Nebraska and Colorado Struck by Tornadoes; Two Persons Killed, Damage Said Extensive

North Dakota Area Battered By Hail, Winds

By United Press International
Tornadoes skipped across parts of Nebraska and Colorado Monday night, killing two persons and inflicting extensive damage.

Alan B. Crowe, 54, Topeka, Kan., and Marvin W. Cox, 52, a Holyoke, Colo., farmer, were killed when a twister swooped down on a rural area northeast of Holyoke and trapped them in their cars.

Power Knocked Out

Forty minutes before the Holyoke tornado hit, another twister struck rural Sedgwick, Colo. The funnel cloud knocked out power and communications for almost five hours but caused no injuries.

Still another tornado cut a 10-mile swath across southwestern Nebraska, near Sidney. The twister struck eight farms but injured no one.

Tornado-like winds damaged farm buildings near Venturia, N.D., 75 miles southeast of Bismarck. Hail and high winds accompanied a thunderstorm at Linton, N.D.

An elderly man drowned in a near cloudburst at Viroqua, Wis. The victim, Olaf Bagstad, about 58, died when a flash flood swept down a dry creek bed at his house-trailer.

Flood Threat Persists

The threat of floods persisted in the Gulf coast area of Texas, hit by the hardest rains in weather bureau history in the past four days.

About 200 weary volunteers stood by today to battle the flood-swollen Colorado river in case weakened dikes give way. The flood crest passed Bay City, Tex., Monday night without incident and Matagorda, 25 miles downstream, expected the crest about noon today.

Three local residents were flown to Medford by Mercy Flights, Inc., yesterday from three points in Oregon and Washington, according to the air-ambulance service.

Powerful Lever

Its enactment would give the President a powerful economic lever in dealing with Castro who has been denouncing the United States while making friendly overtures to the Soviet Union.

4-H Club News

The June meeting of the Sewing Bees 4-H club was held at the home of Karen and Sharon Higdahl.

Rockefeller Reports

Their meeting prefaced a business session on federal-state relations which brought from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller a charge that the Eisenhower administration is seeking "unrealistic shelter" with a "bargain basement" defense program.

Discuss Mutual Problems

The four favorite son governors, Edmund G. Brown of California, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa, and George Docking of Kansas, said they just discussed their "mutual problems" at today's huddle.

Decade of Danger

Rockefeller said the sober defense facts "mark the 1960s as a decade of danger." He said the nation is in a "paradox of peril" in that while militarily stronger than ever in its history it is, in a relative and realistic sense, "more exposed to fatal danger than ever in our history."

They all said, "We're still favorite sons."

sent have a total of 169 votes at the Democratic convention. Brown's statement appeared to reserve his right to swing to front-runner Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) on the first ballot with California's 81 votes if Kennedy was heading over the top.

Rockefeller Asks Defense Spending Hike

Rockefeller called again for a $3.5 billion boost in military and civilian defense spending. He gave his views in a "background" paper on his report as chairman of the special committee on civil defense.

Governor Meyner, who also denied a published report that Kennedy, the Democratic presidential front-runner, had offered him a future cabinet level post, said of the meeting: "Because you're not on the steamroller, does that mean you're anti?"

Bill To Outlaw Payola Receives House Approval

Washington—(UPI)—The House overwhelmingly approved today a broad bill to outlaw payola, rigged television quiz shows and other broadcasting industry abuses.

Licensing Plan Killed

Before stamping final approval on the bill the House killed by a standing vote of 149-35 an attempt by Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) to expand the bill and provide for federal licensing of the radio and TV networks.

Present Law Expanded

The payola provision is an expansion of present law which requires a station to disclose whether material it airs is paid for. The bill would make this apply to station employees, as well as the licensees themselves.
