Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DOMINATING PERSONALITY behind the annual summer concert series in New York's Lewisohn stadium is, as every music lover knows, a bouncy, irrepressible lady named Minnie Guggenheim. Her daughter Sophie, a golf champion in her own right, has just put together an engaging biography of her ma called Minnie is Me, replete with hilarious—and dramatic — highlights. There are stories about the annual Gershwin concert that invariably packs the stadium, the night Heifetz played through a Brahms Concerto during a downpour because not one member of the drenched audience moved, and the memorable evening an unknown Marian Anderson made a sensational New York debut in 1925.

Minnie Guggenheim's favorite composer is a man she invariably refers to as "that fine boy, Rodgers Hammerstein."
