Salem - (UPI) - Pamphlets identified as Communist Party literature have been stuffed in Oregon Statesman newspaper boxes in West Salem, city police said today. One woman found the literature in her mail box.

Police Chief Clyde Warren said his department was investigating and the FBI had been notified.

Sunday a motor carrier for the Statesman found more than 40 copies of the pamphlets in boxes along Wallace rd. The material, some printed and some mimeographed, said it was distributed by the "Communist Party of Oregon" and the Communist Party, U.S.A.

One sheet was titled the "Position of the Communist Party of Oregon in the 1960 Elections." It bore a Portland post office box address, No. 8105.

A four-page printed affair was titled "The Summit Failure... What Now?" This one had the imprint of the Communist Party, U.S.A. in New York City.

State Prisoners Fail in Escape

Salem - (UPI) - Two state prison inmates tried to escape Sunday night by scaling the walls with ropes but failed, warden Clarence T. Gladden said today.

It was the first such escape attempt from within the prison walls since Gladden became warden in 1953.

Gladden identified the convicts as Harry Leftoy Van Horn, 27, serving 15 years for armed robbery in Lane county, and John Raymond Youngblood, 24, serving six years for robbery in Multnomah county.

Youngblood began his term here April 29, 1958 and Van Horn April 23 of this year.

Gladden said the two took a half-inch thick rope used to draw curtains in the prison auditorium, rigged a hook on the end and from a courtyard tried to hook it over the wall.

They tried several times but the hook wouldn't catch. A warning shot was fired and with a spotlight on them, six guards closed in. The incident occurred about 8:30 p.m.

The men were returned to custody and will be charged with attempted escape, which carries a possible three-year penalty.
