Actor-Producer Labor Dispute to Snap Off Broadway's Bright Lights

New York (UPI)—Broadway's fabled footlights are flickering and by tonight the world's theatrical center was expected to be in darkness because of a labor dispute between actors and producers.

The lights of one show went out last night and only an eleventh-hour settlement of a bitter contract dispute today could prevent the first Broadway blackout in 41 years.

Although bargaining talks were scheduled to continue today between representatives of Broadway producers and actors, prospects for an agreement by nightfall were extremely poor.

A union-ordered walkout of the cast of the hit comedy, "The Tenth Man," an hour before curtain time Wednesday night served as the switch that is expected to darken all 22 Broadway theaters this evening. The League of New York Theaters, which represents both producers and theater owners, immediately notified casts of all shows that all performances tonight would be cancelled in reprisal against Wednesday's cast walkout.

Cast Misses Show
"Every play and musical in town will be out Thursday night," Alexander H. Cohen, far apart in their negotiations which have been carried on since April 15. Major issues in the dispute are the union's demand for a pension, an increase in minimum salaries, improved working conditions and other benefits.

League Strategy
Tonight's mass shutdown of Broadway theaters was agreed on by the Theater League if the union carried out its threat to call isolated "meetings" of casts of various shows about an hour before curtain time — a strategem put into effect for the first time Wednesday night.

Princess Grace to Visit with Family

Philadelphia (UPI)—Princess Grace of Monaco, who came here to visit her ailing millionaire-sportsman father, said today she will spend more time with her family before returning to her little principality on the Mediterranean.

The princess said she found her father, John B. Kelly Sr., "looking very, very well" after a 40-minute visit at his bedside in Woman's Medical College Hospital Wednesday.

Kelly, 69, a rags to riches contractor, was recuperating from an abdominal operation. A physician said he was in "satisfactory" condition and should be able to leave the hospital sometime next week.

Baptists to Consider Withdrawal From Council

Rochester, N.Y. (UPI)—The American Baptist convention opens its 53rd annual meeting tonight faced with a decision on a controversial move to withdraw its 1,500,000 members denomination from the National Council of Churches.

The first Baptist church of Wichita, Kans., has asked northern Baptist to withdraw from the National Council, the largest cooperative church body in America. The Kansas church delegation, which has the largest congregation in the denomination with 4,300 members, requested the break because it feels the National Council is "too liberal."

The request heads the list of items presented at pre-convention meetings Wednesday of the General Council, policy-making staff of the denomination.

Support Withheld
The Wichita proposal was instituted in March, when the congregation voted to withhold financial support to the American Baptist Convention pending a decision at this meeting. A convention spokesman several member churches were "interested" in the outcome of the issue.

None has openly taken a positive stand on the proposal but denominational leaders have indicated that the convention will back a resolution to remain allied with the National Council of Churches.

The convention proper starts tonight in the Rochester Community War Memorial and will run through next Tuesday. More than 10,000 delegates and visitors were expected.

End of Health Services Opposed

Portland (UPI)—Elimination of health services in Portland Public Schools drew the ire of city Health Officer Dr. Thomas L. Meador here Wednesday.

The elimination would go into effect July 1 with the new school budget. Meador told the community council that the new budget, slashed $1,700,000 was "short sighted" and said he didn't know how a city the size of Portland could eliminate health services.

He said the school board would have to set up an alternate program that would cost more than the present cooperative program with the city.

Rotting Timber in Mine Kills Man

Springfield, Ore. (UPI)—Rotting timbers at the old Lucky Boy mine in a remote Blue river area 50 miles east of Springfield collapsed Wednesday and killed Gerald Preston, 72, retired Eugene business man who had been living in the Leaburg area on the McKenzie river.

Preston, a "rock hound" who had visited the mine several times with one of its owners, Clayton Nestie of Vida, had taken a tin hat along but had left it in his jeep. The crumbling, 20-foot timbers struck him on the head, killing him instantly, according to Coroner Fred Buell.

New Feature in OSC's Superior Student Program

Corvallis — An important new feature has been added to the Oregon State college superior student program that permits exceptionally able students to go "faster and farther" in college work.

Beginning this coming year, the advanced placement program of the national College Entrance Examination board will be used at OSC. This program permits high school seniors who pass the special examinations to be placed in advanced classes in some departments and permits them to get college credit for college-level work now offered in some high schools.

Plans to enlarge the superior student program and to expand the honors degree program in science to include some 30 new freshmen were announced by President A. L. Strand.

School of Science Program
The school of science honors program is a part of the superior student plan. Under it, students do extra work such as special readings, research and seminars, and take some special classes throughout their college careers. At graduation, they will receive diplomas that indicate honors in their specific science field.

This year, 41 freshmen and 22 sophomores have made up the first honors degree group. Sandra K. Buxton and David L. Gifford, sophomores from Medford, were selected.

To be eligible for the honors program, a freshman must have ranked near the top of his or her graduating class and must have the recommendation of the high school principal or science teacher.

If the extra study load of the honors program proves too demanding, students may withdraw from the program at any time and resume normal course schedules. At the same time, provisions are made for students who show exceptional ability to be added to the program during the year.

Other Phases
Other phases of the superior student program that was organized by the OSC faculty include:

Honors sections in many departments.
Credit by examination for college students who believe they already have sufficient knowledge of a course and who can pass an examination covering the subject matter.

Waiver by examination of some required courses if the student demonstrates grasp of the subject matter.

Special advising and counseling for those who have taken accelerated or enriched programs in high school will be available. This is arranged by the dean of the school in which the student is registered and is in addition to regular adviser service provided every student.

Provisions of the superior student program are outlined in a pamphlet available on request from the office of the registrar at OSC.

Woman Critical After Bomb Blast

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI)—A hand-delivered package exploded in the face of a suburban woman and her two daughters early today, critically injuring the woman and knocking the children off the back porch.

Mrs. Francis Binky Tate and her two daughters, ages 8 and 10, were rushed to the hospital where a spokesman said Mrs. Tate was in "very critical" condition.

"Her hands are gone. She's just completely blown up," the spokesman said.

Police said the two girls were "cut up awful bad." The hospital listed them in fair condition. Another child, an infant, was not hurt.

Police were at a loss to explain why the family, which lived in suburban Inglewood, was singled out for what appeared to be a bomb attack.

2 Young Brothers Die in Plane Crash

Pomona, Calif. (UPI)—Two runaway brothers aged 12 and 14, were killed early today when a light plane they apparently stole crashed and burned in a school playground.

The single-engine plane, its engine full-blast, smashed into the ground at Emerson Junior High school in the heart of a thickly populated residential area in this Los Angeles suburb.

The victims were identified by their parents as Thomas McDonald, 12 and his brother, James, 14. Both boys had run away from their home Monday.

Both of the brothers were in love with flying, friends said. They had attempted to steal a plane several weeks ago but were caught, police said.

Found in the charred wreckage of the Tri-Pacer four-seater was the body of the brothers' pet dog.
