Petitions Planned For Annexation

Petitions will be circulated soon throughout the area southwest of Medford to determine sentiment of the residents toward annexation to Medford.

Wallace Brill, chairman of a committee investigating possible solutions to sewage disposal problems in the area, is in charge.

The Medford city engineer's department will make a preliminary engineering study of the area as to feasibility for annexation and service by city sewage. The area tentatively includes Lozier lane, Ross lane, Maple Park and South Peach st. No definite boundaries for the area considered for annexation have been set, Brill pointed out.

The committee was appointed during last Friday's public meeting in the county courthouse of area residents to study the problem of septic tanks draining into Medford irrigation district ditches and laterals.

The committee of seven members met with city and county officials last night. Their findings will be reported at a general meeting of the area's residents Friday, June 17, in the courthouse auditorium.

Some Talent Land May Not Receive Water Until 1962

Much of the land coming under Talent Irrigation district water for the first time may have to wait until 1962 to receive it, according to Walter Hoffbuhr, district manager.

The east and Ashland laterals will be completed this winter. But only the new land which comes under laterals which have already been enlarged will be served next year, Hoffbuhr said.

Bureau of reclamation construction plans now call for enlargement and betterment of Talent lateral in two contract sections.

The first contract will cover the lateral extending from the Oak st. diversion in Bear creek to Bear creek siphon. The contract will be let this summer and work completed by April 15, 1961.

The second contract will be divided into two schedules with the first section to extend from the outlet of the new Bear creek siphon to and including the Coleman creek siphon.

The second section will run from Coleman creek siphon to the end of the lateral. This will not be completed until April 15, 1962. The west lateral will be let in one contract, with completion date April 15, 1962.

"Originally, plans called for completion of all this work this winter, but due to the cost and time factor, the contracts had to be extended. Cramping so much construction into such a short period would have made the cost prohibitive," Hoffbuhr explained.

"The bureau also has to perfect title on any land taking a right of way. This work involving Talent area land is time consuming," he added.

Diplomas Awarded To Largest Class In School History

A total of 417 Medford High school seniors received diplomas before a capacity crowd in the high school stadium in the first outdoor commencement exercises in five years last night.

Fourteen other seniors who will receive diplomas were unable to participate in commencement. The graduating class of 431 is the largest in Medford High school's history.

Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, dean of the school of education at the University of Oregon, reminded the seniors of unlimited opportunities in America, and encouraged them to continue their education in the field of their choice.

The first student to receive his diploma was Ken Durkee, who received a standing ovation from fellow students and spectators as he was presented his diploma by School Board Chairman William A. (Bill) Barker.

Taken By Ambulance
 Durkee was taken to commencement from Rogue Valley hospital by Medford Ambulance Service. After he received his degree, he was taken home for a short time before returning to the hospital. His physical therapist accompanied him at commencement. Durkee was in a wheelchair at the time he received his diploma.

Durkee was one of six youths injured in an automobile accident last April 10. He and Clay Varney, a sophomore at Medford High school, were the most seriously injured, and both still are hospitalized. Two of Clay Varney's brothers, Clair and Clyde, received their diplomas last night.

Lester D. Harris, principal of Medford High, who announced several scholarships and other awards, estimated attendance at close to 3,500, including graduating seniors.

The academic honors list included 22 students consisting of the top five per cent of the class scholastically based upon seven semesters of high school work.

They are Bonnie Allingham, Molly Barker, Gary Beach, Keith Berg, Nancy Dean, Mary dePlace, Dorina Frayser, John Frohmayer, Robert Hamilton, Elaine Jennings, Douglas Kliever, Anne Matthews, Margaret Medlin, Carolyn Mencke, Lindaglen Miller, Patricia Novak, Henry Olson, Richard Peterson, Marg Preston, Lauren Stayton, John Shaw and Pamela Watson.

Robert Hamilton and Linda Siessler were named outstanding senior boy and girl.

Class officers were Douglas Kliever, president; Marion Bash, vice president; Judy Bash, treasurer; and Ray Konopasek, class representative.

Others participating in commencement included the high school band, senior choir members, Dr. Leonard B. Mayfield, superintendent of Medford public schools, and the Rev. Clynton Crisman.

A list of scholarship and award winners and members of the graduating class appear on page 5 of today's Mail Tribune.

Girl Found to Ride Ashland's Float

Ashland—The Ashland Band Boosters club last night found a pretty schoolgirl to ride aboard the city's float in the Portland Rose Festival parade Saturday.

