Mileage Death Rate Improves In Oregon

Salem (UPI) – A. P. Bunderson of Boise, Idaho, district director of the National Safety council, said here Thursday that Oregon's 1960 mileage death rate has shown considerable improvement over 1959.

He told state officials and members of the Oregon Highway Lifesavers group that Oregon's death rate for the first five months of this year was 4.6, compared with 6.1 in 1959 and the national average of 4.8.

Death rates are based on 100 million miles traveled.

Bunderson said Oregon's traffic safety program is coming along well but it should be amplified and improved.

Among other things he suggested legislation requiring drivers to give immediate notice to police when they are involved in an accident.

Pettegrew To Retire From Postal Service

Charles F. Pettegrew, who has been a member of the Medford post office staff for 28 years, will retire July 31.

For more than a decade, Pettegrew has had the downtown parcel post route, delivering packages to most of the Medford stores. For two years during World War II, Pettegrew took leave of the post office to operate a dairy farm as part of the war effort. Prior to the war he carried a foot route.

Mr. and Mrs. Pettegrew live at 1488 Spring st., and Pettegrew intends to devote considerable time to their place.

A certificate of recognition of long and faithful service was presented to Pettegrew from Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and S. G. Schwartz, regional operations director. Schwartz added a personal letter of commendation and appreciation.

Supervisors and fellow workmen at the Medford post office voiced praise for Pettegrew.
