

Male Clothing Features New Climate Control

For the millions of male travelers, (and for the millions more women who shop for them) the men's wear industry has evolved a travel formula that guarantees comfort and good looks for the guys and an easy shopping job for the gals.

Through a combination of special fibers, new fabric blends, special tailoring and new styling, a travel wardrobe of clothing that is scientifically geared to both the temperatures and the physical conditions of travel in any part of the world has been developed.

The "climatically controlled" wardrobe features the miracle touch of dacron as insurance against wrinkles from packing and frequent wear. These suits are available in a wide variety of styles, colors and patterns.

These fabulous new fashion companions look like regulation suitings—dark, elegant, discreetly patterned. They are fully tailored to retain their style and fit. And they have a strong travel constitution resulting from the special mohair and dacron blend of the suiting and the scientifically developed tailoring aids and trimmings.

Leisure hour clothes are an important part of the picture. In this wardrobe they, too, feature special blends for comfort and stamina.

Fine featherweight dacron and worsted makes sport jackets and slacks that pack and travel without wrinkles and provide comfort for everything except extremely hot occasions.

A new cooking kit for campers and boating enthusiasts contains five basic utensils for preparing complete meals. There is a 3-quart covered sauce pan, a 1½-quart covered sauce pan, a 10-inch skillet, a stainless steel trivet. The unit's deep-dome lid doubles as a five-quart mixing bowl. All the utensils nest compactly within each other, occupying less than one cubic foot of space.
