

CONTEST WINNERS — Eagle Point FFA members Elvin Hawkins, Don Pestka and Steve Geren...

Out on a Limb

By BOB WALTERS

Bells on Her Toes

My French teacher has a roommate this summer. Her name's Ann Hackney and she's an actress.

ANN HACKNEY Wading in Honey

After a few questions and answers, though, I had the feeling we weren't getting things quite "right."

Rural Reflections

By MAUDE ZIEGLER

Applegate Valley — Another's enthusiasm is always refreshing, and Henrietta Le Piniec's fervent desire for parks in the Applegate is such that she affectionately visualizes even little roadside plots with shade trees where motorists can change a tire.

EPHS Principal Resigns Because Of Ill Health

By DOTTIE HARBISON

By KATHERINE CHAPMAN Mail Tribune Correspondent Hornbrook — News direct from the trouble-torn Belgian Congo has been received here in a letter to Mrs. Frank Bear...

By KATHERINE CHAPMAN Mail Tribune Correspondent Hornbrook — News direct from the trouble-torn Belgian Congo has been received here in a letter to Mrs. Frank Bear...

Brown Appoints Barr Superior Court Judge

Yreka — Attorney J. Everett Barr has been appointed superior court judge of Siskiyou county by Governor "Pat" Brown...

Happy Camp — A women's softball team is being organized in Happy Camp.

Cartoonist Dies

Santa Monica, Calif. — Jefferson Machamer, 60, syndicate cartoonist for the Chicago Tribune, died Tuesday.

Gallery Officer Dies

New York — Charles Retz, 57, assistant vice president of Parke Bernet Galleries Inc., died Tuesday.

Playwright Dies

New York — Carl M. Leo, 63, playwright and scenario writer, died Monday.

SHY CALLAGHAN Principal Resigns

to Superintendent Glenn D. Hale. Hale said he does not yet have a replacement.

Do you have an agent, Miss Hackney?

"Yes, my Daddy. He's caretaker at Stratford, you know."

"Is he in Ashland with you?"

"No, he's still in England. Trouble with the shrubs."

"Miss Hackney, do you have any advice for aspiring young actresses?"

"First, I would suggest that her Daddy get a caretaker's job. It's inspiring."

"Anything else?"

"Yes. She should bypass childish babblings such as 'da-da' and 'ma-ma' and concentrate on 'Hall, Caesar' and 'Out, damned spot.'"

"Any success secrets you'd like to pass along?"

"Just one, deeahh. I always step in a vat of honey before a show. Some actresses do yogi, some prefer to contemplate in silence. I wade in honey."

"One more thing, Miss Hackney. Do you have a message for our readers here in southern Oregon?"

"But of course, dahhling. Tell them I'm just a homebody at heart."

GALLERY OFFICER DIES

New York — Charles Retz, 57, assistant vice president of Parke Bernet Galleries Inc., died Tuesday.

PLAYWRIGHT DIES

New York — Carl M. Leo, 63, playwright and scenario writer, died Monday.

Regional News

Bob Walters, Regional Editor

Correspondents: Applegate Valley — Maude Ziegler; Butte Falls — Mary Jo Harris; Central Point — Viola Cook; Eagle Point — Dottie Harbison; Gold Hill-Santa Valley — Mary Kelli; Grandview-Lone Pine — Dot Simmons; Happy Camp — Hazel Davis; Hornbrook — Katherine Chapman; Illinois Valley — Katherine Scott; Jacksonville — Bette Hoskins; McLeod — Caroline Harding; Meadows — Nalle Bergman; Phoenix — Helen Mikodym; Prospect — Frances King; Shady Cove — Evelyn Watson; Table Rock — R. E. Nealon; Talent — Bill Young; Tillier-Drew — Viola Rogers; Williams — Ann Katzenbach; Yreka — Beale Boyd Fraser.

Board Asked to Co-Sponsor Flood Control Project

By KATHERINE CHAPMAN Mail Tribune Correspondent

Hornbrook — A delegation of interested Hornbrook residents attended the meeting of the Siskiyou County Board of Supervisors at the court house in Yreka last Tuesday.

Mark Antony Hotel 'Packing Them In'

By BOB WALTERS Mail Tribune Regional Editor

Ashland — The Oregon Shakespearean Festival isn't the only place that's packing them in this summer.

Another project being considered is a sun deck atop the nine-story building. It originally had been planned to operate a small bar there and to have colored pennants flying when the sun deck is open.

Ashland's "new" Mark Antony hotel has a full house almost every night, too.

Harold S. Hulise, the hotel's busy but apparently happy general manager, said yesterday an average of 90 per cent of the 90 rooms have been occupied each night since the Festival opened July 25.

And there's a long waiting list for rooms from now until the final curtain comes down Sept. 2.

Business also is booming in the coffee shop and restaurant adjacent to the hotel lobby. Anyone who has tried to find an empty booth during the noon hour will bear witness to that.

Much Work To Do

Hulise is pleased with the way local residents as well as Festival visitors have welcomed the Mark Antony but added that "we still have an awful lot of work to do."

