SOC Alumni Group Views Old Pictures

Ashland—Picture collections of early-day Ashland, including shots of the old Ashland academy, the Ashland college and Normal school, and the Southern Oregon Normal school, all fore-runners of the present Southern Oregon college were examined at the Medford residence of Mrs. Anna Beeson Carter, historian for the Old Timers branch of the SOC Alumni association.

Pictures selected by the committee will be identified, enlarged, glassed-in, suitably framed, and given to the college during the reunion at SOC in the summer of 1961.

During last summer's reunion, 34 pictures of the "Old Normal days (prior to 1910), the college was discontinued until 1926 by act of legislature) were presented to the college and hung in the Carpenter room of the Britt student center.

Three Held for Assault, Robbery
Among the pictures is one of Miss Amalia Britt, daughter of Peter Britt, early-day Jacksonville pioneer, photographer, painter, and business entrepreneur. Miss Britt, for whom the student center is named, left much of her entire estate to Southern Oregon college when she died in 1954.

Another picture of historical note was that of the Rev. J. H. Skidmore. Mr. Skidmore, acting partly as an independent promoter, took over an unfinished building, completed the carpenter work and began, in 1872, the first college in Ashland, serving as its president until it collapsed

Scout Jamboree Set This Weekend

A Boy Scout jamboree for the Crater Lake council will be held beginning Friday afternoon at Lake of the Woods, according to Earl Yoakley, vice chairman of activities.

Scouts from all troops in the council, which includes southern Oregon and northern California, will participate in the week end event. The jamboree will feature competition among the boys in all phases of outdoor living and general Scout life and activities.

Chairman of the jamboree is Rene Bounds. Various troops will be transported to the lake individually.

Three Held for Assault, Robbery

St. Helens—Three Portland men were charged with assault and robbery here Wednesday after being picked up while allegedly attempting a getaway from a service station robbery Tuesday night.

The three were Donald Allen Martin, 18; Ronald Patrick Clancy, 22; and James Donald Hayes, 23.

Three men were spotted by a passing motorist as they dragged service station owner William Kister into a restroom at 8:15 p.m. The motorist trailed the trio to a second service station where state police made the arrest.
