

Airport Passenger Traffic Declines

Airplane passenger traffic at Medford's municipal airport declined by approximately 19 per cent during the past fiscal year, Airport Manager Gil Gutjahr said today.

Total number of passengers at the airport during the 1959-60 year was 65,036. This is compared to the previous year's total of 76,186. Last year's average is also below the six-year passenger average of 71,735.

Gutjahr said there are a number of factors which possibly contributed to the past year's decline in passengers. These include weather, local economic conditions, and changes in flights and schedules.

Although the passenger traffic was down, Gutjahr noted that total commercial airplane flights at the airport were up. Flights by commercial airliners at the airport last year totaled 10,240, compared to the previous year's 9,532.

Total Number of aircraft of all kinds to use the airport last year was 55,814 up both from the previous year's total of 54,873 and the six-year average of 54,733.

Both air freight and express at the airport decreased last year while mail volume increased. Gutjahr pointed out.

Freight totaled 230,914

CHEAP, USED SIREN
Phenix City, Ala. APD - County officials agreed Tuesday to buy a "cheap, used" siren for Sheriff Lamar Murphy's car after the officer complained he had to "bang on the sides of the cars" to attract the attention of traffic violators.

pounds last year, compared to the previous year's 371,067 pounds; express was 43,715 pounds, compared to the previous year's 48,661 pounds; and mail totaled 244,369 pounds compared to the previous year's 235,905 pounds.

Gutjahr noted that both freight and express volume is sensitive to changes in rates and also reflects local economic conditions.

Taking all factors into consideration, such as local population and business activity, Gutjahr is of the opinion that the airport is presently enjoying maximum use.
