the plate five times in the first inning and twice more in the third. It was figuratively handcuffed the rest of the way. Medford fans sat on the edges of their seats with their hearts in their throats as the Klamath Pels whammed out three hits in the sixth inning and four straight safeties in the seventh.

Seven Hits, Two Runs
But, luckily for Medford, those seven hits manufactured just two runs as the Pels cut down what once had been a 7 to 1 Tornado lead. The final inning safeties were followed by three straight outs with Bob Quinney pitching in relief. When the final out was recorded, the possible tying runs were left on base.

Klamath's 3 to 2 triumph over Medford here last Friday tied the two clubs with 7-1 marks in final regular season standings and forced yesterday's extra game. The Pelicans won a coin flip and chose their field as playoff site. But snow and wet grounds prevented use of Klamath's park and the game was shifted to Medford high.

Bishop Relief Effective
Mound starter Blake Griggs

Klamath brought two of the three umpires who worked the game and took its batting turn in the bottom of each inning, the traditional spot of home teams.
The Medford lineup batted completely around in the first frame. Hits by Cal Dean, Ken Jensen and Jerry Anderson, a sacrifice flyout by Mike Parsons, a walk, a hit batter and an error at home plate, along with a groundout picked up the runs. In the third inning Parson was hit by a pitch and Quinney singled. A wild pitch advanced the runners. Then, a hit by Ray Konopasek to center field brought the runners home with the markers which were to prove the victory margin in the game.

Bishop Relief Effective

gave way to pitcher Paul Bishop after Konopasek's swat.
Bishop was tremendously effective in relief. Only one batter got on base against him in the 4 2/3 innings that he hurled. Ken Jensen tripled in the seventh on a fly to right that outfielder Bianchi almost snared on a long run. Jensen was out trying to come home after the catch of Barry's foul flyout back of first base. Cal Dean, first man to face Bishop in the third inning, hit into a double play. So Bishop's Tuesday turn on the hill began and ended with a twin kill. Batters were retired in order in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Klamath Outlasted Medford
in the game 12 to 7.

KF collected its first run in the second session when Steve Binney tripled over Quinney's head in center field and scored on Dave Saks' top fly to right pasture. Another counter went in the book in the fourth panel on a hit by Griggs, an overthrow error, a groundout by Sherm Allen and a wild pitch by Anderson. One-base smacks by John Bianchi and Don Wiley and a ground out by Bishop gained a Pelican tally in the fifth canto, making the score 7 to 3. Close at Plate

With one out in the sixth inning, Bruce Brickner and Allen hit safely for the Pels. Binney was out on a deep foul fly to left fielder Jim Barry. Then Saks singled. Brickner, trying to score all the way from second base, was put out on Barry's throw on a close play at the plate. Brickner and Pel Boach Bill Mansfield both disputed the ruling of out by plate umpire Bill Esselstyn.

Hits in the seventh stanza for two runs were by Bianchi, pinch hitter Henry Herrera, Wiley and Depew. The first three blows were off Tornado opening chucker Anderson. Quinney gave up another hit. But the game was saved as a seventh win of the season for Anderson when Griggs fouled out. Quinney fanned Brickner and Allen knocked the ball to third baseman Cal Dean who threw to first for the out.

Medford first baseman Lowell Dean suffered a shoulder bruise when he collided with catcher Dave Saks at home plate in the first inning. There's a question as to whether he'll be able to see service against North Eugene. After the collision, Dean played through the second inning and got a hit in his second appearance at the plate.

The win was Medford's 23rd this year against one tie and one loss. Klamath has a 19-7 record for the season.

Bill Should Smoke Out Major Leagues Position

New York—UPI—Continental League spokesman Bill Shea said today that Sen. Estes Kefauver's latest sports bill now in the hands of the full Senate Judiciary committee "should smoke out" the major leagues' position on expansion.

Aircraft Carrier Involved in Scrape

Washington—UPI—The 60,000-ton super aircraft carrier Saratoga and a West German merchant ship sideswiped each other in clear weather some 60 miles east of Elizabeth City, N.C., shortly after 1 a.m. today, it was announced by the Navy.

There were no serious personnel injuries on either ship. The German vessel, the Bernd Luenhardt, suffered "extensive damage" to the water line and its communications it was proceeding under its own power to Cape Henry, Va., 80 miles northwest of the collision point, under escort of the U.S. Destroyer Stribling.

The Navy said there was no serious damage to the carrier. It said a jet fuel line, which carries fuel for aircraft, was broken and that a fire resulted but was quickly extinguished.

Qualities Experienced In Sports Make Stronger Person, Newell Declares

Qualities that are experienced in athletics make a boy a stronger person, Peter F. Newell brought out last night at a dinner honoring St. Mary's High school athletes at Rogue Valley Country club.