The passenger will be 15-year-old Ashland High school sophomore Judy Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Byrd, 782 Park st., Ashland.

Booster Club President Mrs. R. G. Tabor said today she received four calls last night and this morning from parents volunteering to "loan" their daughters as float passengers.

Joint Bid Is Low For School Bonds

Butte Falls—A joint bid by Rogue Valley State bank and Foster and Marshall for purchase of bonds from the Butte Falls school district was accepted Tuesday night by the school board.

The bank and investment firm's low bid was 3.894 per cent effective interest rate on the $85,000 bond issue. Voters approved the issue May 17.

First National Bank of Oregon submitted a bid of 4.101 per cent effective interest rate and United States National Bank of Oregon submitted a bid of 4.134 per cent.

The bonds will finance construction of a combination cafeteria and hand room and an addition to the gymnasium. They are to be paid off $8,500 annually from 1962 through 1971.

Copco Rate Hearing July 12 in Medford

Salem—UPI—Public Utility Commissioner Jonel C. Hill today set Tuesday, July 12, as date for a Medford hearing on the application of California Oregon Power company for a rate increase.

The new rates, suspended by Hill May 12, would provide an additional annual gross income to the company of about $1,013,572. Oregon customers would pay the higher rates.

Copco serves an area in southern Oregon roughly encompassed by Oakland on the north, Lakeview on the east, O'Brien on the west and the California border on the south.

County Judge Earl Miller listed home rule advantages as more central control through a board of supervisors or the county court, and possibility of county bonding or Bancrofting for county improvements.

Eisenhower Wins New Support for Trip To Japan

Junket Endorsed After Explanation

Washington—UPI—President Eisenhower won new support in Congress today for his decision to go ahead with his trip to Japan in the face of anti-American demonstrations there.

Several senators, including some Democrats who had questioned the advisability of the June 19 visit, endorsed the trip after hearing an explanation Tuesday from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Among those convinced by Herter's statements at a closed-door session of the Senate foreign relations committee was Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) who earlier had suggested that it might be wise to postpone the trip until next fall.

Sensors who heard Herter's testimony said they got the impression that Eisenhower considered the Far East trip his toughest diplomatic mission but well worth the risk.

They said Herter told them that cancellation of the President's visit in the face of left-wing Japanese opposition could mean the collapse of Japan's alignment with the west.

The White House announced following Herter's testimony that "no change is contemplated" in the President's schedule. It said the purpose of the visit "was and remains the payment of a courtesy call on a great sister democracy and the furtherance of United States-Japanese friendship."

NIXON'S POLICIES RAPPED—New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is shown leaving the White House after a breakfast conference with President Eisenhower today. Party Fails To Make Goal Clear, Governor Says

Apology Offered For Party Criticism

New York—UPI—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller publicly condemned Vice President Richard M. Nixon's pre-convention policies today in a blistering manifesto virtually inviting the GOP to draft Rockefeller for President.

Rockefeller, fresh from a meeting with President Eisenhower, said he is "convinced and deeply concerned that those now assuming control of the Republican party have failed to make it clear where this party is heading and where it proposes to lead the nation."

Apologizes for Criticism
 Rockefeller apologized for criticizing his own party and he coupled his condemnations with an equal attack on the Democrats whose "leadership can inspire no citizen with great hope—it has been confused and uncertain."
 "I can no longer be silent..." he said.

After criticizing Nixon's silence without mentioning the vice president by name, the governor said in his 2,000-word statement:

The governor said he still was available for convention draft for the presidential nomination as he announced May 29. He remained resolutely opposed to accepting the vice presidential nomination, saying he believed he could exercise greater influence on national affairs, including domestic politics, in the "stand by" position of governor.

"I find it reasonable—and urgently necessary—that the new spokesmen of the Republican party declare now, and not at some later date, precisely what they believe and what they propose, to meet the great matters before the nation."

Hoped for Statement
 "I had hoped—in months past—that anyone aspiring to lead the party would do precisely this."
 "I have been waiting for this."
 "It has not been done."
 "I can no longer be silent on these facts."
 The length of Rockefeller's prepared statement indicated he was armed with it during his 90-minute breakfast conference with Eisenhower this morning—a meeting set up on short notice at the governor's request.

In Washington, where Nixon was attending a National Security Council meeting, the vice president's office had no immediate comment on the Rockefeller statement.

