Space Authority Makes Prediction

Portland — (UPI) — A noted space authority says the Russians may be the first to put a man into space but that this country will not be far behind.

Dr. Wiley Ley, who arrived here for a visit Wednesday, said the United States could shoot a man into space by 1961 or even this year if it wanted to "cut corners."

He said it probably would be 10 years after safe recovery of the first man from a Mercury capsule before the first man would land on the moon.

CHEATS HIMSELF

New York — This cheater cheated himself. Someone dropped a penny into a slot in payment for a five-cent shopping bag in a Manhattan department store. An employee, emptying the coin box, noted it was a 1914D penny . . . worth $5 to coin collectors.

TO INVESTIGATE BLASTS

Washington — (UPI) — Attorney General William P. Rogers has announced that FBI agents will investigate a series of five bombings in mixed white-Negro neighborhoods in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Wall Street Chatter

New York — (UPI) — James F. Hughes of Auchincloss, Parker and Redpath says there are ample technical reasons, based on past experience, for the market to continue its recent recovery.

Within the next week or so it is possible that the upward trend could run into an interesting technical test if the breadth index exceeds its June high without confirmation by the industrial average.

Hughes believes this could provide a signal for a technical correction that might last for several weeks.

However, he adds, with business holding merely firm over the next few months, the market might well do very much better than it did during the first half of the year.

Bache and Co. reports that American Broadcasting-Paramount and Phillip Morris both have "exceptional" technical positions, and expects further short term gains here. Peabody Coal appears to be attracting a larger following, Bache adds.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone and Co. has a list of stocks he believes still point to higher levels including:

'Flying Fish' Has Engine Troubles

Astoria — (UPI) — Engine trouble will keep the "Flying Fish" in port here a while longer, according to the boat's owners.

The 65-foot-hydrofoil cruiser was scheduled to leave port for Bellingham, Wash., at 9 a.m. today, but a test run late Wednesday turned up more engine trouble.

Several earlier departures were stopped by weather and minor mechanical difficulties.

The $200,000 craft, designed for speed passenger service across Puget Sound from Bellingham to Victoria, B.C., skims the surface of the water on two pontoon-like foils.

No departure date was listed pending further trials and weather conditions.

Survivors include his widow, Susie A. Tom, Rufus, a daughter, Catherine E. Tom, Rufus, and a son, Charles Allen Tom, Rufus and The Dalles.

Tom had been a resident of Rufus since 1882 and was a well known wheat farmer.

One-fourth the area of Colorado may be underlain with coal reserves.

Portland Police Have Busy Night

Portland — (UPI) — A series of accidents including a crash over a steep embankment and a 90-mile-per-hour chase gave Portland police one of their busiest nights in a long time Wednesday night and early today.

The night of accidents ended for police at 6 a.m. today when two youths were found after they had been pinned for hours in their wrecked car at the foot of a 50-foot cliff.

The injured passenger in the car, David White, 18, climbed up the bank to wave down a truck, then directed the truck driver to the wreckage where Martin J. Schneiderman, 18, was still pinned.

Compounds May Aid In Treating Tumors

Vienna, Austria (Science Service) — The addition of small amounts of reserpine compounds has been found to enhance the action of anti-folic compounds now used in the treatment of certain types of tumors and leukemia.

Dr. Eli D. Goldsmith of New York university described successful experiments on the fruit fly at the 11th International Entomological Congress here. Dr. Goldsmith conducted his experiments at NYU's College of Dentistry where he is professor of histology and coordinator of research.

Previously reported action by reserpine against leukemia and the tumor sarcoma 37 in the rodent led Dr. Goldsmith to test it on the fruit fly Drosophila melanogaster, used in studies of heredity.

Using low doses of two reserpine compounds, Singoserp and Serpasil, in combination with anti-folic compound Aminopterin, Dr. Goldsmith lowered the percentage of adult flies that normally emerge from the larvae.
