Dodgers Paste Yankees 4-3 To Square Exhibition Series

New York –(UPI)– It was just like the old Dodger glory days in Brooklyn—that quick trip into nostalgia.

Particularly so for "dem bums" Duke Snider and Gil Hodges.

The Dodgers, playing in New York for the first time in 2½ years, called on Hodges to perform one of his feats of old, and he did. He whacked a booming triple to centerfield in the seventh inning that gave Los Angeles a 4-3 exhibition victory over the New York Yankeess in the house that Babe Ruth built.

The last time the Dodgers played in Yankee Stadium, Oct 8, 1956, Yankee Don Larsen pitched the first and only perfect game in World Series history to give New York a 2-0 win.

Old-Timers Hit

It was different, though, last night, Snider and Hodges got two hits apiece to lead the Dodgers to the victory which squared their exhibition series with Casey Stengel's American leaguers.

The largest crowd of the year, 53,492 enthusiastic fans, welcomed the Dodgers back for the game that was played to help injured Dodger catcher Roy Campanella and a lot of underprivileged kids.

More than a few of the fans were the old faithful from Ebbets field, gone now that the Dodgers play in Los Angeles. The Campanella game in Los Angeles last year drew a record crowd of 93,103.

Tnight, however, it's back to reality for manager Walt Alston's defending champions who find themselves mired in sixth place in the senior league, 10½ games off the fanned four. He didn't get the pace set by Pittsburgh.

Against the Philadelphia Phillies, Alston named Stan Williams (6-1) to open the series. Opposing the lanky Dodger hurler will be young Dallas Green (0-1).

Craig Works Five

Roger Craig, laid up with a broken collar bone since May 2, worked the first five innings against the Yankees. He allowed the Bronx Bombers three runs on five hits and win-Sandy Kafoux did-but Roger appeared ready to jump back into a starting role with Los Angeles.

However, everything wasn't perfect last night–the Dodgers proved they still hadn't worn off completely the "daffy" tag hung on them by Brooklyn fans, who when angered threatened to do what it finally took a housing project to do, tear down Ebbets field.

Hodges, trying to stretch his triple into a home run, was thrown out at the plate.

Things in the Pacific Coast league remained status quo today after league-leading Spokane dropped a 15-7 verdict to San Diego and the Indians' two nearest rivals, Tacoma and Sacramento, also lost Monday night.

Vancouver downed Tacoma, 7-2, behind the pitching of Chet Nichols, who became the league's first 10 game winner, and Portland downed the sliding Sacramento Solons, 3-1. Only three games were scheduled.

Spokane couldn't hold the Padres, who were sprung from the league cellar only Saturday night, as they banged 18 hits off four Indian pitchers, including Mel Nelson, the loser, and Ray Semproch, recently acquired from Detroit.

Portland's Glenn McMinn, who usually works as a reliefer, started and set Sacramento down on eight hits. McMinn's victory squared his record at 2-2, while the loss went to Tony Diaz, who is now 6-6.

The Beavers wrapped the game up early, scoring twice in the first and once in the third. Sacramento got to McMinn for its lone run in the seventh on a double by Mike Kranich and a single by Bob Roselli.

Nats Knock Orioles Out of First Place

By GARY KALE
United Press International

No one was more surprised than Jack Kralick when Manager Cookie Lavagetto of the Washington Senators named him to pitch against the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

And no one was more surprised than the Orioles when the 25-year-old southpaw knocked them out of first place in the American league by pitching his way to a 5-2, 10-inning victory in his first major league start.

Kralick had relieved in 15 previous games this season and turned in six freshman appearances last year for the Senators before getting the starting nod from Lavagetto.

A wild 10th inning, resulting in three unearned runs for Washington without a ball being hit out of the infield, dropped the Orioles into second place in the American league standings, three percentage points behind the idle New York Yankees.

Gets Horrid Support

Hoyt Wilhelm, who usually figures in any wild spree, was the victim of horrid support in a frame in which Umpire Joe Parella tossed out Baltimore Manager Paul Richards for arguing on a tipped foul by Bob Allison.

Allison, with the count 3 and 2, attempted to punch one of Wilhelm's pitches and it trickled foul. Richards claimed it should have been ruled a bunted foul third strike.

It was the beginning of the end as Allison then walked, advanced to second on Lenny Green's bunt single and stole third. Both scored as Marv Breeding's throw to the plate on Julio Becquer's grounder sailed over Clint Courtney's head. Another bunt by Billy Gardner and Hal Naragon's double play grounder scored the third run.

Score Without Hitting

Baltimore was in arrears twice during the game, but managed to tie the count on each occasion. A triple by Reno Bertoia and an Allison double accounted for the first Washington run. The Nats scored their second without the benefit of a hit.

The Orioles tied it the first time on two singles and Gene Woodling's sacrifice fly and evened it again when Jackie Brandt tripled home a run in the eighth.

Kralick won his third straight without a loss while Wilhelm suffered his fifth loss in 10 decisions.

There was no other counting action in either league.

