Prime Minister Expected To Help Select Successor

Leftists Frustrated In Protest Plans

Tokyo—UPI—The U.S.-Japan security treaty went into effect today in a brief and secret ceremony which frustrated leftist plans for major demonstrations. But the controversial alliance toppled from power the man who had worked hardest for it.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi announced his intention to resign almost immediately after U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II and Japanese Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama completed the formalities which give the United States responsibility for defending Japan and provides U.S. bases here for the next 10 years.

Half-Hearted Protest It was too late for the fanatical leftists to do anything further about the treaty although they had threatened physical violence to prevent the ceremony. They had to be content with a half-hearted protest show by 5,000 students who stood mournfully or listlessly snake-danced in front of Kishi's residence.

Another 800 students stood for 15 minutes or so before the U.S. Embassy and then went home. They were the leftovers from the 5,000 who had milled around the Diet building and Kishi's residence which was heavily protected by police.

Date Not Known The 63-year-old prime minister did not say just when he would step out of office, thus making it clear he intended to play a decisive role in the choice of his successor.

Kishi's announcement touched off political infighting in his faction-ridden Liberal-Democratic Party.

Kishi had successfully controlled various party factions since he became premier Feb. 27, 1957, but the tremendous pressure that built up over the U.S.-Japan security treaty proved too much.

Under Heavy Fire Violent opposition from left-wingers and Communists and sniping by political enemies within his own party led to his decision to resign.

Kishi had been under particularly heavy fire even since he used his parliamentary majority to ram ratification of the treaty through the lower chamber of the Diet (Parliament) May 20. The opposition accused him of using "tyranny of the majority."

Planners Discuss Suggested Outline Of Planning Study

A suggested outline of planning study for Jackson county was discussed Wednesday at a meeting of the Jackson county advisory planning committee.

The study was the result of a meeting here last month attended by Herman Kohrly, with the bureau of municipal research and service at the University of Oregon.

The study would cover the smaller cities and unincorporated areas. Its purpose would be to provide information to serve as a basis for enacting regulations and for planning facilities that may be needed, as well as policies for their financing.

The progressive planning study evaluated land usage as well as density of population, sanitary facilities, domestic water systems, streets and arterial roads.

Other new officers are: Vice chairman, Myrtle Newton, Ashland; secretary, Hazel McMahan, Central Point; treasurer, Clarence (Pat) Redmond, Medford; first alternate, Jean Mills, Medford; second alternate, Donna Straus, Gold Hill; Congressional committeeman, Larry Sheehan, Rogue River, and Congressional committeewoman, Margaret McGinty, Medford.

It was announced last night that Arthur Lewis, who was active in a voter registration prior to the primary election, won a round-trip plane ticket to the Democratic National convention in Los Angeles starting July 11 for his work.

One-half of the study's cost could be obtained from the urban planning assistance program. It was estimated by the bureau of municipal research that the local study would take two or three years to complete.

The committees, their subcommittees and chairmen are: 1. Service committee, which will include subcommittees on publicity, travel coordination, translation, personnel assignment, library, a speaker and information bureau, display, history, gifts and finance and research. Omar Bacon was appointed chairman.

2. Organization committee, including subcommittees on schools, fraternal organization, senior citizens, city officials and the chamber of commerce. Committee head is Bill Barker.

3. Leisure and recreation committee, including subcommittees on arts and culture, hobby groups, and photography. Committee chairman is Dick Woodcock.

4. Commerce committee, including subcommittee on agriculture, industry, retail trade, communications and lumber. Bill Singlar was appointed head of this committee.

5. Profession committee, including doctors, lawyers, architects and others. Mrs. Jo Anne Smith was appointed committee head.

It was pointed out that the town affiliation committee will have charge of the overall committee organization. Robert Bacus is chairman of the town affiliation committee.

Japanese Treaty Sets Off Game Of Hide-and-Seek

Document Already Signed by President

Washington—UPI—Senate ratification of the U.S.-Japanese security pact Wednesday set off an elusive diplomatic game of hide-and-seek that went from Washington to Honolulu to Tokyo.

Immediately after the Senate okayed by a 90 to 2 vote the controversial treaty that stirred up leftist rioting and disorders in Japan, the State Department clamped on a heavy lid of secrecy and evasion on what happened next.

