Klamath Crash Takes Two Lives

Klamath Falls — UPB — A car crashed over an embankment on the U. S. Highway 97 bypass here Monday afternoon and carried a Salem woman and Richland, Wash., girl to their deaths in Lake Ewauna.

Klamath Falls police have identified the victims as Mrs. Ethel Richardson, 65, Salem, and Karen Crowley, 13.

Officers said the car went out of control at the intersection of the highway and Main st, here and crashed over an embankment into the lake. Both victims were believed to have drowned.

Volunteers dived to the car, which was submerged in about 15 feet of water, and were able to pull the girl out. But the woman was still in the vehicle when it was lifted from the lake.

A Treatment for Nodular and Painful Breasts

Many an unhappy woman writes to say she is terribly worried and upset because one of her breasts is often painful and sore, and every so often a lump forms in it. Then, the doctor cuts it out. But as the last woman whose letter came in today said, "I have now had four such lumps cut out, and I am fed-up with operations. My husband is getting fed-up with the expense, and my constant complaining. What can I do?"

As I said a while ago, in these cases in which one or both breasts is full of cysts the best operation I have seen is one in which the surgeon cuts along the crease at the lower margin of the affected breast; lifts the breast up, and cuts out all the breast tissue, leaving the skin and fat and nipple. With this, the pain is gone, together with all the former worry about cancer.

Some People Who Love Gibberish

One of the most remarkable phenomena to be met with, even in some university circles, is "worship of the unintelligible." Many a man, even with a degree from a graduate school, feels that if he cannot understand what a famous man says, this only proves how far above him in wisdom the unintelligible professor is. As I have shown before in this column, some psychoanalysts are particularly likely to worship at the feet of a man who is so stupid that no one can do more than guess what he was trying to say.

I thought of this the other day as I tried to read the special Memorial Lecture given in this country by an internationally famous man who was brought at great expense from Europe to give us the latest ideas on psychoanalysis. Here is just one sentence I picked at random from his lecture. Readers who know the "patter" of the analysts will be able to guess what the poor fellow was stumbling around trying to say; other readers will be just bewildered; and few may say, "Because I cannot understand this fellow he must be one of the greatest philosophers of our time."

Distortion Shown

This is what I read: "This transference phenomena show us the distortion of our perceptual processes relating to persons in the present by drawing without awareness upon experiences of the past. Transference, like resistance and repression, affects the refraction of our mental organ of apperception."

"It is the emotional appreciation that a transference has occurred that a reproduction of a consciously lost emotional relationship to persons of the past has intruded, which it is so essential for the future analytic therapist to experience for himself."

Doubtless the men who spent a few thousand dollars to bring over to America this expounder of wisdom felt richly rewarded.

An electronic computer weighing only 40 pounds permits one-man control of a nuclear-powered submarine and may allow reduction of the crew from 100 men to 2.

Sect Remains in Bomb Shelters

Benson, Ariz. — UPB — All was quiet today around the bomb shelters where some 120 members of a small religious sect are hiding in fear of a nuclear holocaust.

It was the eighth day the men, women and children of the Full Gospel Assembly have passed in the underground shelters they built themselves.

Indications were they might stay underground for as long as 32 more days.

"The Lord told us there would be an attack," according to Glenn Scott, one of the cult's leaders. "Like Noah, we can stay in 40 days. The Lord will tell us when to come out."

Hubby's Pleas Have No Effect on Wife

Los Angeles — A 41-year-old house painter drove around his neighborhood with a sign on his car reading:

"My wife is the meanest woman on earth and won't let me see my son. Mom wants the divorce and I don't."

One the complaint of his wife, 38, who was suing for divorce, a superior court judge ordered the husband to quit it. He told the court he still loved his wife and wanted a reconciliation. She said, "No."