Linescores:
(10 innings)

Wash.	001 000 010	3	5 9 1
Balt.	000 010 010	0	2 9 1

Fullmer Favorite In Basilio Scrap

Salt Lake City–(UPI)– Muscular Gene Fullmer, the only man to ever stop Carmen Basilio, remained a slight favorite today to beat the one-time world welterweight and middleweight champ in their title bout Wednesday night.

Fullmer, holder of the NBA version of the middleweight crown, defends his title against the ex-onion farmer from Canastota, N.Y., in a nationally televised 15-rounder from Salt Lake City's Derks field.

Fullmer won the NBA version of the title last August by stopping Basilio in 14 rounds as San Francisco. That fight, a pier six brawl which found both fighters banged up at the end, was adjudged "fight of the year" by Ring Magazine.

The sponsoring Intermountain Boxing club anticipates another slugfest between the two veterans. Promoters expect a crowd of more than 10,000 and a gate exceeding $100,000 for Salt Lake City's first championship fight.

The fight, which starts at 10 p.m. (e.d.t.) will open a 51-round card which includes a total of seven bouts. An added attraction pits former Olympic hevyweight champ Pete Rademacher against Cedar City, Utah, heavyweight Lamar Clark. Their bout will close the program.

Close Seeks Berth in Olympics

Portland – (UPI) – A 12-man contingent from the state of Oregon will take part in next week end's United States Olympic track and field qualifying meet at Stanford.

Four each will go from the University of Oregon and the Emerald Empire Athletic association of Eugene, three will represent Oregon State and one will be competing for the Staters Track and Field club of Corvallis.

Oregon athletes attending the meet will be Dyrol Burleson and George Larson in the 1500-meter run, Jerry Close in the broad jump and Jerry Stubblefield in the [illegible]us.

Grelle Entered

For the Emerald Empire team, Jim Grelle will run in the 1,500 meters, Bill Dellinger will compete in the 5,000-meter run, Otis Davis is scheduled in the 400-meter dash and Jerry Tarr will be entered in the 110-meter high hurdles.

Beaver athletes who have qualified for the meet are Darrell Horn, broad jump and hop-step-and-jump; Amos Marsh, 100 meters, and Gary Stenlund, javelin.

Bob Lawson, former University of Southern California star who is now an assistant coach at Oregon State, qualified for the meet as a Staters club member.

Dave Edstrom of Oregon will pass up a chance at making the Olympic team in the 110-meter high hurdles to concentrate on the upcoming National Decathlon meet in Eugene.

Lopsided Wins Scored in SOJ Baseball Loop

Medford Yankees and Central Point Rams scored lopside victories yesterday in the Southern Oregon Junior Baseball Intermediate League.

The Yanks polished off the Ashland Cardinals 24 to 0 and the Rams whipped the Medford Giants 16 to 4. Both games, slated for seven innings, were stopped short of that limited because of the one-sided scores.

Dan Miles hit a bases loaded homer, a single and a triple for the Yankees while Rusty Miller slugged two triples and Ron Edmunds three singles. Mark Kinney threw two-hit ball for the Medford team. He walked two and whiffed six batters.

The Rams, with just six hits, got the aid of walks, errors and wild pitches in their win. Doug Sharp took over on the hill for the Central Pointers with one out in the first inning and all the Giant runs in. He heaved one-hit ball for 3 2/3 frames and struck out eight batters. Gary Malmberg got three hits for the Rams.

The Ashland Dodgers evened their league standings up at 1-1 last night with an overpowering 27-4 win over Central Point Stars. The Stars used five pitchers in a futile attempt to stem Ashland's 17-hit attack.

Cheney Studs took over sole possession of the Jackson County Softball association lead with a 6-5 win over the Mail Tribune in one of three games played on the high school diamond last night.

A four-run second inning uprising by the Studs was highlighted by Jack Brown's four-bagger with two men on. Cheney also scored lone runs in the third and sixth innings. The Mail Tribune outhit the victors with nine hits to their eight.

S and W Floor Covering gave up five unearned runs and committed nine errors in losing their second game of the season to Lithia Lumber by a 5-3 score.

Lithia scored all of their runs in the fifth and sixth innings and needed only two singles, one in each inning, to do it. Six throwing errors by S and W in those two innings accounted for the loss.

In the third contest played last night a strong Timber Products team picked up their second win of the season by overpowering Civil Service 11-2.

Products second baseman Sam Ottinger paced the hitting attack with a grand-slam homerun to account for four of eight runs scored by his team in the fifth inning. Products outhit the service team 10-2.

The game went only five innings as under softball association rules the game is over when one team leads by seven runs or more at the end of five innings.

The second-place Butte Fall nine meets the Timber Products team in a Wednesday night tussle which starts at 9 o'clock. Two other games will be played the same night when The National Guard opens their league season against the Cheney Studs in a game starting at 7 o'clock. S and W will meet the Civil Service nine in another 7 o'clock contest.