The main dining room, cocktail lounge and ballroom are expected to be completed in about six weeks. The ballroom will accommodate 250 persons, the dining room 100 and the lounge 40.

The ballroom will be 78 feet long and 30 feet wide and one wall will be composed of a row of glass doors. Just outside the ballroom and to the rear of the hotel will be a covered patio and a swimming pool, both of which are to be ready for next season.

Between the lobby and the coffee shop is a small banquet room, The Tempest Room. It will be used for the first time when the Ashland Kiwanis club gathers there today.

Motel Setup Popular

Hulise said one of the hotel's most popular attractions is the 26-room motel setup on the third floor. Guests may park to the rear of the building, walk up a ramp leading directly to the third floor and contact the main lobby by telephone for a room without having to go into the lobby.

The hotel has three large air conditioners, one for the ballroom, another for the dining room and a third for the lobby and coffee shop.

Transformers Needed

So much electrical power is being used simultaneously, Hulise explained, that two new transformers had to be installed shortly after the hotel's opening to supplement the two already in use.

Eagle Point — The exercise class originally scheduled for tomorrow morning will be held Friday morning at the grade school gymnasium from 9 to 10 a.m. for this week only.

Will Draft Proposal

Reeves' office will draft a proposal to be presented to the board of supervisors in approximately two to three months.

The meeting with the board of supervisors followed two previous meetings held in July. On July 10 at a public meeting at the Grange hall here, John Lenz, an engineer with the U.S. Soil Conservation service, explained Public Law 566 in full and presented the results of a preliminary survey made by his office of the Cottonwood creek watershed.

He presented a chart showing the location of the five proposed possible dam sites in the area and outlined the procedure for getting the project underway.

Asks Investigation

The second meeting was held July 13 when the group met with the Shasta Valley Soil Conservation district board to apply for a small watershed investigation. At this meeting the Shasta Valley district passed a resolution to act as co-sponsor of a flood control and irrigation project under the Small Watershed act.

The group made a formal request to the California State Soil Conservation commission to conduct a reconnaissance investigation of the feasibility of the project.

In the delegate from Hornbrook at Tuesday's meeting were Fred Mitchell, Rob Cummins, Marion Grieb, Glen Robertson, Robert Larson and Frank Cardoza.

Missionary Tells Of Troubles in Congo

By KATHERINE CHAPMAN Mail Tribune Correspondent

Hornbrook — News direct from the trouble-torn Belgian Congo has been received here in a letter to Mrs. Frank Bear, written by a cousin, Father Willibrod Flick, a Sacred Heart missionary priest.

Called St. Willibrod, his mission is located in the village of Bomilli, near Leopoldville. The letter was written July 29, and received by Mrs. Bear Aug. 10.

In thanking his cousin for a gift of money she had sent him, Father Flick commented that "the American dollar was worth 80 francs, and they are highly valued and can be used anywhere—nobody wants Congolese money anymore."

Referring to the strife in the Congo, he wrote that "things are going badly here since July 7—hate against the Belgians and all the white race is terrific. Missionaries have not been molested, a great deal as yet, but here and there some of the convents have been molested and threatened, especially the sisters' convents, where in some cases, animalistic passions and brutalities have been let loose on white women and the nuns in the convents, resulting in a good many nuns returning to their native homes."

Father Flick was to have taken his vacation at this time and expected to be in his home town of Reidfield, Luxembourg, on Aug. 8 for the annual village festival, called the Kirmes, in honor of St. Alphonsus, but on "account of the disturbances and all the evacuation that is taking place, all plane reservations are being held for women and children," consequently no missionaries were taking their vacations, which are given them every five years.

"Not wanting to be a weeping nor a traitor to my church," the priest wrote, "I have written my bishop that I will remain at my mission post until everything is settled and back to normal in the Congo."

Father Flick has been at the mission at Bomilli for 23 years, ever since he was ordained in 1937 at the age of 24 years.

Headquarters for the Sacred Heart missionary order are in Rome, and, through the bishop of the City of Luxembourg in the province of Luxembourg, Father Flick had been granted permission from the general superior to spend part of his vacation in America, and he had planned, and still does, that part of it will be spent here at the Bear home. His last vacation, five years ago, and his first in America, was spent in Seattle and Auburn, Wash., where the Bears lived before moving to Hornbrook.

Although he writes some English, his letter was written in German, as he finds that language easier and more natural for him. While in this country five years ago, he attended school in Milwaukee, Wis., for six weeks, learning the English language well enough to get by here.

He also had help acquiring the use of the language from a Sacred Heart order brother from Detroit who joined him at the mission post two years ago. This was the first English speaking help he has ever had. He has seven Congolese ordained priests in his mission territory working under him.

"United Nations soldiers have arrived," he continued in his letter, "and have taken over, and here in the Congo, at Stanleyville, we have the East Province soldiers from Ethiopia, and troops from Morocco. In the province of Kiree, Irish soldiers are stationed to maintain order."

In concluding his letter, Father Flick wrote, "Whether you will get this letter I cannot tell, as there has been a great disrupting of mail service. Pray for us that God will guide us and protect us and bless this country so that peace may return to the Congo and life may be resumed on a normal basis. We expect peace to come during the winter. In the meantime, we will wait in patience and put all our trust in God."

