Senate Approves Compromise Bill Sends It to Ike

House Must Approve $191 Million for Aid

Washington — (UPI) — The Senate spurred toward adjournment today by sending a medical care bill for the needy aged to the White House and voting to restore some of the funds chopped from President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

The vote on the politically controversial medical bill was 74-11. Final action came after Sen. Russell Long, (D-La.), finished speaking at length on the bill which had been slated for passage last Saturday.

Senate approval by a 56-31 vote of the extra foreign aid funds still must win House approval. The additional $191 million was tacked onto a supplemental appropriations bill containing money for various governmental agencies and programs.

Wrangle Shapes Up
A congressional wrangle still shaped up, however, over the foreign aid money. Speaker Sam Rayburn, (D-Tex.), gave his qualified support to the administration request but noted there was strong opposition developing among influential House members.

Another hurdle still to be cleared is the deadlocked minimum wage bill. Senate-House negotiators try again this afternoon to break their stalemate. But they were pessimistic.

Compromise Sought
The negotiators are trying to write a compromise between the House-approved 15 cent hike in the $1-an-hour wage floor and the Senate-passed 25 cent boost. The conferees Friday twice rejected the Senate version, sponsored by Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy.

Other congressional news: —The House Agriculture committee was called to a closed-door meeting to consider Eisenhower's plea for power to cut sugar purchases from the Dominican Republic. Democrats did not appear anxious to push through the request but might settle on some compromise.

—Sen. Clifford P. Case, (R-N.J.), introduced a bill to crack down on the "giant octopus" of organized crime. The measure would make it a crime to travel between states or use interstate or international communication facilities for racketeering.

Dog Control Law Becomes Effective In County Tuesday

Jackson county's controversial dog control law will go into effect tomorrow with most law enforcement agencies expressing their willingness to enforce its provisions. Assistant District Attorney Gerald Scannell Jr., said today that all dogs will be picked up which are off their owner's premises and not in the company or control of their owner or are without an adequate muzzle.

Owners of dogs found running at large will be prosecuted in district court. If the owner is found guilty of letting his dog run at large he is subject to a fine of $10 for the first offense and $25 for each subsequent offense.

Scannell said the fine money will go into a special county fund to pay for the cost of prosecution, and for any damages that the dog might cause. This is provided for by state law, he noted.

Scannell met with the County Dog Control Officer Chris Hagler this morning to go over enforcement procedures, and to devise a citation form to be issued.

Hagler said last week that he expects the two trouble spots in the county to be Ashland and Medford. The police departments in both these cities, he said, have expressed their willingness to cooperate in enforcing the law within their city limits.

Hagler—whose dog control equipment consists of himself, one full-time man, one part-time man, a county-owned pickup truck and his own vehicle—said he will wait and see how much work the law requires before asking the county court for more men and equipment.

Medford Police Chief Charles P. Champlin, who is not too happy over the fact that his officers will have to transport at-large dogs from within the city to the dog pound via their patrol cars, said that he received word from the Southern Oregon Humane society that they plan to offer their assistance, especially in regards to sick and injured dogs.

Both Hagler and Champlin say they will enforce the law "like any other law."

Seven Oregonians Killed In Accidents During Week End

Portland, and Claude Lucas, Salem.

Drownings claimed the lives of Pamela Virginia Barrett, 15, of Portland and Richard Deedon, 20, Gold Beach.

Crushed by Log
Theodore Carper, 54, John Day logger, was killed when crushed by a falling log.

Stockton died late Sunday when the car he was in apparently careened off the highway and overturned south of Prineville. Two companions were injured but were reported in good condition.

Miss Barrett drowned Saturday in the surf at Cannon Beach when she and two brothers were swept out to sea by a huge wave. Her body was washed ashore about 30 minutes after the wave struck.

Another brother, Robert Barrett, 20, Portland, was revived by life guards, and the other brother escaped injury.