On Thursday night the National Guard team will play two games. They meet S and W at 7 p.m. and Timber Products at 9 p.m. The Mail Tribune will play Lithia Lumber in a game which also gets underway at 7.

All games originally scheduled for the Fourth of July have been cancelled and will be rescheduled.

Ex-Giant Star Gets Release

Boston –(UPI)– Bobby Thomson, who won a place in baseball history with his sensational pennant-winning homer for the New York Giants in 1951, appeared near the end of his career today.

Thomson, who will be 37 in October, was given his unconditional release Monday by the Boston Red Sox to make room for pitcher Ted Wills.

Will, 26, was brought up from Minneapolis of the American association as the Red Sox sought to bolster pitching staff.

Lind Florists Beat Maids 5-1; Teams To Tussle Tonight

Memorial Stadium, White City – Portland's Erv Lind Florists kept their unscarred record in the Northwest Women's Major Softball league intact last night by trimming the Rogue Valley Dairy Maids here 5 to 1.

It was the first tangle in a two game series. The two clubs meet again tonight at 8 p.m. Louise Mazzuca is the probable pitcher for the visiting Lind contingent and Ellen Callaghan likely will do the tossing for Rogue Valley.

The Florists collected two runs, which proved enough to win, in the first inning last night, then added single-run insurance in three separate frames.

Dot Dobie, who tripled home one tally, and Monttie Wallis, who singled three times and drove in one marker, headed the Lind offensive. Florist Jackie Rice pitched six-hit ball, including four safeties in the sixth panel when the Dary Maids put over their only run.

Jean Main Hits

Jean Main cracked two safe swats for the Maids with one of them bringing a runner home. Chucker Pat Barron had a five-hit evening.

Elsa Werronen, who walked, crossed home on Dobie's three-baser in the first inning and Dobie romped across the plate when Carolyn Fitzwater grounded out.

A base on balls to Charlene Dauenhauer, a hit by Fran McConnel, an error, and a single by Wallis gained a second inning counter for the Portlanders. A safety by Wallis, a sacrifice by Rice and two Maid miscues allowed a fourth stanza score. In the seventh session Werronen walked, moved to second on Roma Menold's fielder's choice, advanced to third base on Dobie's bunt sacrifice and tagged home platter after the catch of Fitzwater's foul out.

Hickson Scores

Doris Hickson led off the sixth inning for Rogue Valley with a nifty bunt single. She went all the way to third on Callaghan's hit and scored on the safe blow by Main. Callaghan tried to make it home but was thrown out at the plate by centerfielder McConnel. Shirley Hanson followed with a single but Janet Pfaff flied out and Barron struck out to end the inning.

The Maids had runners as far as third in the first inning on two errors and a Hickson tap and in the second inning on a misplay and a Barron hit. Lind got a player to third in the third stanza on a walk, fielder's choice and an error.

Rice had six strikeouts over the route and gave just two bases on balls. Barron fanned five and walked the same number.

Darlene Hard Only U.S. Star Left At Wimbledon

Wimbledon, England –(UPI)– Third-seeded Christine Truman of Britain reached the women's singles semifinals in the Wimbledon Tennis championships today by defeating Karen Hantze, 17, San Diego, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Truman, heroine of Britain's recent victory in the Wightman Cup matches, will meet the winner of the Esther Bueno - Angela Mortimer match in the semifinals.

Defeat of Miss Hantze left Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif., as the only remaining American in either the men's and women's singles play. Miss Hard met Sandra Reynolds of South Africa in another quarter-finals match.

Buchholz Withdraws

Earlier today, Earl (Butch) Buchholz, St. Louis, withdrew from men's doubles because of an ankle injury which Monday forced him out of the men's singles quarter-finals.

Another American was eliminated when Jiri Javorsky and Vera Puzejova of Czechoslovakia defeated Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Sally Moore, Bakersfield, Calif., 5-7, 10-8, 6-3 in mixed doubles.

Buchholz suffered a pulled thigh muscle in his left leg and twisted his right ankle Monday, forcing him to default his quarter-final singles match to Neale Fraser of Australia.

The 19-year-old St. Louis youngster was leading two sets to one and the score was tied 15-15 in the fourth set, in which he had blown five match points, when he was finally carried off the court in great pain.

MacKay, co-favored with Fraser for the men's crown was eliminated by Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, 16-14, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. The hulking Ohioan once again was haunted by double-faults, committing 15, and fell four times chasing Pietrangeli's clever placements.

Klamath is the leader in the circuit and Grants Pass is in the cellar.

Medford and Central Point aggregations play a league mix at Cheney field Wednesday night. If the game is anything like the previous one, fans can expect a long, long evening. The two clubs battled for 13 innings on June 17 before CP's Cheney Studs came out on top.

The Studs likely will have Bill Anhorn on the pitching hill with the choice from among Herb Wheeler, Bob Quinney and Bud Lowery for the Medford mound assignment.

Cheney park will be the scene also for Friday night Legion action with Central Point opposing Grants Pass. Medford will vie at Klamath Falls the same evening.