Where were you appearing before coming to Ashland, Miss Hackney?

"Why, Stratford, deeahh boy. Naturally."

"Oh, how old were you when you started there?"

"One."

"One? Did you have a speaking part?"

"Of course, I said 'Why'd ya kill him?' in 'Julius Caesar.'"

"What was your next part?"

"Cleopatra. I was three at the time."

"A three-year-old Cleopatra? Were you... ahhh... convincing?"

"Apparently so, dahhling. Parliament held a special session to pass a child labor law."

"Did you ever find time for school, Miss Hackney?"

"I studied for about ten years. The Royal Family's tutor, you know, Elizabeth and I are great friends."

"Why did you decide to leave Stratford and come to Ashland?"

"I'm bringing culture to the West. You might say I'm a pioneer."

"What will you do when the Festival ends, Miss Hackney?"

"I really can't say, my deeahh. I have so many offers, I think I'll just toss a coin. But whatever I do will be big. Really big."

"Do you have an agent, Miss Hackney?"

"Yes, my Daddy. He's caretaker at Stratford, you know."

"Is he in Ashland with you?"

"No, he's still in England. Trouble with the shrubs."

"Miss Hackney, do you have any advice for aspiring young actresses?"

"First, I would suggest that her Daddy get a caretaker's job. It's inspiring."

"Anything else?"

"Yes. She should bypass childish babblings such as 'da-da' and 'ma-ma' and concentrate on 'Hall, Caesar' and 'Out, damned spot.'"

"Any success secrets you'd like to pass along?"

"Just one, deeahh. I always step in a vat of honey before a show. Some actresses do yogi, some prefer to contemplate in silence. I wade in honey."

"One more thing, Miss Hackney. Do you have a message for our readers here in southern Oregon?"

"But of course, dahhling. Tell them I'm just a homebody at heart."

GALLERY OFFICER DIES

New York — Charles Retz, 57, assistant vice president of Parke Bernet Galleries Inc., died Tuesday.

PLAYWRIGHT DIES

New York — Carl M. Leo, 63, playwright and scenario writer, died Monday.

Advertisement for Forest Loam soil, featuring a bag of loam and text: "DON'T BAKE YOUR SOIL. For soil protection from sun baking use FOREST LOAM Bark Mulch on your lawn, shrubs or flowers. As low as $7.00 for 100 cu. ft. truck load."

Advertisement for Glogston's Metal Weather Stripping and Screens, featuring a photo of a man and text: "GLOGSTON'S Metal Weather Stripping and Screens. Estimates Gladly. Phone SP 1-1014 Evenings."

Advertisement for CAR LIFE magazine, featuring a car and text: "1960'S BEST CAR BUYS IN EVERY PRICE CLASS. CAR LIFE THE COMPLETE AUTOMOTIVE MAGAZINE. 'OLDS IS THE BEST BUY IN THE MEDIUM PRICE CLASS!' Get your free copy of the article from CAR LIFE Magazine... at your OLDS Dealer's now! DARRELL MILLER CO., 415 S. RIVERSIDE"

Advertisement for Smoky Bear Reading Club, text: "Smoky Bear Reading Club Ends Saturday. Eagle Point—Mrs. Jessie Tyce, Eagle Point librarian, said she would like to remind all members of the Smoky Bear Reading club that this Saturday is the last day of the club. She urged all members to try for their certificates. Of the 85 active registered members, 35 are eligible for certificates at present. Mrs. Tyce said she would like to invite all members of the club to be at the library at 10 a.m. Saturday. Their parents also are welcome."

Advertisement for E. G. SOMMER P.A. Public Accountant, text: "ANNOUNCEMENT E. G. SOMMER P.A. Public Accountant announces the opening of his offices for the practice of general accounting. 314 East 6th Medford SP 3-7990 Ashland MU 5-6626"

Advertisement for Barry & Brindley Business Service, text: "NOW OPEN Barry & Brindley Business Service We Specialize in Mimeographing Public Stenography Addressing & Mailing Notary Public COME IN OR CALL Phone SP 3-8231 314 EAST 6TH STREET"

Advertisement for Exclusive Interview, featuring a photo of a man and text: "Exclusive Interview The man who found Adolf Eichmann answers these provocative questions... Why didn't Israel go through Argentine channels to get Eichmann? How did the NO. 1 NAZI BUTCHER hide for three years under the noses of his hunters? How did his background of Hebrew and Yiddish study help him kill six million Jews? Be sure to read... 'How We Hunted Down the NO. 1 NAZI BUTCHER'... by Leo Heiman, an article of wide scope that every American should read. PLUS THESE OTHER ARTICLES OF CURRENT INTEREST... 'The Last Inning' by Stan Musial 'Miss Somebody from Florida' by Ozzie Sweet 'They're the Sweethearts of the Olympics' by Peer Oppenheimer 'In Step with Taste...' Cookbook Section Junior Treasure Chest Quips and Quotes In the August 21st Issue of Family Weekly Medford Mail Tribune"