

'Rocky's' Chance for Nomination Discounted

Washington—(UPI)—At least seven Republican state leaders today discounted New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's chances of winning the GOP presidential nomination.

Turkey Military Junta Builds Case Against Mederes

Ankara, Turkey—(UPI)—Turkey's ruling military junta built up its case against former Premier Adnan Mederes today with charges that his regime had planned before it was ousted to kill 1,500 military students.

Gen. Cemal Gursel, provisional chief of state, made the charges in an address to his officers earlier this week but they were not made public until Wednesday night.

To Break Power
He said Mederes planned to wipe out the cadets in order to break the power of the army.

Gursel said it was not just a "rumor" but a concrete plan of which the military junta had evidence. He said former Turkish President Celal Bayar and the former governor of Ankara had discussed the proposed carnage.

"We threw out the most guilty people in history," Gursel said in reference to the May 28 coup which toppled Mederes.

To Face Trial
The former prime minister and his cabinet are under arrest. They will be tried for violating the constitution.

In Istanbul, an estimated 300,000 citizens, students and cadets carrying flags and placards proclaiming "we envy our martyrs" staged a demonstration of support for Gursel's rule.

Oregon To Get $301,750 for Fish, Wildlife

Portland—(UPI)—The Interior Department said today Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana would receive $1,150,789 of the $12,800,000 apportionment of federal aid funds for state fish and wildlife restoration projects.

The funds will become available July 1. They represent only a part of the total apportionment but the first payment will be made earlier this year than normally to enable states to carry on their federal aid fish and wildlife projects without interruption.

The shares include: Oregon, $301,750, including $50,440 for fish projects and $251,310 for wildlife.

Washington, $249,187 including $45,804 for fish and $203,383 for wildlife.

Idaho, $238,576, including $40,743 for fish and $197,833 to wildlife.

Montana, $361,255, including $58,004 for fish and $303,251 for wildlife.

NEGRO GETS DIPLOMA

Norfolk, Va.—(UPI)—Patricia Godbolt, one of 19 Negroes admitted to formerly white schools here last year, receives her diploma today to become the first member of her race to be graduated from an integrated public school in Virginia.

Only one of eight GOP state officials contacted thus far in a United Press International survey felt Rockefeller's surprise attack on Richard M. Nixon might hurt the vice president's election prospects if he is the Republican nominee.

The seven other Republicans said Rockefeller's criticism had not harmed Nixon. Many of the Republican state chairmen and committeemen are here for a meeting of the arrangements committee for next month's GOP convention in Chicago.

Wyoming Chairman John

Wold was the only state leader contacted who felt the attack put Rockefeller back in the race for the nomination and enhanced his chances of winning.

One Far West state chairman, who asked that his name not be used, said that Rockefeller's statement might hurt Nixon in a presidential campaign.

He said that any such attack by a high-ranking Republican was bound to give "aid and comfort and verbal fodder" to the Democrats.

Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield said the Rockefeller criticism would not "negate" Nixon's chances if he were the GOP nominee.

But the governor said the statement "certainly does not enhance Vice President Nixon's candidacy. As a minority party we're got to have the support of all our party leaders."

Ohio GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss said he could not foresee Rockefeller getting the Republican nomination unless there was some "major change" in the political picture.

Iowa Republican Chairman Verne Martin said Rockefeller might believe he is back in the race for the GOP nomination "but in this state chairman's eye he eliminated himself from the running several weeks ago and as far as I am concerned he is not back in."

Jean Tool, Colorado Republican chairman, felt the attack on Nixon put Rockefeller

back in the presidential race but said he did not think Rockefeller had a chance of winning the nomination.

Oklahoma GOP Chairman Henry Bellmon commented, "I don't think Rockefeller was ever out of the race." But he also said he didn't think Rockefeller could win the nomination.

Edwin Beaman, Indiana Republican chairman, said his state expressed its choice for the nomination by giving Nixon a heavy vote in the May 3 primary there.

Republican nomination unless there was some "major change" in the political picture.

Iowa Republican Chairman Verne Martin said Rockefeller might believe he is back in the race for the GOP nomination "but in this state chairman's eye he eliminated himself from the running several weeks ago and as far as I am concerned he is not back in."