Reporters tried with minimal success to find out how the treaty was being sent from the Senate to the State Department to President Eisenhower in Hawaii and finally to Tokyo.

State Department officials told newsmen they couldn't understand why they were interested in "such a technical point." Department press officer Lincoln White said essentially officials were moving in "a very expeditious manner."

He did not divulge, however, that the ratification document already had been signed by President Eisenhower before he left on his Asian trip and had been sent to the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

Late in the afternoon the State Department said it might make an announcement on the method of delivery to Japan. An hour later, it cancelled this.

Two hours later when the exchange of documents was announced in Japan, the department came forth with the explanation of how it was done.

The election was held at the organizational meeting of the committee, which is composed of precinct committee men and women elected at the May 20 primary election.

Other new officers are: Vice chairman, Myrtle Newton, Ashland; secretary, Hazel McMahan, Central Point; treasurer, Clarence (Pat) Redmond, Medford; first alternate, Jean Mills, Medford; second alternate, Donna Straus, Gold Hill; Congressional committeeman, Larry Sheehan, Rogue River, and Congressional committeewoman, Margaret McGinty, Medford.

Joke About Bomb In Bag Results In Fine of $100

Portland—UPI—Donald D. Kitch, 48, Portland, today was fined $100 in Federal Court for making a jocular remark at the Portland International airport last month about a bomb.

Authorities said Kitch called attention of an airline passenger agent to a companion, Victor Milnes, of Medford, and commented jokingly: "Don't let him on the plane. He has a bomb in that bag."

A "substantial" number of young people have applied for jobs through the first summer work program offered in this area, according to Employment Service Manager John Patton.

Although exact figures are not available, Patton said that "several hundred" teen-agers have expressed their desire for summer-time employment. All in all, he added, there are plenty of potential workers in many fields of employment.

Regarding employers' reaction to the program, Patton reported there has been more response by householders than by commercial organizations. The slack in hiring seems to be general throughout the area, not just in the younger groups, he said.

Although business is fairly good, Patton pointed out, there is just "not too much hiring being done now."

Three major factors have added to the flood of applicants for employment, he suggested: high school students looking for work, college students wanting summer-time jobs, and teachers desiring extra work in the summer.

With school being out only three weeks, Patton said the lack in employment action is "perfectly normal."

The problem arises when everyone is out of work at one time and seeks activity, he went on to say. When school is out, literally hundreds of people are added to the labor pool.

The service, being sponsored by the Medford 20-30 club, has brought in applications from all parts of the county requesting jobs ranging from lawn-mowing and baby-sitting jobs, to full time work.

Overall, Patton said, the program has had a "good effect" on local employment practices. It has, he concludes, shown that the youngsters are available for work, which is a good boost to employment concerns.

The program opened the latter part of May and applications from teenagers were being accepted until June 20. Youth 14-18 years of age were encouraged to apply for any type of work, and employers may file for assistance any time this summer before Sept. 15.

Heading the administration of the program is Fred Stock, a member of the 20-30 club, and Patton. Employers may request assistance from the employment office, 119 North Oakdale ave., Medford.

Polish Approval Of Khrushchev's Policy Expected

Others Announce Support of Plan

Bucharest, Romania—UPI—Western observers today expected Polish Communist Party Chief Wladyslaw Gomulka to give a ringing endorsement to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's revision of Communist dogma.

Gomulka was due to join other Eastern European Communist party chiefs here today. He was delayed by a meeting of his own central committee at home. The others have been here all week attending the Romanian party congress.

Support Announced Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Bulgaria already have announced their support for Khrushchev's policy of "moderation" and his insistence that Marx and Lenin must be interpreted with the times.

Notable for its lack of endorsement is Communist China which is represented here by a subordinated party leader.

The Chinese Communists have, in the past, stuck closely to traditional Communist doctrines which deny Khrushchev's thesis that peaceful co-existence of capitalism and Communism is possible.

Khrushchev now is expected to remain in Bucharest through Sunday, probably addressing a mass party meeting that day.

Three Deputies Added in County

An additional $13,032 for three deputies in the county sheriff's department and $750 for uniforms and equipment were approved by the county budget committee this morning for the 1960-61 county budget.

Commissioner Ralph James reported at noon today that the county budget for $4,427,586.72 was officially approved today.

