

Science Writing Conference Set

Eugene—A science writing conference involving 30 leading West Coast science writers, editors, and broadcasters will be held on the University of Oregon campus June 16-18.

Sponsored by the University's graduate school and school of journalism, the conference will be supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Three days of lectures, round-table discussions and informal seminars will bring the science writers together with University of Oregon scientists and several distinguished visiting scientists from other sections of the country. Their objective will be to explore the problems involved in reporting news of science in the newspapers and over radio and TV.

Dr. Francis E. Dart, associate professor of physics, and John L. Hulteng, associate professor of journalism, will be co-directors of the conference, which has as its title and theme: "Interpreting Modern Science to the Public."

Two similar conferences, also supported by the National Science Foundation, were held earlier this year at the University of North Carolina and the University of Louisville. The June 16-18 sessions here will be the first such meetings in the western United States.

BODY SAID SHOWN—Although a Soviet newspaper has published photos reportedly showing the body of Adolf Hitler after he committed suicide, the controversy about the German leader's death remains. Here, in this photo from United Press International files, an American GI examines the ditch where the bodies of Hitler and Eva Braun were said to be burned. The scene is in Berlin, outside Hitler's private air raid shelter. The cans beside the ditch held gasoline which was poured on the bodies.

Russia Paper Prints Picture Said to Be of Adolf Hitler

Paris—(UPI)—The Soviet newspaper Kazakhstan Pravda has published a photograph which is said to be a photo of Adolf Hitler taken a few moments after he committed suicide in the "fuhrer bunker" of flaming Berlin in 1945.

The photograph has just reached Paris. It showed a body shrouded in the blankets in which Hitler's body was supposed to have been burned. In the right arm is clutched a picture, presumably a portrait of Hitler himself in a gala uniform.

The body had a bullet wound in the forehead. Previous reports had said Hitler shot himself in the mouth.

The Kazakhstan Pravda is the newspaper of the Communist party of the Kazakhstan Soviet Republic.

It printed three photos with an accompanying text that said they were taken from a Soviet documentary film.

Kazakhstan Pravda said it interviewed the man who led the Russian detachment that stormed the Hitler bunker in the ruins of Berlin.

It identified him as Ilya Yakovlevich Sianov of Alma Ata, capital of the republic, and quoted him as saying:

"This is a picture of Hitler's corpse" when show the photo of the body.

"His servants who only a short time before were glorifying their fuhrer had left

Bankruptcy Costs Increased by House

Washington—(UPI)—Inflation has caught up with the cost of going bankrupt.

The House passed and sent to the White House Monday legislation doubling the closing fee paid to a trustee in a no-asset case of bankruptcy handled by a federal court.

The House Judiciary Committee said the old $5 fee established 62 years ago wasn't high enough to obtain "conscientious and diligent trustees." The legislation would increase the fee to $10.

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

New York—Ringo Angel, one of 10 beatniks in a live Fifth Avenue store window display, defining his type of poetry:

"I write mostly put-down. I put down broads, or governments, or any form of authority like that."

Monahans, Tex. — Sheriff W. B. McNeerlin, stating he doesn't know what charges will be filed against a mental patient who came home on a three day pass, found his wife with another man and killed them both:

"I don't know what the outcome will be. There's that unwritten law, you know. I guess he had a right to shoot the man, but he did not have any right to shoot his wife."

Hollywood—Actress Greer Garson, on her philosophy of life:

"My own view of life is to maintain broad horizons and a narrow waistline."

Milwaukee, Wis.—Israel Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir, stating that Israel would be able to justify its abducting Nazi mass murderer Adolph Eichmann from another country to stand trial in Israel:

"I do not say this is a normal situation. We are not dealing with something normal."

Desert Pegasus

Desert Pegasus Horse club of Eagle Point met for their regular meeting June 4 at the James A. Dunn ranch. The meeting was called to order by President Harlin Stinson. Roll Call was answered by naming things you would find on a camping trip.

The 4-H pledge was read by Cheryl Stanley.

The group talked of the trip to Whiskey Springs July 4 and the rules on the Key Hole race. The club is proud of the three girls that went to the Grants Pass horse show May 29. Regina Krambeal won the trophy on western pleasure in the pony class. Dale West won sixth place in western pleasure in the 9 to 13 age group. Laura Mae Noble won third place in scurry race.

Two visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Walter Kurz and Mrs. Stitz who was introduced by Kathy McGuire.

Coming events were discussed. June 12 the Josephine Junior show will be held in Grants Pass. Also on the same date the Phoenix Saddleties will be at the Anderson ranch, Phoenix; and on June 19 the Montague Junior rodeo in which the club always attends with an overnight camp on the Klamath river. June 25 the Edgewood equestrians will be at the Medford fairgrounds and July 4 the club's camping trip week end to Whiskey Springs will be held.

Medic Warns on Plague Danger

Chicago—(UPI)—Dr. Karl Friederich Meyer, winner of the University of Chicago's Howard Taylor Ricketts Memorial award in medicine, today warned against letting down our guard against the plague.

Meyer, of the University of California, in issuing the warning, said a vast western stretch of North America falls among the potential danger spots.

"Vigilance against the plague must not be relaxed," he said, "despite modern advances in fighting the disease."

"One should not become over-optimistic, nor think that it is not necessary to continue anti-plague campaigns," he said.

He added: "Time will tell whether plague now only resists, preparing for another of its great rages, or whether the measures we now can trust will control it."

Data Processing Center Announced

A new firm, the Rogue Valley Data Processing Center, will open in Medford about Sept. 1, according to Ralph L. Cook, Secretary-treasurer of the corporation that will operate the business.

The center will be located at 315 North Bartlett st., and will do custom data processing work for private business and government agencies.

Cook said the company has ordered approximately $100,000 worth of IBM equipment for the processing work and it should arrive within 90 days.

The firm is affiliated with the Multnomah Data Processing center in Portland. It will employ four persons at first. Cook said local investors will have an opportunity to invest in the business.
