Actor Ward Bond Blasts Appearance of 'The Clan' At Democratic Convention

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

Hollywood – (UPI) – The Republican National Convention was considerably less festooned with movie stars than the Democratic conclave, and outspoken Ward Bond thinks it's better that way.

The star of television's "Wagon Train" series blasted Peter Lawford, Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis, Sammy Davis Jr. and other members of tinsel town's "clan" for their appearances at the Democratic Convention here two weeks ago.

"I think they will lose votes for Senator Kennedy," said long-time Republican Bond.

"Those people have never said or done anything politically. And as far as I know they've never worked in a political campaign. Yet, when the TV cameras panned the convention, there they were big as life."

Dissatisfied With 'Clan'

Bond snorted his dissatisfaction wth the "clan."

"They all got into the act because their buddy, Peter Lawford, is Kennedy's brother-in-law.

"So what? Does that mean Sinatra is going to be secretary of state or that Sammy Davis will be secretary of the interior.

"In the long run I think they'll hurt Kennedy's chances."

Does this mean Bond objects to movie and TV performers expressing their political beliefs?

"Absolutely not," he said. "I think it is the duty of entertainers to speak up on politics – more so than anyone else. We should stand up and be counted as to how we stand in regard to this country of ours.

"But that is something different from showing up at a convention where we aren't doing anything constructive.

Can Cause Trouble

"I know speaking your mind can cause trouble. It hurt me in this town about 12 years ago when the trend was pretty far to the left."

How does Bond stand when it comes to politics?

"I'm not too happy with either candidate," he said. "Today's politicians are more anxious to win votes and to get into office than to take courageous stands for what they believe.

"Whether you agreed with them or not, you had to respect Franklin Roosevelt, Robert Taft and men like Teddy Roosevelt. They spoke their minds even when they knew what they were saying was unpopular.

"Harry Truman was another man who let the chips fall where they might. His mistakes were of commission rather than omission.

"But the men in office today would rather win an election by saying what they think people want to hear."

"And party platforms don't mean a thing. They never have.

"A man running for the presidency should have his own platform, not one put together by a bunch of other politicians. Maybe that way we'd get to know a lot more about what our leaders think, and what they really believe in."

Bond, who has started filming next fall's segments of "Wagon Train" for NBC-TV, sounded like a politician himself.

"Personally, I believe in a constitutional republic," he concluded with a flourish. "It's about time our candidates began thinking more about the country than they do of public office.

"No man can please all of the voters, and that's just what the current candidates seem to be trying to do."

Medford Family Guests in Helena

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Pickens and daughter Dianne, 24 Hamilton st., Medford, were "Jaycee Guests of the Week" in Helena, Mont., recently.

On a two-week vacation, the family had visited Yellowstone National park and was en route on a camping trip to Glacier National park. They are scheduled to return to Medford Sunday.

While hunting for a motel, the family was met by a Jaycee member who escorted them during a round of activities throughout the next day in Helena.

Included in the itinerary were a trip to the Gates of the Mountains, a ride on the Last Chancer tour train, an interview over a local radio station, and a five - minute long distance telephone call to Pickens' sister, Mrs. Verneta Atterbury, 1002 West 11th st., Medford.
