

PRESENT BUILDING—The First Baptist church building used today on North Central ave., was built in 1923. An annex was added in later years. Fifteen regular pastors have served the congregation, the third oldest in Medford, still the church was organized in 1885.

First Baptist Church Holds 75th Anniversary Program

Ten people of Baptist persuasion were the nucleus for the formation of the First Baptist church of Medford in June, 1885.

It was only several months after Elder Russell, of First Baptist church of Ashland had begun holding monthly services in the Medford school house. The church covenant and declaration of faith then adopted are still a part of the church constitution.

In 1886 the property on which the church now stands was purchased from the Southern Pacific Railroad company for $125. By September, 1887, the church had been accepted into the Rogue River association and consisted of 49 members. In March, 1888, the first church building was dedicated and the congregation called the first pastor, the Rev. G. G. Thomas.

It was necessary to enlarge the church building in 1904, and by 1913 the Sunday school had reached 350, necessitating renting a cottage across the street and erecting a tent in back of the church building to accommodate the classes. Further growth made the erecting of a new edifice necessary in 1923, the building in which the present congregation now meets, with the addition of an annex portion. Records reveal that the church has had 15 regular pastors. The Rev. Wolford A. Dawes began his ministry in Medford in 1935 and remained in the pastorate until the fall of 1954, serving longer than any previous pastor. The Rev. James W. Neely served the church for five years, terminating his local ministry in April, 1960.

From the membership of First Baptist church, which consists of 600 persons, some 25 families have recently joined together to begin another work in the area. This group, with the sanction of First Baptist church, is now incorporated under the name, Trinity Baptist church. The new church plans to work in cooperation with other Conservative Baptist groups in the state.

The Rev. Ed Stauffer has been secured to serve as interim pastor at First Baptist church for the coming months and Ned Landers, a student from Western Conservative Baptist Seminary, will be working with the youth of the church during the summer.

The anniversary dinner and program commemorating the 75th anniversary of First Baptist church was held Wednesday evening, June 8, with 250 in attendance.

The Rev. Ed Stauffer, interim pastor, was master of ceremonies, and a history of the church was read by Mrs. Don Minear, which was interspersed with remarks by those who recalled incidents in the earlier days of the church. Music and a scene depicting a scene of the charter members added to the program.

Guests honored at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Dawes, Redmond, and the Rev. and Mrs. Neely, former pastors and their wives; Mrs. W. H. Eaton, whose husband pastored the church for 10 years; Mrs. Frank Loder, Salem; Mrs. Hollie Swingle, daughters of charter members, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bennett; and Mrs. George Gardner, daughter of charter members, Mrs. Cordelia Richardson. Greetings were received from Mrs. S. W. Leach, Seattle, wife of a former pastor.

Mrs. E. E. Wilson, church historian, had a display of publicity items and other historical data concerning the church. Dr. Dawes brought the evening message, and the invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Mr. Neely.

Two former Medford pastors will be guest speakers Sunday at First Church of God, Haven and Holly sts., in the absence of the Rev. W. E. Martin, pastor, who left June 9 for Anderson, Ind. Mr. Martin is attending the General International Ministerial Assembly which will be in session June 14 to 16.

The Rev. T. O. Satterfield will speak at the 11 a.m. service and at 7:30 p.m. the Rev. E. E. Hoover will deliver the sermon. Mr. Satterfield is a former pastor of First Church of God.

Children and parents are reminded that Vacation Bible school will start June 13 and extend through June 25.

Wednesday, June 15, the Rev. and Mrs. John Rather will speak on the work of the church in the field of world missions. Mr. and Mrs. Rather have done extensive missionary work in Jamaica, Trinidad, Barbados and the Republic of Panama. Their message will be illustrated with color slides taken on their travels.

Vacation Bible school for those who have completed grades one through six will begin Monday, June 13, at First Baptist church and continue through Friday, June 24. Sessions will be held each week day from 9 a.m. to noon.

The primary grades will be studying about "Bible Boats" and the junior boys and girls will have lessons centering around the theme, "The Christian's Walk and Talk." Mrs. Larry Adams is general superintendent of the school.

