California Governor Leaning Toward Kennedy as Nominee

Sacramento (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown conceded today he is leaning toward Sen. John F. Kennedy as the Democratic Party's presidential nominee.

Commenting on press reports that he is inclined toward the Massachusetts senator, Brown told a news conference that "I would not want to broaden that statement."

"But I have great admiration for the way in which Kennedy went into all those primary election states and discussed the issues frankly," Brown said.

'Admires' Stevenson
The governor, who heads up the state's powerful 81-vote delegation to the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles in July, said he also has "great admiration" for Adlai Stevenson.

"But while the question of electability is not the prime question it certainly is a factor to be considered," Brown said.

"I've tried to find a movement for Stevenson," the governor added. "I find strong grass roots support for him but amongst the delegations to the convention, I don't find this support."

"You have to have that to win at the convention."

The California delegation is pledged to Brown as a "favorite son" candidate but the governor is expected to release the delegates after the first ballot to vote for whom they please.

Kennedy May Have Votes
He said both Stevenson and Kennedy had "strong support" in his delegation but he said he could not predict who was ahead. He said they were "far out in front" of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson or Sen. Stuart Symington for support among California Democrats.

"While I like all four of the candidates, I do believe Kennedy is closely approaching the 760 votes needed to win the nomination," Brown said.

"I really believe that if Kennedy is nominated, he could be elected president," Brown said he intended to express his views on the party's choice for the nomination when the California delegation holds a caucus at the Knickerbocker hotel in Los Angeles, Sunday, July 10, the day before the convention starts.

Talks Resume in Lockheed Strike
Los Angeles (UPI)—Negotiations resumed today in an intensified effort to settle the machinist strike against Lockheed Missiles and Space Division, but the stalemate appeared no closer to settlement than when union members walked out nine days ago.

A team of three federal mediators had nothing to report when the talks recessed in San Francisco late yesterday.

"As long as you're in session you are making progress," a company spokesman said. "As soon as you break off negotiations, you stop making progress."

Firemen Urge More Rigid State Explosives Act

Seaside (UPI)—A more rigid state explosives act was urged Wednesday in a resolution adopted at a convention of three firemen's groups here.

Firemen also urged changes in the state conflagration act to speed up mechanics of the law. The present act requires the governor to declare military law before he can legally request help of other fire departments. The proposed amendment would allow the governor to call in any fire fighting equipment required without formally declaring martial law.

Firemen said the state law was bypassed in last August's Roseburg disaster in which neighboring fire departments responded to direct appeals for help.

Don Starmer, Roseburg fire chief, said present explosive laws and ordinances do not cover the cause of explosions such as the Roseburg disaster. He said laws regulate only "explosives" and that the nitro-carbo-nitrate involved in the Roseburg explosion was "blasting material."

Starmer also urged that fire chiefs in Oregon see their city ordinances cover such blasting materials as well as explosives.

Bend was picked as the 1961 convention with Coos Bay getting it in 1962.

Coast Shipyard Differential Loses

Washington (UPI)—The House Merchant Marine Committee refused Wednesday to approve a bill killing the six per cent construction differential for Pacific Coast shipyards.

The committee voted at a closed session to have the General Accounting Office investigate whether the differential is still valid.

This action wipes out for this session any action on a bill by Rep. William M. Colmer (D-Miss.), to withdraw the differential.

The differential was granted in 1936 because of the lack of West Coast steel facilities and the higher freight rates charged West Coast yards.

Cuban Newspapers Rap Herter's Plan

Havana (UPI)—The pro-government press has revived the cry of "Economic Aggression" in comments on Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's suggestion that the United States should "reduce the dependence of its consumers on Cuban sugar."

The semi-official newspaper La Calle, Prensa Libre, Combate and Avance denounced the Herter statement in closely similar stories Wednesday.

"A new step in economic aggression..." said La Calle. "No one doubts that this is a reprisal against the revolution which has made Cuba independent for the first time in history."

A federal grand jury indicted Dale Wyman, 36, and William K. Osborne, 38, Wednesday after treasury agents testified they found $5,360 worth of bogus money in their quarters aboard the Argo.