Deedon drowned while swimming in the Rogue River about eight miles upstream from Gold Beach. Witnesses said Deedon disappeared about 40 yards from the north shore of the Rogue river. His body was recovered by Curry County Sheriff's deputies.

Sports Car Overturns
Van Allen was killed Friday afternoon when his sports car overturned on U. S. highway 26, one mile east of Rhododendron. Van Allen and James Norlen, 23, Portland, were pinned under the car. Norlen suffered minor injuries.

Miss Sparks died Sunday from injuries suffered in a two-car, head-on collision on Southwest Capital highway near Vermont st., in Portland. Miss Sparks became Portland's 35th traffic fatality of the year.

Lucas was killed in a one-car accident west of Notus, Idaho, on state highway 26.

Filing Deadline For City Sept. 6
Medford's City Recorder-Treasurer Darrell F. Huson said today that the deadline for filing as a candidate for municipal offices is Sept. 6.

Filing must be done by petition. To date, only three nominating petitions have been received, Huson said. These are from Mayor John W. Snider, Councilman R. L. VanSickle, Ward 3, and Councilman Jimmy Dunlevy, Ward 4. All three are candidates to succeed themselves.

Two more seats on Medford's eight-man city council are up for election this year. These seats are now held by Councilman Al Bradford, Ward 2, and Ed Hall, Ward 1.

Neither Hall nor Bradford has indicated whether he will run for reelection, Huson said, but added that he understands two petitions for city office are being circulated at the present time. These have not yet been received by his office, he said.

City Attorney Joel Reeder said there will be no measures on the city ballot this year. The municipal election is held at the same time as the general election on Nov. 8.

Jordan Premier Reported Killed

Beirut, Lebanon — (UPI) — Amman Radio said that Jordanian Premier Hazza Al-Majali was killed today in an explosion that wrecked the Foreign Ministry building in Amman. Cairo and Israel reports said the premier was the victim of a lime bomb.

The reports said 10 persons were killed and at least 50 injured in the assassination.

They added that King Hussein had appointed Bahjat Al-Atluni, identified as chief of the royal cabinet, to succeed Al-Majali.

The Jordanian government was reported to have declared a state of emergency, closed all the country's airports and imposed curfew on the capital of Amman, whose empty streets were being patrolled by armed soldiers.

Siskiyou Blvd. To Be Ready This Week
Paving of the Siskiyou blvd. extension along the south boundary of the IOOF cemetery should be completed today and the street should be ready for use later this week, according to City Engineer Vernon Thorpe.

When finished the extension will make Siskiyou blvd. a through street all the way from Hoover school to Willamette ave.

Another street development project in the same area of the city — the extension of 10th st. and the construction of the 10th st. bridge — is proceeding on schedule, Thorpe said.

The Inter-City Construction company of Eugene, contractor on the $95,000 bridge, is constructing forms this week preparatory to pouring concrete for the beams and bridge deck, he said.

Grading on the extension of 10th st. from Willamette ave. to Riverside ave., has been completed, he said, and the contractor, F. L. Somers, is now laying base material. Paving should start before long, he noted.

The entire 10th st. project should be completed in mid-November, as scheduled, Thorpe said.

Demurrer Denied in Local Escrow Case

A demurrer filed by attorneys for O. H. Bengtson, who has been charged with embezzlement in the Medford Escrow company case was denied in Jackson county circuit court this morning by Judge James M. Main.

The demurrer asked that the indictment be dropped. Bengtson has been ordered to enter a plea to the charge Sept. 6, at 9:30 a.m.

The demurrer was brought by Bengtson's lawyers on the basis that the grand jury indictment did not conform to the requirements of the Oregon code because it did not contain a statement of facts constituting an offense in ordinary and concise language.

OAS Conference Closes; Cubans First To Leave

San Jose, Costa Rica — (UPI) — Western Hemisphere foreign ministers signed a stern anti-Communist statement of policy today ending a two-week emergency conference here.

