Wagner Says Jack Will 'Win Big' in NY

Hyannis Port, Mass. — (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York discussed a plan of action today for the Democratic ticket to carry the Empire State — which Kennedy called the "key to success of our campaign."

The Democratic presidential candidate told newsmen that Wagner had given him advice on "what steps we must take between now and November to carry New York State."

He indicated the heaviest emphasis would be on a drive to register "a good many hundreds of thousands of people" not now on election rolls in New York City and elsewhere in the state.

Brothers on Duty — Wagner told reporters that he assured Kennedy that he and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, his vice presidential running mate, will "win big" in New York State.

Kennedy said his brother and campaign manager, Robert, 34, would "see all the party leaders" in New York Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

At the same time, Kennedy sent another brother, Edward (Ted) Kennedy, 28, to California today for a meeting in Sacramento Tuesday with Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Asked if he had given brother Ted a message for Brown, Kennedy said he had asked his emissary to emphasize "that New York and California, based on their size and geography, are anchors to our success in the campaign."

New York has 45 electoral votes and California has 32. A total of 269 are needed to win the presidency.

Registration Drive — Kennedy said he also had asked his brother to stress in his talk with Brown "the importance of the registration drive that began today" with the setting up of special offices in Washington.

Wagner's arrival this morning touched off a two-week round of conferences on topics ranging from political warfare in New York to unrest in the new nations of Africa.

Stocks Suffer Sharp Setback

New York — (UPI) — The stock market suffered one of its sharpest setbacks of the year today with prices falling sharply in all but a few groups.

The loss, the 11th in a row, erased nearly $3.4 billion from market valuations.

Industrials hovered just above their 599 level on average in the closing minutes. Some brokers said failure of the list to hold at this level could precipitate a new and sustained downside.

DOW-JONES — New York — (UPI) — Dow Jones final stock averages: 30 industrials 601.88, off 8.19; 20 railroads 134.02, off 1.82; 13 utilities 91.85, off 1.26, and 65 stocks 200.16, off 2.73. Sales today were about 2,840,000 shares compared with 2,850,000 shares Friday.

Owens Says He May Quit Race; Lack of Funds

Portland (UPI) — Army Private Mary Owens, Democratic candidate for Congress in Oregon's first district, said Sunday night lack of funds may force her either to withdraw from the race or conduct a limited campaign.

Owens, 24, won the Democratic nod over 45-year-old Steve Anderson in Oregon's May 20th primary without hardly stepping out of the Army barracks at Fort Ord, Calif. Owens opposes incumbent Republican Congressman Walter Norblad of Stayton.

Owens said his decision will await the outcome of next week's state Democratic convention at Bend.

Says He Can Win — The youthful candidate said that national funds have not been coming for his campaign. He added that expenses of traveling back and forth between Fort Ord and Oregon, in addition to phone bills have been paid out of his own pocket.

Owens said that if he stays in the race he believes he can beat Norblad as "all the ingredients are there to beat him."

He flew out of Portland Sunday night at 6 p.m. en route to San Francisco and a return to the service. Owens is scheduled to be discharged Aug. 21.

California Fire Crews Fight One Major Unchecked Blaze

Los Angeles — (UPI) — One major blaze remained unchecked today in the wake of a series of huge fires which blackened 135,000 acres, destroyed 40 homes and took the lives of two firemen in Southern California.

Largest fire left burning was a 10,000-acre blaze in Los Padres National Forest north of here near the Los Angeles-Ventura County line.

It was whipped up Sunday by high winds that shot embers one to two miles through the dry brush and trees in the extremely rugged area. No homes were immediately threatened.

Nearly 1,000 of the 4,000 firemen who battled week-long blazes in Angeles National Forest in suburban Los Angeles were diverted to fight the new fire.

Damage caused by the Angeles National Forest fires was estimated from $20 to $60 million. The Forest Service said its cost to battle the fires totaled more than $2.5 million.

At one time there were as many as five major blazes in the forest, the first one starting eight days ago from a carelessly discarded match.

Campers, Homeowners Flee — Thousands of campers and homeowners were routed by the flames, two firemen were killed and 40 others injured, five seriously.

The fires blackened nearly 80,000 acres of lush undergrowth and trees, causing officials to begin worrying about the danger of floods when the rainy season starts in the fall.

The 48,000-acre blaze near San Simeon, about 200 miles to the north, also was under control. Famed Hearst Castle has been reopened to tourists.

Portland — (UPI) — The Hercules Powder Co., Portland, against which some employees have been on strike since Wednesday, was the scene of a dispute over rights of way, city franchises and picket lines Sunday morning.

Central Point — Construction on schools in District 6C is progressing a week ahead of schedule, according to the architect and contractors for the work.

