

Group Discusses Federal Help in Special Education

Portland - (UPI) - Several proposals were brought up at a two-day house subcommittee hearing here which seeks ways to obtain federal help in special education and rehabilitation.

Charles E. Schmitt, vocational director of St. Marks hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah, urged that the federal government "take a close look at existing programs" in education before it expands into other fields.

Schmitt criticized a "lack of communication and coordination" among agencies dealing with handicapped people, such as welfare departments and health agencies.

About 30 persons, most of them professionals and physicians, testified at the Portland hearing in the interior building.

The subcommittee staff will condense and classify more than 1700 pages of testimony heard at the seven regional sessions across the country.

Legislation is expected to be formulated on the basis of the testimony.

Dutiful Burglar Finishes the Job

Memphis, Tenn. - Clark Stevens notified police a burglar had broken into his house and finished half a bottle of brandy. Two nights later Stevens complained again - the burglar had come back and polished off the rest of the bottle.

Smith's Promises Clash, Says Straub

Portland - (UPI) - Oregon Democratic State Chairman Robert Straub said Saturday that Elmo Smith, Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, has made campaign promises which clash with his own record and that of the GOP administration.

Straub, citing an example for his case, said the Republican administration has "thrown every roadblock in the way of Oregon coastal harbor and port development," but, Straub added, Smith now claims GOP support for these projects.

Smith, publisher of the Albany Democrat-Herald, opposes Democratic candidate Mrs. Maurice Neuberger for one of Oregon's two senatorial positions in the November election.

Contract Awarded For Hilton Hotel

Portland - (UPI) - Portland's proposed Hilton hotel has a construction firm.

Andersen - Westfall Construction Co. of Portland was awarded low bid over six other major contractors including one from Texas and two from California, here Friday.

Low bid for the 22-story hotel was $6 million. The construction job will employ over 150 men for a 20-month period.

Second Television Cable System May Be Available Here

A second television cable system may be made available to Medford and vicinity television viewers.

The Rogue Valley TV Cable corporation asked the Medford city council Thursday for a television franchise to install a cable in Medford.

The council deferred action on the request to its next meeting, pending further study on the matter.

Edward Branchfield, Medford lawyer and a director in the new corporation, and Wayne Ailward, Walla Walla, Wash., also an official in the company, were at the meeting to discuss the proposed operation with the council.

House-to-House TV Connections To Be Made Soon

House-to-house connections to the Oregon Broadcasting company television cable system are expected to be available in Medford within a few weeks, according to Everett Faber, vice president of the firm.

The principle micro-wave installation, on top of Nugget butte near Gold Hill, has been completed, including the transmitting and receiving "dishes" and other equipment. Engineers are making the necessary tests at the present time.

Faber said the stringing of distribution wire through Medford is progressing satisfactorily.

The initial portion of the project will serve an area from Columbus ave. on the west to the Rogue Valley Country club on the east. Connections will be possible through a six block wide area between the two terminal points.

Faber said the Oregon Broadcasting company would be able to start making connections to individual homes "within the next few weeks."

FARM SAFETY WEEK

JULY 24-30

FARMING Can KILL!

Be Alert . . . Alive Tomorrow!

This week the Milk Producers' League of Jackson County joins with the utilities, feed dealers, insurance firms, implement dealers and oil distributors in urging you to make a DOUBLE CHECK on the hazards that may exist around or in your farm.

- Here are some suggested points of safety:
- Are your electrical appliances and wiring adequate?
 - Are you covered with a reliable and adequate insurance policy?
 - Are your feed lots and storage bins safe from harmful bacteria or contamination?
 - Are your oil and gas containers safe from fire hazards, closed or covered and out of reach of the younger "farmers"?
 - Are your plows (especially discs) and other implements safely kept where playing children or excited livestock won't be seriously injured on them?
 - Are your sewage and garbage disposals sufficient to prevent stagnation that may be harmful to people or livestock?

We feel that a "Yes" to all these questions will mean that you can easily have an accident-free farm for years to come—especially if you maintain a constant vigilance against other minor hazards not mentioned here that could impair your family's safety and health—
