Study Shows Cost For Average School Student $238 a Year

Portland (UPI) — The Oregon Education Association has made public a report which says incidental expenses at Oregon high schools cost an average of $238.46 per year for each student.

Dr. Errett Hummel of Portland State College, who made a study for the OEA, said the average cost of incidentals rose by $93 in the last 10 years.

The report said the average student now pays anywhere from $1 to $18 per year for a student body ticket; $1 to $30 for "other ticket costs"; $1 to $25 for book rental; 95 cents to $25 for book purchases and $1 to $27 for general supplies for the year.

Dr. Hummel said there were two ways to look at some of the expenses—items necessary to "keep face" with fellow students and as simple squandering.

He said "Those who counsel with teen-agers have realized that often those who are unhappy in school are those who cannot 'keep face' with their fellows."

He also said "... $30 junior proms complete with after-dance steak dinners, trip to the beach, orchids and tuxedos or dinner jackets are not unusual for the 16-to-18-year-old set."

Latin American Meeting Cuba Said Problem For All of Latin America To Handle

Editor's note: The foreign ministers of the 21 American republics meet in San Jose, Costa Rica, today on grave problems confronting the Western Hemisphere. This is the second of two articles on the background and expected outcome of the meetings.

By DONALD MAY Washington (UPI) — "Cuba is a problem for all Latin American to handle," a U.S. diplomat said recently. "Let's get away from thinking of 'Cuba versus the United States.'"

At the meeting of the foreign ministers of 21 American hemisphere nations in San Jose, Costa Rica, this week, the United States hopes to get a long-sought chance to apply this philosophy.

The meeting, which Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will attend, was called by Peru to consider "threats" to "democratic principles" in the hemisphere. It will follow a foreign ministers session beginning Tuesday to discuss the Dominican Republic.

The State Department many months ago made the decision that too-strong measures against Cuba by the United States itself would only inflame Latin American opinion and add to Soviet propaganda throughout the world.

Through discreet diplomatic channels, it has tried to convince Latin American countries to join in collective measures to deal with Cuba's brand of pro-Communism.

The effort was mainly an uphill one. Through much of Latin America, Premier Fidel Castro's 18-month-old revolution still has strong support, especially among the poorer classes.

U.S. diplomats report that even a fair sampling of Latin American landowners would side with Cuba or be reluctantly neutral on an issue of "Cuba versus the United States."

But Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's July 9 threat to rain rockets on the United States if this country should intervene in Cuba and Cuba's recent trade pacts with Russia have begun to awaken Latin American concern.

The foreign ministers' meeting is expected to warn the Kremlin to stay out of Western Hemisphere affairs.

No Direct Action But U.S. officials see little indication that the meeting will directly condemn Castro in anything like strong terms or take any joint economic or political measures against him.

In preparation for the meeting, the State Department a week ago filed with the Inter-American Peace Committee of the Organization of American States a 78-page memorandum accusing Cuba of trying to export its revolution and to upset hemisphere economies all "in open league" with Russia and Communist China.

The document charged that the Cuban Communist Party is the only party functioning there, that newspapers, radio stations and labor unions have been placed under state control and that Castro is amassing an army five times bigger than that of Dictator Fulgencio Batista whom he overthrew.

Waiter Stands By Rule in IRS Case

Milwaukee, Wis. — (UPI) — If he didn't break the rule, he couldn't have broken the law.

That's the stand taken by head-waiter Joseph Schmutz of the Milwaukee Athletic Club against the Internal Revenue Service.

The government claims he owes taxes on more than $27,000 received in tips. But Schmutz's reply is that the club has a rule against tipping, therefore the money members gave him must be considered non-taxable gifts. He said he is backed up by a 1954 tax court decision.

If Schmutz loses his suit in the tax court in Washington, he will have to pay the government more than $13,000 in taxes on the money.

Religious Sect Told To Go Home

Benson, Ariz. — (UPI) — Members of the Full Gospel Assembly church who had been living in bomb shelters since July 5 returned to their homes today.

A spokesman for the religious group told Sheriff's Deputy Ray Coffey they received a message from the Lord during the night to be in their homes by 4 a.m.

The men, women and children, about 100, had been waiting in their underground shelters for the word. They said they originally were instructed by the Lord to enter the shelters because of an impending nuclear attack.

They spent six months building the six or eight shelters near their homes.

A total of 1,600 members of the International Association of Machinists went on strike in a contract dispute.

A company spokesman said the walkout did not interfere with week end flight operations but that flight schedules could be affected if the strike continues through the week.