School Construction Progresses In CP — Building includes eight classrooms at the H. P. Jewett Elementary school. The library at the Central Point Junior High school is being converted into a cafeteria with a new school library being built beside it.

Gold Hill's construction will include four classrooms and a multi-purpose room similar in design to the one built at the Jewett Elementary school.

A small inexpensive 33 by 24 foot administration building on Second st. will be built with the current budget funds and will not bond money. Also to be built at Crater High school is a 24 by 48 foot enclosed shed for the FFA boys to use for storage.

Painting of new buildings is being done by school janitors. A three year system of painting is in effect, with one third of the buildings being painted each year and all buildings receiving paint every three years.

Crash Takes Life Of Aumsville Man

Stayton — (UPI) — Jerry D. Stanley, 21, Aumsville, Ore., died in a hospital here Sunday from injuries suffered in a traffic accident Saturday night near Mehama junction on state highway 22.

State police said Stanley drove a car which collided with another driven by Jan Palmer, 17, Paulina, Ore. A passenger in Stanley's car, Wayne Ferrill, also of Aumsville, was injured.

SICK SCOUTS — New York — (UPI) — About 100 of the 5,000 city Boy Scouts camped on Randall's Island in the East River have been stricken with a similar malady because they did not heed the Scout's handbook. Doctors said they were suffering from overdoses of candy bars, ice cream and pop, despite the handbook's physical fitness chapter which says good Scouts "go easy on candy and sweets."

Old Actors Not Like Old Soldiers; They Fade Away

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

Hollywood — (UPI) — Unlike old soldiers, old matinee idols do fade away. They drop gradually from sight.

One recent example is George Brent.

Veteran of more than 100 pictures, Brent's patent leather hair, smooth manners and easy screen familiarity with the boudoir classed him as one of the movies' great lovers.

He never reached the heights of, say, Charles Boyer, but he did start feminine hearts pounding the moment his suave voice caressed the leading lady.

Then with the onslaught of the mumbing, spollied little boy heroes — Jimmy Dean, Marlon Brando, Paul Newman — Brent, along with Robert Taylor, Tyrone Power and other slick, sophisticated leading men, became obsolete.

They belong to an extinct group — the poised, self-assured manly types who had no "psychological" problems nor penetrating opinions on Zen Buddhism.

Unfortunately, many an ex-screen lover boy has nothing to fall back on. And there isn't much call for handsome, unemployed actors.

Brent is an exception. Some 20 years ago — at the height of his popularity —

George established a breeding ranch for thoroughbred race horses. Now it is paying off, both financially and as a lifetime career.

Back in Hollywood for the first time in a year, the still-handsome Brent will star tonight in NBC-TV's "Chevy Mystery Show."

"I rarely come up here," Brent said, "and I didn't even have an agent when this job came along. I'm content to stay down at Rancho Santa Fe near San Diego on the ranch keeping an eye on my stock."

"I have about 18 brood mares down there that have turned out some mighty useful horses."

"I've never produced a top-flight stakes winner, but our ranch has come up with a lot of thoroughbreds who have earned $30-50,000 in two years of racing. And that's pretty good."

Asked if he would like to do more acting, Brent shrugged.

"The last picture I did was in England, five or six years ago," he said. "It was so bad I don't even remember the name of it."

"About three years ago I co-starred in the 'Wire Service' TV series. I might like to tackle another series, but I'd prefer a half-hour family comedy show to those hour-long dramatic programs."

Laurelhurst Bridge To Be Torn Down

McLeod — The Laurelhurst covered bridge, spanning the Rogue river at the bottom of Peyton grade is to be torn down in the near future.

Residents of the area hate to see it go. It is one of seven covered bridges left in Jackson county.

A new bridge is being built as part of the work being done to straighten the highway between Prospect and Trail.

State's Delegates Fluid, Says Gunnar

Chicago (UPI) — Oregon State GOP Chairman Peter M. Gunnar said today the state's 18-vote national convention delegation would remain "fluid" in consideration of vice presidential candidates.

"We're waiting for other developments," Gunnar said. Oregon and other states have indicated a desire to wait until Vice President Richard M. Nixon, prospective nominee for president, voices a preference for a running mate.

Heat Converted To Electricity

Washington — (Science Service) — Electricity for future space vehicles may be produced directly from the heat of the sun or ordinary fuels by a new electronic tube.

The tube, known as a thermionic energy converter, has been made at the Radio Corporation of America laboratories in Princeton, N. J., under a contract supported by the Advanced Research Projects agency of the Department of Defense here.

The device has been used in the laboratory to produce a watt of electricity. Future devices are expected to be capable of use as power generators in submarines, aircraft, missiles, space vehicles and perhaps the home and car.

According to Dr. Hernqvist, such units could be fabricated in various forms and arrangements to produce whatever level of power might be required.
