The Plans Three 'Non-Political' Talks Sept. 26

Washington — (UPI) — The White House said today that President Eisenhower will make three "non-political" speeches, in Philadelphia and New York City on Monday, Sept. 26.

The principal address of the three will be delivered Monday night to the golden jubilee dinner of the National Conference of Catholic Charities in New York.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty characterized this a "formal prepared talk."

He said the President's two earlier appearances, the same day in Philadelphia, will be informal and without prepared text. He carefully described them as "non-political."

To Address Convention
The President's first appearance in Philadelphia will be at the Academy of Music, before 3,000 delegates to the national convention of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

From there, the President will go to the Bellevue-Stratton hotel for a talk to the trustees and of the Eisenhower ext. fellowships, a non-governmental group fostering international student exchanges.

Francis Cardinal Spellman also is to address the New York dinner.

The President's only other announced speaking engagement between now and election day is Oct. 17, when he will address an automobile manufacturers banquet at Detroit.

Eisenhower plans to do much of his campaigning this fall in non-partisan settings.

Powers' Father Flying To Moscow With Promise From Nixon To Bend All Efforts To See That Justice Is Done

POWERS COMPLAINS—Oliver Powers, father of U2 pilot Francis Powers who will be tried Aug. 17 for espionage in Moscow, talks with Vice-President Richard M. Nixon in Washington. Powers complained to Nixon that the U.S. government had not done enough to help his son. The elder Powers was to fly to Moscow today to attend his son's trial. (UPI Telephoto)

Washington — (UPI) — The parents of captured U2 spy pilot Francis G. Powers planned to fly to Moscow today. They had a promise from Vice President Nixon to do all he could to obtain justice in the airman's espionage trial.

The pilot's attractive brunette wife, meantime, scheduled a news conference, presumably to discuss the Russians' refusal to grant visas to her mother and her mother's doctor to go with her to Moscow for Powers' Aug. 17 trial.

Powers' wife, Barbara, her mother, Mrs. Monteen Brown, and the doctor had reservations to leave New York City's Idlewild Airport Wednesday night. But the reservations were cancelled because the mother and physician had not received visas.

Sabena Airlines reported in New York that the reservations had been shifted to a flight Friday night.

The U2 pilot's parents—

Oliver Powers, a Norton, Va., shoemaker, and his wife, who suffers from heart trouble—were scheduled to leave New York for Moscow by jet airliner with a stop-over in London. They were accompanied by a doctor and Sol W. Cury, a neighbor.

The father told Nixon Wednesday that the U.S. government had not done enough to help his son defend himself from spy charges. The pilot's wife had made a similar charge earlier.

The elder Powers also told Nixon that Russia broke a standing agreement with the United States when it refused to allow his son to choose his own defense counsel.

The shoemaker went to the vice president's office with Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.). They said Nixon promised to do "all he could" to obtain justice in the case.

For one thing, they said,

Nixon promised to forward the father's complaints to the "proper authorities." They declined to say whether this would include President Eisenhower.

Nixon wished the father "God-speed" on his trip to Russia, shook his hand warmly and said: "My best wishes to you. You've got a lot of people behind you so keep your spirits up."

Powers said he asked Judd to accompany him to Nixon's office because he was so impressed with the congressman's keynote address at the GOP national convention.

The U2 pilot will go on trial next week on charges that he violated Soviet airspace to gather aerial information about Russian rocket bases, radar networks and other military installations.

His high-flying U2 jet was forced down in Russia May 1, and he was captured unharmed.

The Russians have said Powers confessed to the essence of spying charges. But the U.S. State Department expressed belief he made the statement only after he had been brainwashed.

Prisoners Freed By Lock Specialist

Plattsburgh, N. Y. — A lock specialist was called to the new Clinton county jail to release seven prisoners who had been trapped in their cells for more than 24 hours.

The Decatur Iron and Steel Corp. of Decatur, Ala., sent one of its men to repair the faulty mechanism. The doors had remained closed for more than a day after the automatic lock system broke down.

The prisoners received their meals through the bars. A jailer shoved the plates to them with a stick across a seven-foot recreation area.