Diplomats of 19 American nations signed the Declaration of San Jose condemning Sino-Soviet intervention in hemisphere affairs at a 13-minute ceremony.

The seventh consultative Assembly of American Foreign Ministers then closed officially.

Cubans Walk Out
Only the Dominican Republic, which bolted the conference last week after being condemned as an aggressor nation, and Cuba, which walked out Sunday when its Communist partners were criticized, were not present at the closing ceremonies.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said in a planeseid statement prior to his departure from San Jose that a declaration constitutes a "clear indictment of the Castro government of Cuba and particularly the role it played in furthering Sino-Soviet efforts at intervention into this hemisphere."

Castro Not Mentioned
Actually, the declaration did not specifically mention Premier Fidel Castro or Cuba, but there was no mistaking its targets.

Cuba's Raul Roa walked out of the meeting Sunday night in anger over the resolution and the unanimous rebuff given his charges of U.S. "aggression." He said the Fidel Castro regime would take its dispute to the United Nations.

His absence left 19 of the 21 American states represented at the late morning ceremonies for the "declaration of San Jose" — a seven-point warning to Russia and Red China to halt infiltration of the Western Hemisphere.

63 Feared Dead In Africa Plane Crash

Dakar, Senegal — (UPI) — An Air France Super Constellation circling for a third attempt to land at Dakar airport in a blinding rainstorm crashed into the Atlantic with terrific impact today, apparently killing all 63 persons aboard.

An official of the Singer Sewing Machine company's Paris office said one of the passengers was James McKinnon, a Canadian, who had offices in New York City. He was an assistant to the Singer firm's vice president in charge of European and African sales.

No Americans Aboard
An American official at Dakar said that according to a reliable information no Americans were aboard although the passenger list contained nine Anglo-Saxon names. Airline officials said it was believed these were all British.

More than six hours after the crash, French navy craft had recovered 30 bodies. All were mangled and their clothes had been torn off when the big plane hit the sea and exploded.

The plane had 55 passengers and eight crew members aboard on a scheduled flight from Paris to Dakar, Monrovia, Liberia, and Abidjan, Ivory Coast.

Plane Couldn't Land
Dinghies spotted near the place where the plane lay on a sandy bottom in 60 feet of water turned out to be empty. They apparently were released automatically when the plane hit the water as it was turning to make the third attempt to land at the airport.

It had made two previous unsuccessful attempts to land in the driving rain.

Today's crash was the second major French air disaster in a year. A French passenger plane crashed on takeoff from Bordeaux last Sept. 24 and killed 54 persons in the worst civil aviation accident in the country's history.

Bunche Protests Congo Attack on UN Headquarters

Leopoldville, Congo — (UPI) — Undersecretary Ralph Bunche has protested "very energetically" against the Congo attack on U.N. headquarters in Stanleyville, the provincial town where eight U.S. airmen were beaten Saturday by Congo troops, it was announced today.

Bunche, the U.N.'s highest-ranking Negro, was protesting an attack on two Canadian officers and a Swedish civilian by Congo troops who broke into the U.N. office.

Seriously Injured
One of the Canadians was hospitalized along with the eight Americans, crewmen of a U.S. Air Force transport arriving from Kano, Nigeria, with supplies for the U.N. force in the Congo.

The most seriously injured of the Americans was Sgt. Frederick Kiser, of Smyrna, Del., whose skull is believed to have been fractured by a Congo trooper's gun butt.

Chaos at Hand
The situation in the Congo appeared to be verging on complete chaos, with a tribal massacre going on in Kasai Province and troops loyal to Premier Patrice Lumumba massing near the border of "independent" Katanga Province.

Swedish Gen. Count Von Rosen, who had been in command of U.N. air forces in Leopoldville, reported on his return to Sweden over the week end that civil and military authority in the Congo had broken down almost entirely.
