

Former Home In Victoria Re-Visited

A number of Medford residents recently motored to Vancouver, B.C., to visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dixon and family. Making the trip were Mrs. Syrena Gay and daughter, Mrs. Violet Rudy, 322 Bessie street; Robert Rudy, 826 King street; and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gay, 800 Mary place. Mrs. Dixon is Mrs. Syrena Gay's sister.

The group spent several days in the Vancouver area before continuing by ferry to Victoria to visit an aunt of Mr. Gay's, Mrs. Stanley Martin, Mr. Martin and family. They visited with cousins of Mr. Gay's whom he had never met. His family had lived in Victoria from 1907 to 1913, having come from England when he was only six years old.

Mr. Gay saw again his former home and the school which he and his sister attended.

The travelers toured Buchart gardens. They traveled to Port Angeles via the Juan de Fuca strait on the SS Coho ferry. They visited briefly in Roseburg with Mr. Gay's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Pearson, en route home.

Hargis-Roohr Wedding Held At Sacred Heart Church

Miss Joanne Florence Roohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roohr, route 3, box 51, became the bride of Daniel Ray Hargis, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Hargis, 91 Nursery street, Ashland, June 25 at Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The Rev. William McLeod read the double-ring nuptial mass at 10 o'clock in the morning before about 100 guests. Pastel colored gladioli and white Shasta daisies decorated the altar. Miss Mary Robinson was at the organ.

The bride, whose father escorted her to the altar, wore a dress with fitted bodice and sleeves of Chantilly lace. The gathered net skirt was styled with insets of Chantilly lace over satin and net. Her modified cascade bouquet was of pink baby rosebuds, stephanotis and white carnations.

Mrs. Wayne Kuntz, Park Falls, Wis., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Douglas Fellows, Portland, and Miss Lana Hargis, Ashland, sister of the bridegroom, were brides-matrons and maid. All wore gowns of silk organza over lace of identical style. Mrs. Kuntz was aqua and the others were orchid. They carried tailored arrangements of carnations, the matron of honor's being orchid and the others pink.

The flower girls, Rebecca Barnes and Laurie Earnest, wore dresses of pink nylon organza designed as those of the other attendants. David Hakes, a nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

David Roohr, brother of the bride, served as best man. Douglas Fellows, Portland, and Wayne Kuntz, Park Falls, Wis., cousin of the bride, seated guests.

The bride's parents gave a dinner and reception at their home following the wedding. Bells of Ireland, roses and other cut flowers decorated the rooms. Miss Connie Black was at the punch bowl, Mrs. Alvin Boswell poured coffee and Mrs. Harry Fitzpatrick cut the cake, which she had also baked and decorated. Mrs. Rollin Jones assisted.

Miss Karen Emmerick was at the guest book and Mrs. Frank Mayer was in charge of gifts.

For the event the bride's mother chose an ice blue frock with white accessories and a pink rosebud and white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore an ice blue sheath dress with white accessories and pink rosebud and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Theodore Frane, Curtis, Wis., the bride's godmother, wore a navy blue polka-dot dress with a pink carnation corsage. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Roohr, Owen, Wis., chose a blue and gray dress with white carnation corsage.

Others attending from out of town were Mrs. Frane's daughters, Patricia and Carol Jean, Curtis, Wis.; Wayne Kuntz and son, Dean, Park Falls, Wis.; Mrs. Douglas Fellows, Portland; Mrs. David Fortmiller and daughter, Lisa, Mrs. James Madison and daughter, Jennifer, and Mrs. Jessie Madison, all of Ashland.

The bride attended St. Mary's school and Medford High school. The bridegroom attended Klamath Union High school and is a student at Portland Electronics college. He is employed by Kederly and Morton Inc. They will make their home at 2267 N. W. Gilsan street, Portland.

Families Vacation In Victoria

Hornbrook-Canada, particularly the province of British Columbia, is proving the favorite vacation land for a number of area people this year.

They left on June 27, spent two days in Portland with Mrs. Watt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rubisch, then in Seattle they visited Mr. Watt's sister, Miss Sally Watt, who conducts a training school for stewardesses for the United Air Lines.

In Seattle they boarded the Canadian-Pacific steamer Princess Marguerite for the four-hour boat trip to Victoria, B.C. where they spent two days. Visiting, among the many other points of interest, the Buchart gardens.

They also took the sight-seeing drive through Victoria aboard the horse-drawn trolley car, called "The Tallyho."

A ferry boat took them from Victoria to Port Angeles, Wash., from where they drove to Kennewick, Wash. In Kennewick they visited Mrs. Watt's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Shelton. Leaving Kennewick, they drove to Bend, Ore., for a visit with Mr. Watt's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Watt. They visited there, too, with Mr. William Rann, an uncle of Mrs. Watt's whom she had not seen since 1940.

Victoria, B.C. was the destination also of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jeter. En route north, they stopped at Corvallis, Ore. for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. David Holland, former Hornbrook residents.

They returned via Mt. Rainier National park and the Columbia river highway, arriving home on Wednesday after an absence of one week.