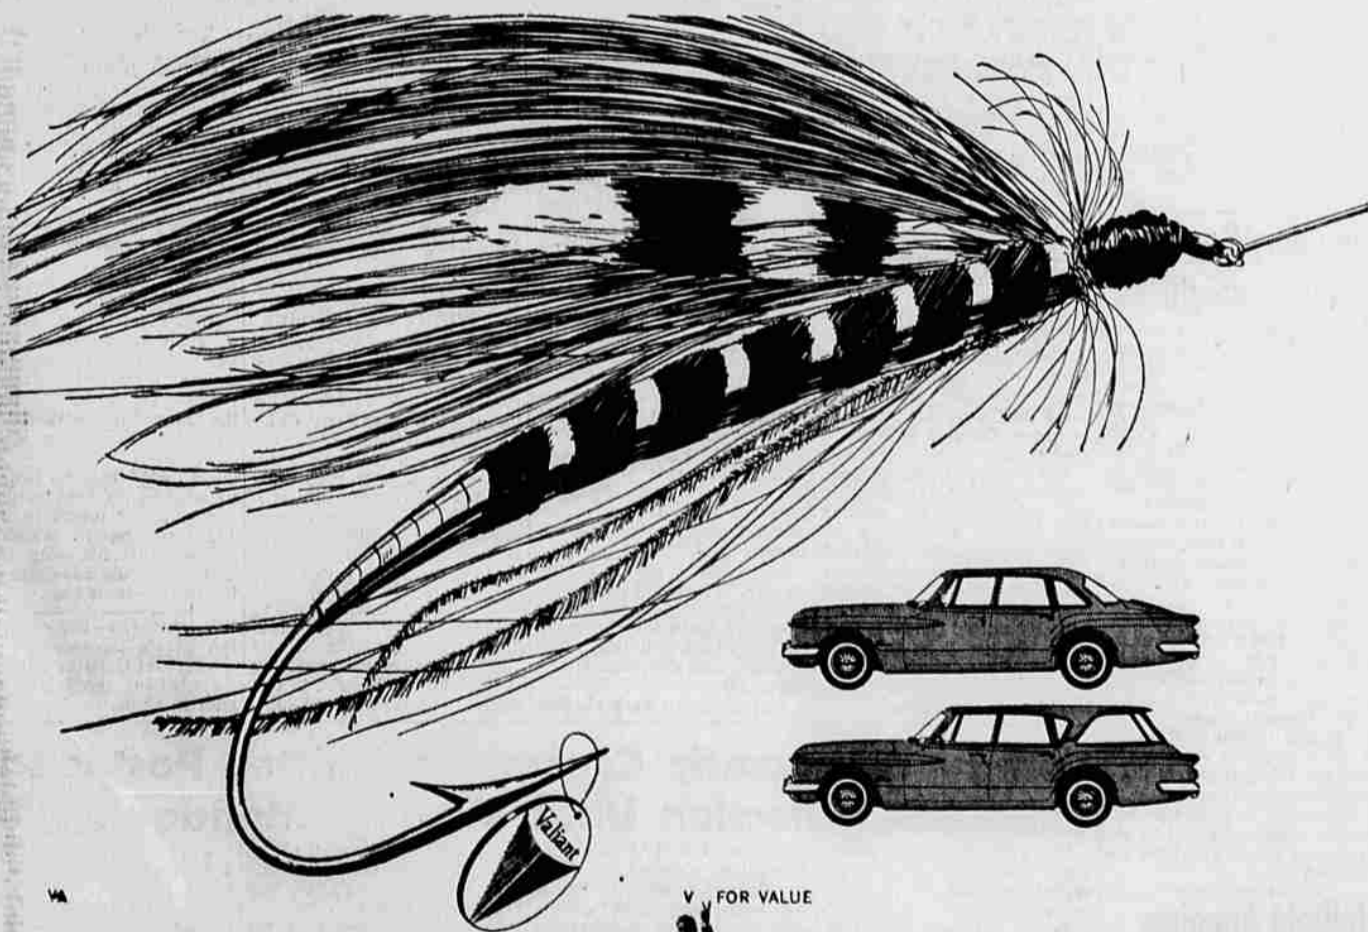

It took two hours for the specialist to locate the difficulty. The prisoners said they enjoyed their one day off from work but missed their exercise.