Newell, head basketball coach at University of California, was principal speaker at the banquet at which outstanding athlete and Crusader basketball, track and cheer leader awards were presented.

The intangibles gained from athletics are the things that will be enduring and make a boy what he is going to be, according to Newell, who is newly appointed director of athletics at California. He said that the one quality brought to the surface more than any other in athletics is moral values—moral courage.

Newell listed perseverance, respect of authority, loyalty, sacrifice, good health habits and initiative as other attributes developed in sports.

Bob Evans Honored
Bob Evans, football, track and basketball letterman and captain this year of the basketball team, received the top award of the night. He was announced as outstanding athlete of the year. The Rev. Carl Mai, pastor of Sacred Heart parish, presented Evans the Andy's Jeweler's award.

Evans was also named as outstanding basketball player and Terry Cooper was announced as outstanding trackman. Outstanding football player award was presented to George Lucas. Roger Hout was recipient of the inspirational award. He was a football, basketball and trackman.

Some 52 boys, out of some 70 in the St. Mary's student body, were leted for participation in athletics. Girl cheer leaders getting awards were Mary Jo Batzer, yell queen, Dolores Cooper, Anne Haviland, Lynne Parsons and Daryl Zapell. Head Coach Bill McKibbin and the Rev. John Hg, athletic director, handled the general award presentation.

Tribute To Mothers
McKibbin introduced George Lucas, Tom Tomjack and Don Rausch as St. Mary's gridlers named to play in the state B Shrine game, Bob Evans as an alternate, and Hout, Ron Daley and Cooper as athletes who got votes in the all-star selection. Coach McKibbin paid tribute to mothers of the players. Mothers of the team captains, Hout, Evans, Lucas and Cooper, and of the cheer queen received corsages.

Harold Evans, for the parents, presented McKibbin a watch and Hout, letterman's club president, also for the athletes, presented the coach a gift, a brief case.

The captains formally handed the trophies won during the year to the student body. Acceptance was by Tony Marshall, student body president.

Paul Haviland, award dinner committee chairman, was master of ceremonies for the evening. Newell was introduced by Dr. Billy Blackstone, Medford dentist.

Cooperation Praised
The California mentor, college coach of the year for the past two years and coach of the 1960 United States Olympic hoop team, commended the "wonderful cooperative spirit" between public and parochial schools here and praised the "pride in Medford" that is shown.

Newell described a letter awarded for athletic participation as a "badge of merit" and said that a person who hurts the team hurts himself. He complimented the boys just for the fact that they go out for athletics. The speaker told of his own days at St. Agnes, small parochial school in Los Angeles and said, "I understand and appreciate what you've done."

Newell spoke highly of the players on his college all-star basketball squad in the Olympic trials and held these athletes up as examples to the high school boys. He spoke of the common purpose among these collegians and of their cooperative and receptive attitude in playing together.

He indicated that, with seven collegians on the squad, this year's Olympic team will be the United States' youngest and may be its best. It is important, Newell said, to have the best team represent the United States. He stated that the players know they will have a great responsibility when they go into the Olympics.

Several hundred persons attended the dinner. These included parents of players and many special guests representing the city, Medford public schools, the press, radio and television.

Floyd Has Louis Secret In Battered Old Tin Can

By FLOYD PATTERSON
(Written for UPI)
Newtown, Conn.—UPI—I can't tell you what secret Joe Louis showed me but I will tell you it's in a battered old tin can that I keep in my bureau drawer.

I'll be handing that tin can quite a bit in the next four weeks because I promised Joe I'd study those films of his second fight with Max Schmeling at least twice a week.

The film runs only two minutes and four seconds but it holds the key to the strategy that will enable me to win back the heavyweight title from Ingemar Johansson on June 20.

Joe—everybody up here calls him "the champ"—was just the greatest that night. Even Dan Florio, my trainer, is a little bit awed when he watches the perfect fight in those pictures.

Joe has helped me, that I know. We had several long pleasant talks. He talked to me frankly about my weaknesses while we watched movies of my first fight with Johansson, did a little running in the woods or just sat around chatting. He showed me how I can avoid the same mistakes this time.

They say no heavyweight champion ever regained his title and they're right. But they don't explain that no other fighter ever had the opportunity to regain it when he was only 25 years old as I am.

But the only thing he had to say publicly was that it might take Floyd a round longer to whip Johansson than he first figured.

"Ingo is in fine shape," reported ex-champ Louis. "Floyd boxes more seriously and seems more serious all around than Johansson. I still think Patterson will win in from seven to 10 rounds—well, maybe we'll raise it to 11."

Johansson appeared vastly unworried both by Louis' "spying" and his predictions. He also brushed off Louis' assertion that Johansson landed two foul blows in his first fight with Patterson last June.
