Medford Receives Achievement Plaque For Safety Program

Medford yesterday received a "certificate of achievement" from the National Safety Council for its school traffic safety education activities. It was the third consecutive year Medford has received the certificate.

The plaque was presented to Mayor John Snider at a luncheon at the Rogue Valley country club. Making the presentation was Edward J. Warmoth, executive secretary to the governor's traffic safety commission and safety director for the state motor vehicle department.

About 30 persons attended the meeting of the Medford Safety Council where Medford's annual traffic safety inventory was presented by Warmoth. The traffic safety director met yesterday morning with city, school, and safety administrators to discuss the report, and afternoon conferences were scheduled.

Medford scored 71 out of a possible 100 points on the overall inventory. In 1958, the city scored 73 out of a possible 100 points.

Warmoth noted that the drop of two points does not mean that traffic safety activity in the city has reduced. It probably means, he said, that activity in other cities has raised the recommended performance on which the inventory is based.

Medford scored 80 per cent on its school traffic education section, compared to 83 per cent in 1958, Warmoth noted. The city became eligible for its school traffic safety education plaque by achieving 80 per cent in the division.

Other categories in which the city's traffic safety program is inventoried include death and injury record, accident records, traffic engineering, police traffic supervision, traffic courts, public traffic education and organization for traffic safety improvement.

Red Space Chief Says Russia Will Orbit Man 'Soon'

Berlin — (UPI) — Professor Leonid I. Sedov, head of the Soviet Space Agency, said today the Soviet Union would launch a manned satellite "soon."

He told the West Berlin newspaper B.Z. that there will be further tests with unmanned satellites are launched. Asked when a manned satellite would be launched, he answered "soon."

"The satellite will return to earth," Sedov said, sending a manned space ship around the moon lies far in the future... perhaps 20 years.

American rocket expert Werner von Braun in an interview with the newspaper Tuesday said the United States hopes to send a manned rocket around the moon in 1963.

Washington — (UPI) — The nuclear-powered submarine Seadragon has blazed a new trail across the top of the world and is now headed for the North Pole, the Navy announced today.

Master of Ceremonies

The plaque, which will be kept with the two previous awards at the city hall, is one of five such awards given this year in the state to cities in Medford's division.

Medford has participated in the NSC program for 10 years, according to Fichtner. In reviewing Medford's safety activities, Warmoth told the luncheon delegates that Medford "really shines" in its development. He noted that the city has "a real good program" and acknowledged the cooperation of the Medford school system.

1,000 Soliders Sent To Kasai To End Warfare

'Thousands' Reported Killed In Fighting

Leopoldville, The Congo — (UPI) — The central Congolese government poured more than 1,000 troops into Kasai Province today to put down a secessionist movement and end bloody tribal warfare that has claimed "thousands" of lives.

Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba airlifted the troops into the Kasai capital of Luluabourg the so-called "mining state" proclaimed two weeks ago by Baluba tribal chief Albero Kalonji.

Kalonji declared the mining state independent of the rest of The Congo, and allied himself with President Premier Moise Tshombe of the secessionist Katanga Province.

Many Natives Killed
Kalonji claimed in the Katanga capital of Elisabethville today that 300 warriors have died in fighting between the Lulua and Baluba tribes around Luluabourg since Tuesday. He added that "thousands" had been killed in bitter fighting since The Congo won its independence June 30. Such warfare between the two primitive tribes has gone on for years, but it flared into new intensity with independence.

It was not immediately known here if Lumumba's heavily armed troops, flown in to help the Lulus over-throw the Baluba state, were involved in the fresh Luluabourg fighting.

Meanwhile, Gen. Roger Gheysens, commander of the Belgian forces in Katanga, said order has been restored in the town of Albertville where Mall Federation troops of the United Nations were reported to have mutinied Tuesday night.

Denies Mutiny Report
Gheysens denied that the Mall troops had mutinied. He said the reports arose when some Mall troops fraternized with rioters trying to take over the local railroad station and airfield. He said the Mall troops did not join the rioters.

Gheysens said Belgian troops killed two rioters in clearing the airfield and station. Irish troops began flying into Albertville this morning, U.N. forces said. They will replace the Mall contingent which is being withdrawn from the area as a consequence of the dissolution of the Mall Federation last week end.