An additional $500 for study of a possible home rule type of county government was also approved by the committee.

James said that the additional money, requested by Sheriff Joe Walsh at the public hearing Tuesday evening, was taken from the county roads department equipment fund as was the $500. The equipment fund had previously been $96,000 and now stands at $61,718.

It was explained that the equipment fund for the roads department is flexible, calling for approximately 10 percent equipment replacement each year. Unspent department money this year has been used by the department to purchase part of the equipment asked for during the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The committee had requested an opinion of the district attorney if changes in the budget necessitated calling another public hearing.

In the opinion received this morning, District Attorney Thomas Reeder said that if the total budget did not change another public hearing is not necessary.

U. S. Proposes Solution in Eichmann Case

United Nations, N.Y.—UPI—The United States said today adoption of a relatively mild security council resolution together with Israel's apology to Argentina should be adequate to dispose of the case of Adolf Eichmann.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge explained the United States position at the start of the second day's debate on the former Nazi SS colonel who is accused of ordering the murder of six million Jews during World War II.

Argentina, however, has made it clear that it considers that the "adequate reparation" it demands should include Eichmann's return to Argentine territory and punishment of the Israeli agents who took him "illicitly and clandestinely" from Argentina, as well as a formal apology.

A compromise solution worked out by diplomats in Europe and here, which technically would meet the demand for Eichmann's return was reported near completion today. Under it, Israel would surrender Eichmann to the Argentine Embassy at Tel Aviv and then immediately extradite him for trial. The formal extradition would take only a matter of minutes.

Displeased by Statement Israel was reported displeased by Lodge's statement to the council Wednesday in which he appeared to throw full U.S. support to Argentina's resolution declaring that such acts as the violation of its territory by Eichmann's seizure might endanger international peace and requesting "adequate reparation" from Israel.

Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir asked at the close of Wednesday's meeting precisely what "adequate reparation" meant. Lodge told the council today Washington's understanding of the term.

Adequate Reparation "The United States," he said, "considers that adequate reparation will have been made in the expression of views in the security council, taken together with the statement of the distinguished foreign minister of Israel in making apology. We think that when we adopt the resolution, adequate reparation will have been made and the incident will have been closed. Normal relations between the two countries can then proceed."

The only previous American attempt to orbit two satellites in one shot was made 14 months ago with a Vanguard and ended in failure.

Wednesday's success was a measure of U.S. space progress, demonstrating the feasibility of single-shot launches of satellite clusters. The possibility of getting up more payloads with fewer boosters could save millions of dollars.

The communications satellite now under development by the Army Signal Corps for launching by the Air Force is called "Courier." It is one of a number of space communications projects coming under the general code name of "Notus."

City Police Raid Juvenile Party

Two Medford city police officers raided a juvenile party at a downtown Medford residence last night and took a 15-year-old boy into protective custody on a charge of being drunk in public.

Police had received reports that there have been several parties at the location, and the two officers investigated last night.

Police said the door of the residence was open and they could see one youth inside who appeared to be drunk. He was lying on a couch and police talked to him through the front door.

He told them the owners of the house were in the bedroom and gave the officers permission to enter the premises. On entering the house police saw a 16-year-old boy and 18-year-old girl coming out of the bedroom.

Two more youths, a boy age 20 and a girl age 17 were in a parked car on the street in front of the house, officers said.

All five of the youths were taken to the police station where they were interrogated and released, with the exception of the 15-year-old, who was lodged in the juvenile detention home.

Lester Delbert Schall, a soldier from Ft. Lewis, Wash., admitted to Medford police from his hospital bed that he burglarized the Courtesy Chevrolet company and stole a car about 1:30 this morning.

Central Point Police Chief Wallace Bowen spotted the stolen car driving through Central Point after an all points bulletin had been sent out by Medford police.

Bowen gave chase in his patrol car and followed Schall for some distance until Schall lost control of the car and went off a curve on scenic rd., between Highway 99 and Upton rd.

Schall jumped from the vehicle and ran through a field, police said, and Bowen notified Medford police before chasing Schall on foot.

Bowen, assisted by Medford police, located Schall in a field near Crater High school and took him into custody.

He was taken to Sacred Heart hospital where he is being treated for a serious back injury. The stolen car was a total wreck, according to Central Point police.

Schall is charged with burglary not in a dwelling.