Rockefeller said in Washington that he thought that, as things now stand, the chances were that Nixon would win the Republican presidential nomination.

Praises Ike's Pursuit
 Rockefeller praised the "steakfast" and "hiresless pursuit" of Eisenhower but said "we have now come to a time that calls for plain talk" by party leaders.

"The way a party speaks and acts can and should inspire the way a nation speaks and acts," he declared.

"A new period now begins. It summons new men. New problems demand new ideas, new actions."

Ashland Council Approves Paving

Ashland—The Ashland city council last night agreed to pave, curb and gutter Granite st., thereby ending an often controversial issue which has been cropping up at council meetings for more than three years.

City Superintendent Elmer Biegel told the council grading work would begin immediately on the 2,300-foot strip of Granite st. from Winburn Way to a point about 400 feet beyond the end of park property.

Curb and gutter work will start sometime this fall on the property owners' side, Biegel said. He estimated total cost of the project about $7,000.

The council also decided to curb, pave and gutter Chestnut st. from Wimer to Grant sts. Curb and gutter work will start late this week, Biegel said, and paving will be done late this fall.

Although paving for Granite had been discussed often in the past, it was only recently that a majority of property owners along the area concerned had signed a petition. Several petitions submitted previously failed to have the necessary number of signatures.

Five Bids Opened For Sewage Plant

Ashland—Five bids on construction of Ashland's new sewage disposal plant were opened and taken under consideration by the Ashland city council last night.

Bidders were Lloyd B. Reed, Portland, $284,700; Graf and James, Medford, $275,927; Ausland Construction Co., Grants Pass, $289,400; Dan Herder Construction Co., Lebanon, $321,500, and E. L. Wiggins, Portland, $282,851.

All figures include lump sum bids as well as bids on three alternate projects which may or may not be approved. Since the plant is a federal grant project, bids must have approval of the public health service before the council may take action.

Passes Ordinances
 The council also passed two ordinances, including one which increases water rates. The increase, according to City Superintendent Elmer Biegel, will enable the city to receive about $15,000 a year more than it does at present. It will amount to an average monthly hike of about 50 cents per household.

The second ordinance provides for control and use of alcoholic beverages. City Attorney Harry Skerry said present state statutes are incorporated in the new ordinance so that persons charged with violations may be prosecuted in municipal court.

Skerry said the ordinance is designed to eliminate some of the red tape necessary under the present system wherein cases are tried in justice court under state statutes.

Two resolutions also were passed by the council. One authorizes the new hospital administrator to apply for surplus federal properties to be needed at the hospital and the second was a routine matter approving an easement for installation maintenance of water and sewer pipelines at the Southern Pacific railroad right of way at Walker ave.

Mayor Richard L. Neill's nomination of Paul Anthony to fill a vacancy on the city planning commission was approved unanimously by the council. Christian P. Hald and W. P. Wright recently resigned, leaving one vacancy.

Hearing on Motion For Crow Continued

A Jackson county circuit court hearing on a motion by Delbert Crow, of Missouri, who is serving a 25-year term in the state penitentiary for burglary, was continued until Friday.

Medford lawyer Stanley Jones Jr., who appeared in court this morning with Crow, was granted additional time by Circuit Judge Edward C. Kelly to cite authorities in support of Crow's motion.

Crow's motion is for arrest of judgment and for an order for dismissing charges against him. Former Circuit Judge Herbert K. Hanna sentenced Crow Aug. 3, 1935, to 25 years in the state penitentiary for burglary with explosives. The case involved the Mason Ehrman building in Medford.

Crow's brother, Glenn, last year appeared in circuit court here in similar proceedings and was re-sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

Crow alleges that he was denied the due process of law since information on which he was charged and tried was fundamentally defective. It falls to set forth ownership of the building and does not allege ownership of the building in any corporation, Crow charges.

Machines Destroyed By Law Agencies

Nine slot machines, two pinball machines, two slot machine casings and parts of four other slot machines were destroyed Tuesday morning by Medford city police and Jackson county sheriff's deputies.

Recovered from the slot machines was $97.95, according to police. It will go into the general county fund according to Oregon law.

The machines were destroyed by sledge hammer and then smashed by a crawler-tracked tractor before being burned, officers said.

Eight of the slot machines were confiscated by city police from the Eagles hall earlier this year, and another one was found by police. The owner of the latter was not determined. The pinball machines were from Foss Billiards and North Riverside Tavern.
