

Pappy says we're behind the times, but Potpourri had never heard about "broadcasting" telephones until the Footlighter play Tuesday night. By some electronic trick or the other, the voice coming from the instrument broadcasts into the room, and the person answering doesn't have to talk directly into the instrument, but from anywhere in the area.

Director Frank Buchter took us backstage after the play was over and showed us the various devices and speakers which the local telephone company installed just for the play.

We understand also that the time is not far away when a device like a television screen will be installed on telephones so that the pictures of persons exchanging the call will appear on the screen. This will be just dandy for sweethearts or family members separated by distance and longing for a glimpse of loved ones. But how about the housewife who has just lifted her head from the shampoo bowl as the phone rings, or who has her face slathered with cold cream or covered with a mud pack?

Opening night audiences for Footlighter plays are not as small as they once were. Tuesday night the little theater was more than half filled, which is quite different than the six or eight persons which made up an opening night audience several years ago. Tuesday night Dr. Eugene Ray's friends in the dental profession were out to give him their opening night support, and at intermission time sang his praises.

"Tunnel of Love" is not a great play, but it does provide an entertaining evening and revives the eternal question of what's happening to the American theater, and is it good.

Earlier this week Potpourri received an appeal through the mail. It was from the Goldwater for president committee, and the communication urged us to write or wire the Republican national committee, which is meeting in Washington this week.

Encouraged by the letter, and using the address which the committee gave for the meeting in Washington, we did send a wire. We urged the committee to throw its support to Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

A recent article in the Manchester Guardian started out describing how Groucho Marx played Ko-Ko on a television show (seems Groucho has always wanted to sing instead of "insulting the human race" and finally was allowed to do so) and ended up by giving Groucho's views on the coming presidential election.

The writer, Alistair Cooke, was asked by Groucho who was going to win the nomination and Cooke said "One way or another, I think they'll use the religious issue to kill him (Kennedy) off on the early ballots. He's very able, though, and a wonderful campaigner."

"In that case," Groucho added, "he'll never make it. You see, people are looking for a colorless candidate. They're not looking for an able man. They want a guy there's nothing wrong with. Of course, that doesn't mean there has to be anything right with him either. I'd like to think that Stevenson would get it again, but he's not changed, and I guess the voters haven't changed either."

Later in the interview Groucho touched on the subject again, Alistair's Guardian article reports. "You see, the trouble with Stevenson is the fact that he talks the English language. That's a terrible indictment against any man running for the presidency."—O.S.

Pocahontas Plans Party; Visit Made

Pocahontas lodge plans a public card party Friday, June 10, at 8:30 p.m. in the Redman hall on Apple street. The party will follow a business meeting of the lodge scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Eighteen councils of the California Pocahontas lodge were represented at a recent meeting of the Medford Pocahontas lodge, when Mrs. Edyth Bixler, the great Pocahontas of California, made her first official visit.

The visitor was assisted by several great chiefs of the lodge from California. They were Steven Boyce, great sachem, Vallejo; Mrs. Medlyn Armas, second great scout, Sacramento; Mrs. B. C. La Scholl, great guard of the forest, Scotia; Mrs. Edith Flynn, great first warrior, Brentwood; Mrs. Bea De La Fontaine, great warrior, Bencla, and Miss Marie Puts, past Pocahontas, Sacramento.

Medford's fraternal mother, Larry Heringer, past great sachem, Sacramento; Roland E. Wicker, great first warrior of Medford; Mrs. Ruby Rogers, Aveland and Mrs. Kathryn Keating, San Francisco.

Mrs. Charles Doores, deputy great Pocahontas, Westlake council, Medford, welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Bixler spoke of committee welfare work. She was presented an Indian doll and a mosaic tray by Mrs. James Wicker, Pocahontas, Medford lodge.

Initiation ceremonies were held. Initiated were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pour, Mrs. Kathryn Pitts, and Mrs. Ruby Hicks.