Any children in the community are welcome to attend the V.B.S. at First Baptist church.

Sessions for pre-schoolers were held during May, and there will be no provision for this age in the June school.

SOLO ANNOUNCED
Sams Valley - The Rev. John W. Roelfs, pastor of the Sams Valley Community church, will sing a vocal solo entitled "No One Ever Cared For Me Like Jesus" during the worship service, Sunday at 11 a.m. Mrs. Roelfs will play the piano. He will give the sermon message. A Bible quiz will be presented during the Sunday school hour at 10 a.m. by Mrs. Roelfs.

A surprise birthday party was given recently honoring the Rev. R. H. Mathewson, pastor of the Foursquare Gospel church, at his home, at 302 South Grape st., by the church congregation.

Those assisting Mrs. Mathewson with refreshments were Mrs. Dan Haas, Mrs. Rasmusen, Mrs. Jack Babb, and Miss Maurine Barlow.

Why Johnny Leaves Church in Teens Puzzles Officials

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Johnny attended Sunday school faithfully from the time he was old enough to toddle until he graduated from high school. His parents were pleased that he was getting such fine religious training.

The other day Johnny came home from his freshman year at college. He shocked his mother and father by refusing to go to church with them. He said he just wasn't interested in that stuff any more.

Johnny's story is not uncommon. Thousands of boys and girls leave the church during their late teens and early twenties. Many never come back.

Why does it happen? What causes the great exodus of church members in the 16 to 24 age bracket?

The Episcopalian, a magazine published by the Episcopal Church, sought answers from college chaplains, heads of secondary schools and others who are closely associated with young people.

One Comforting Explanation
They offered one comforting explanation, and several others that parents and pastors may find disturbing.

The comforting explanation is that Johnny inevitably goes through a period of adolescent rebellion in which he asserts his right to think for himself. His rejection of religion may therefore be a temporary gesture, intended to dramatize his independence of adult authority.

In this connection, it was pointed out that the positive affirmations of faith may seem to a robust young person, less important than the restraints imposed by religion. Young people are eager to sample all of life's experiences, and a moral code sets in their way. When they are older they will be able to see why the moral code is necessary; right now it is just a nuisance.

But there are other reasons why Johnny leaves the church—reasons which cannot be written off as the by-products of a developmental phase.

A majority of the chaplains and educators said young people are not getting a sufficiently mature view of the Christian faith, during their years in Sunday school, to tide them through the period of doubt and questioning that begins late in high school or early in college.

Never Read Bible
"In spite of Sunday school," said the Rev. Clarence Lambert, chaplain at Rutgers university, "most young people have never read the Bible, have no comprehension of basic doctrines on man, God, the church, salvation, sin and the sacraments." They have an "infantile concept of the Christian religion" and many of them put it away, along with other "childish things," without ever investigating it any further.

The real problem, said the Rev. David B. Collins, chaplain at Sewanee, does not lie with the Johnnies who care enough about religion to begin having doubts in adolescence. It lies with the great number of young people who, through indifference or complacency, never get around to asking the fundamental questions about human existence—the kind of questions to which the church has meaningful answers.

Farewell Event For Academy Principal
The members of the Seventh-day Adventist churches of Ashland, Medford, Valley View and Eagle Point will have a farewell social Saturday at 8 p.m. in the school park for Principal and Mrs. Fred Wilbur and family.

A purse will be presented as a parting gift. Mr. Wilbur has served as principal of Rogue River Junior Academy for the past five years. He is going to be the principal of the elementary school at Portland Union academy.

I Look Not Back—
God knows the fruitless efforts. The wasted hours, the sinning and regrets; I leave them all with Him that blots the record, And graciously forgives and then forgets.

I Look Not Forward—
God sees all the future. The road that short or long, will lead me home; And He will face with me its every trial, And bear for me the burden that may come.

I Look Not Inward—
That would make me wretched. For I have naught on which to stay my trust; Nothing I see but failures and shortcomings, And weak endeavors crumbling into dust.

But I Look Up—Up—
Into the face of JESUS! For there my heart can rest, my fears are stilled; And there is joy and love, an light for darkness, And perfect peace, and every hope fulfilled.
