Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. L.P. — He should ignore his skin problem.

Bob P. — I get sick to the stomach when I look at myself.

Mrs. L.P. — My husband and I are terribly upset about our oldest boy, Bob. He is 16 and recently developed a terrible case of acne. He is under the doctor's care and we are hopeful that he will soon be cured, but we are worried about his state of mind.

Since this thing developed his schoolwork has dropped and he is avoiding all his friends. We learned that he has played hooky several times because he is ashamed to show himself.

We have tried to convince him that he doesn't look as bad as he thinks, but he ignores us. Many other boys and girls have the same problem but they don't react this way. He has always been on the shy side and this has made him worse. How can we persuade him to ignore it?

Bob P. — Ignore it! That's a laugh. Every time I look at myself in the mirror I get sick to the stomach. I make every one else sick too. I was passing some little kids the other day and they started yelling, "Pimples!"

I'm sick of hearing my parents nag me. What do they want of me anyway? I can't hang around with the gang because they all date and no girls are going to date me the way I look.

At least if I stick to myself until I get better, maybe I won't disgust people. This way everyone will always remember me the way I was.

The Council: Most doctors today feel that one of the contributing factors to the skin problems of adolescence is emotional turmoil. Teenagers undergo a great deal of stress and strain and this affects glandular activity.

Unfortunately, the skin problem in itself tends to produce more emotional difficulty and a vicious cycle is started.

The very worst thing is concentration on the problem. It's good that Bob is being treated by a doctor, but he should be told that there is no quick, magical cure. He must recognize that his skin will not be clear in a day, a week, a month and probably not a year.

In the meantime, he should accept the fact that he has a slight physical handicap—fortunately one that will eventually disappear. But he must do what every boy or girl with a physical handicap should try to do—forget it and develop whatever skills and abilities he has. It takes courage and fight.

Parental nagging won't help. The one topic of conversation to be avoided in this family is skin. The topics to be brought out are the things that interest Bob. These may be anything from camping and fishing to music and the arts. Whatever makes Bob's eyes light up with interest is a life line. Encourage him to join a group which works along the line of his interests. Get him to read and investigate things for himself.

Shy youngsters rarely respond to the injunction to "make friends," but they often make friends naturally when they get caught up in something that interests them. (Copyright 1960, General Features Corp.)

The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic

The Woman Who Keeps Having Miscarriages

Any woman who has had a series of miscarriages ought to be well studied by her obstetrician to see if any one cause can be found for the trouble, and if anything can be done to relieve it. Sometimes, with the new drugs which have recently been made, a tendency to a miscarriage can be stopped.

After 50 years of listening to the stories of men and women who have abdominal discomforts, when all tests fail to show any sign of serious disease, every so often I have to say, perhaps to a highly sensitive, tired, troubled and over-worked little widow who is trying to support two children, "I am afraid you will have to do some detective work at home. You'll have to keep a record of what unusual thing happens just before the stomachache comes."

As a pretty little widow said yesterday, "It could be due sometimes to my anxiety, as when there is little money in the house and a child falls ill; or it could be due to my losing my temper; it could be due to my eating some chocolate candy; or it could be due to a cold; or to some constipation that I get occasionally; or it could be due to working until 1 a.m., to get the washing and mending done."

Hypnosis in Obstetrics
Women write wanting to know if they can have a baby painlessly with the help of hypnosis. I doubt it. What I have read and been told is that hypnosis can help a young woman to face the ordeal with less concern and fear; also it can lessen by a half the amount of anesthesia she might otherwise need.

Disease Found in Oregon Honeybees
Salem—Heavy incidence of American foul brood disease in some Oregon honeybee areas has been found in inspections so far this year by the State Agriculture Department.

As of the end of June, nearly 40 per cent of the bee colonies in Hood River county showed traces of the disease, the department said. Partial investigations in Yamhill county showed a 13 per cent infection including 75 per cent in the Sheridan district; 8 per cent in Polk county; 8.5 per cent in Marion county; and 5 per cent infection each in Jackson and Klamath counties.

Coos Forest Patrol Closure Ordered
Coos Bay—Most of the Coos Forest Patrol area in western Douglas, Coos and Curry counties, except directly on the coast, will be closed to entry except by permit at midnight tonight.

The closure was directed by the governor at the request of Ivan Young of the Coos Forest Patrol, who said the fire situation was extremely dangerous.