After the meeting refreshments were served from tables decorated with flowers and hand made miniature moccasins. Mrs. Floyd Lewis was in charge of the table decorations and kitchen committee and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Carrie Milnes, Mrs. Ralph White, Mrs. Noel Erskine and Arthur Aas.

Hang electric cords over thick round wooden pegs so the insulation will not be chafed or the wire kinked.

Auxiliary Hears Poppy Reports

Shady Cove—At the last meeting of the auxiliary to Steelhead Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was announced that memorial poppy sales this year were the second most successful in the history of the post and auxiliary.

The cancer fund drives in the Shady Cove, Elk-Trail and Prospect area were the second largest in the county, it was said.

A report of the District 7 meeting was given by Mrs. Kenneth Oliver.

A program of service to senior citizens is being conducted by the auxiliary. Visits are made from time to time to these older persons, and small gifts are presented.

After the meeting a social hour was held and refreshments were served to the auxiliary and post by Mrs. Joe Waltz and Mrs. Gene Weltman.

Assembly President Visits Gold Hill Rebekah Lodge

Gold Hill — Mrs. Loretta Emerson, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon, paid her official visit to Amethyst Rebekah lodge recently. She was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Wright, past treasurer of the Assembly and present member of the budget committee.

Prior to the special meeting of the lodge at that time, Mrs. Emerson was honored at a potluck dinner given by members of the Gold Hill lodge. The table was centered with three circles of blue glass to represent the lodge's three links. Centers of the links were filled with pansies which is the president's chosen flower. This arrangement was flanked with orange tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. Daniel Stewart, noble grand, presided at the meeting which followed the dinner. The wall behind her station was decorated with a rainbow in the president's colors and her motto "Faithfully Work Together." Arrangements of pansies were placed in front of each officer's station and baskets of other flowers were about the room. Additional decorations were at the noble grand's station.

During the opening ceremony, the president's chosen song "Sweet Hour of Prayer" was sung by Mrs. C. Norman Gail and Mrs. Paul Molloy.

The president, Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. Jerry Herrington, district deputy president of Amethyst Rebekah lodge, were introduced by Mrs. Walter McLean, chairman, Mrs. Clarence Parsley and Mrs. Joe Lewis.

The lodge presented a renewal of the obligation of the order, with the obligation administered by Mrs. Parsley, vice-grand.

Mrs. Emerson spoke of her plans for the coming year's program, stressing the importance of membership, education, publicity, and youth.

The president presented Mrs. Jerry Herrington her commission as district deputy president for the coming year, her seal of perfection for the unwritten work of the order given by Mrs. Herrington during the evening.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Emerson by Mrs. Paul Thompson on behalf of the Gold Hill lodge, while Mrs. Gail sang and whistled a song that was entitled "Somewhere Over the Rainbow." The gift was contained in a white satin booklet, bearing the president's symbols on the cover. The booklet was made by Mrs. Earl Moore especially for the occasion.

A brief talk was given by Mrs. Helen Wright.

Mrs. Stewart expressed her thanks to Mrs. Paul Thompson and Mrs. Howard Burnette, who were in charge of the decoration in which the official guest's theme was used. She also thanked Mrs. Walter McLean for the drill arrangements and for her part in assisting Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Burnette.

The entertainment portion of the evening was a program which included a classroom skit by members of the Amethyst Rebekah Friendship club, with Mrs. Paul Molloy and Mrs. Clarence Parsley playing leading roles. A stunt led by Mrs. Paul Thompson completed the entertainment.

Mrs. Wilbur Martin and Mrs. Clarence Parsley headed the dinner committee, for the special occasion.

Mrs. Emerson announced that her project for this year for the Odd Fellows home will be new curtains for the auditorium and new dishes for the dining room. She asked that the lodge send their money for this project by February 1, 1961.

A tribute to Mrs. George Dorman, outside guardian, was signed by members. Mrs. Dorman was unable to be present because of illness. She has been active in the Gold Hill lodge for more than thirty years.