Jean Tool, Colorado Republican chairman, felt the attack on Nixon put Rockefeller

back in the presidential race but said he did not think Rockefeller had a chance of winning the nomination.

Oklahoma GOP Chairman Henry Bellmon commented, "I don't think Rockefeller was ever out of the race." But he also said he didn't think Rockefeller could win the nomination.

Edwin Beaman, Indiana Republican chairman, said his state expressed its choice for the nomination by giving Nixon a heavy vote in the May 3 primary there.

Safety Council to Meet on Friday

"The Pressing Need for Water Safety Education" will be discussed at the meeting of the Medford Safety Council Friday, June 10, at the Rogue Valley Country Club, according to Ralph Matthews, council president.

The no-host luncheon will also feature a report by Sgt. Buford Johnson, of the Air Force, who represented the local council on a recent inspection trip to the recreation area at Howard Prairie.

Matthews noted that June is membership month for the safety group, and plans for this year's membership campaign will be presented by C. D. (Swede) Larson, of Pierce Freight Lines, campaign chairman.

New York ranks first in the production of talc and gypsum.

Candidates Notified On Expense Reports

Salem—(UPI)—Delinquency notices to political candidates who haven't filed reports of campaign contributions and expenditures were in the mail today from secretary of state Howell Appling Jr.

Appling said a statement must be filed with his office whether or not any money was collected or spent. Separate findings must be made for each office sought.

Stocks Keep 5-Day Rally Alive With Moderate Advance

Regional Edition Page 2

New York—(UPI)—Stocks kept their five-day rally alive today with a moderate advance.

Eastman Kodak, which ran up more than 5 points Wednesday, added another 2 today. Prospects of a boost in the military budget helped some of the defensive stocks.

Haveg added around 2, Curtiss-Wright firmed.

Steels were mixed. Youngstown moved up 4. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem eased.

Motors were strong again today with New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio up 1/2 or more.

U. S. Steel

Youngstown S & T

25 1/2

62 1/2

150

14

75 1/2

72 1/2

37 1/2

54 1/2

45 1/2

42

38 1/2

43

70 1/2

16 1/2

28 1/2

16 1/2

29 1/2

33 1/2

37 1/2

85 1/2

110

25 1/2

62 1/2

150

14

75 1/2

72 1/2

37 1/2

54 1/2

45 1/2

42

38 1/2

43

70 1/2

16 1/2

28 1/2

16 1/2

29 1/2

33 1/2

37 1/2

85 1/2

110

Air Force Bombers To Be Dispersed

Washington—(UPI)—The Air Force announced today that its B-47 jet bombers will operate periodically from commercial airports to disperse the U. S. bomber force more widely and make it a more difficult target for attack.

The Air Force described the operation, which will start in a few days, as "periodic dispersal training." It said the aim is to familiarize bomber crews with civilian airports and military bases other than those of the Strategic Air Command.

The Air Force refused to say whether the jet bombers would be carrying nuclear weapons when operating at commercial airports.

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

Argentina Wants Israel To Return Adolf Eichmann

Buenos Aires, Argentina—(UPI)—An Argentine demand that Israel return ex-Nazi Adolf Eichmann within one week placed the two nations on the verge of a complete break in diplomatic relations today.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.

The Argentine note was sharply critical of Israel's explanation of the incident, rejecting particularly its "gratuitous affirmation that 'numerous Nazis' live in Argentina voluntarily with a group of Jewish volunteers" who tracked him down without telling Israel's government.

Argentina said Israel in effect acknowledged responsibility for Eichmann's capture by apologizing for its actions but made no "offer of reparations which are the inevitable consequence of such a recognition of responsibility."

Once Eichmann was returned to Argentina, the note said, Israel would be free to seek his extradition in accordance with the regular procedures of international law.

Argentina already had recalled its ambassador in Israel and warned it would take the case to the United Nations if the Israelis rejected the ultimatum.

A sternly worded note handed to Israeli Ambassador Arie Levavi Wednesday night demanded not only that Eichmann be brought back here but that the "Jewish volunteers" who spirited him out of Argentina be punished.