

Religious Issue Continues as Dominant Theme as Campaign Tension Increases

By United Press International
The religious issue continued as the dominant theme today in the accelerating presidential campaign as both major party candidates embarked on ambitious tours.

into politically doubtful Texas. Nixon, in an interview Sunday night, suggested the two candidates agree on a "cut-off" date on all talk about religion. Kennedy commented: "I think we'd all be better off. I wish we could cut off debate on this subject right now."

Nixon rejected the vote of anyone who endorsed him solely because of religious sentiment against Kennedy, who is a Catholic. He said it would be "tragic" if the November election was decided primarily or "even substantially" because of the Democratic nominee's religion.

READS BOOKS - Bruce Hueners, 9-year-old son of Mae Jean Hueners, 299 South Fifth st., Jacksonville, was presented an illustrated encyclopedia recently by American Legion Post 100 of Jacksonville. Young Hueners earned the award, a post spokesman said, by having read more books than any other member of the Smoky Bear Reading club. Bruce also belongs to the Junior Readers Digest club and the Around-the-World program which involves geographical and pictorial editions of countries all over the world. The program is initiated to encourage reading and speech development.

Portlander Given Term for Slaying

Portland - (UPI) - Charles I. Patterson, 21, has been sentenced to four and one-half years in the Oregon State Correctional institution on a manslaughter charge in connection with the fatal beating of a farm worker April 3. Patterson earlier was indicted on a murder count, along with Paul A. Machen, 21, for the fatal beating of Edward St. George, 44, of Portland. Machen, brother of boxer Eddie Machen, still faces trial on the murder charge.

Patterson's charge was reduced from murder to manslaughter. He pleaded guilty to the manslaughter charge.

BURNED TO DEATH - High Point, N.C. - (UPI) - Four persons were burned to death Sunday when their car crashed into a utility pole and a 4,000 volt power line fell across the vehicle. Coroner R. B. Davis Jr. said identification of the victims would have to be established through fingerprints.

Kennedy made his comment in San Diego, Calif., as he prepared to launch a southern campaign drive through pivotal Texas. His first stop was El Paso.

Talks to Ministers - He was prepared to meet the religion-in-politics issue head-on at a question and answer session with Protestant clergymen at Houston tonight. There he will speak briefly and then answer questions in an appearance before the Greater Houston Ministerial Alliance.

Kennedy scheduled a busy two-day, 10 - speech swing through the Lone Star state. He was to be accompanied by his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. Nixon was booked for stops at Indianapolis, Dallas and San Francisco on the first day of his whirlwind 9,000-mile, week-long tour. Although the two rivals will be in Texas the same day, their paths will not cross.

In another development, Kennedy's brother and campaign manager, Robert F. Kennedy, predicted the religious issue would die out before election day.

Can Be Met - He said in a speech at Libertyville, Ill., that the "religious issue can be met correctly and forcefully. Another question will replace it." He forecast the chief issues would be economic aid, foreign policy and national issues.

Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton turned the attack toward economic issues.

In an address at Cleveland, Ohio, Morton said the Republicans have no intention of winning votes by trying to "outpromise" the Democrats.

Morton charged the Democrats were making "empty pledges of cradle-to-grave government charity for everybody - an endless sleigh ride on a never sagging economic boom."

Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.) said that, "however deplorable it may be," the issue of Kennedy's Catholic religion would be a factor in the election. He predicted that as things now stand, Nixon has a good chance of carrying Florida, North Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia.

Defectors' Note Said Suppressed - Washington - (UPI) - A Congressional investigator said Saturday he was told the government deliberately suppressed a farewell note left behind by the two National Security agency clerks who defected to Russia.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday (D-Tex.) said he was further advised that officials vainly hoped the note would never have to be made public. But a copy was read by the defectors-Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin - when they turned up at a Kremlin-arranged Moscow press conference last Tuesday.

Kilday, chairman of a House armed services subcommittee investigating the Mitchell-Martin episode, said the suppression explanation was given him in response to preliminary inquiries as to why the United States made the "mistake" of allowing Moscow to air public charges made against this government by the two.

Portland, Ore. - (UPI) - Luckenbach Steamship Co. has announced plans to discontinue its Portland and Seattle operations.

Linfield To Start Tuition Program - McMinnville - Linfield college at McMinnville this fall will inaugurate the Tuition Plan as a convenient way for parents to meet students' tuition and academic fees out of regular income.

Elmer Carlson, Linfield business manager, said the Tuition Plan of New York, Inc., has been accepted widely in American education and that Linfield offers this plan to parents who prefer to pay tuition on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Under the Tuition Plan of New York parents may make contracts covering one year's expenses or enter into two, three, or four-year plans.

Under the longer plans there is automatic parent life insurance at no additional expense. If the parent who signs such a contract should die, the insurance provides for payment of the remaining educational costs covered by the contract.

For those who do not wish the Tuition Plan, but still desire to make installment payments, Linfield has the one-third down payment plan on a one-year basis.

Ambulance Drivers To Discuss Code - Portland - (UPI) - An Oct. 25 meeting of the Oregon Ambulance Drivers association has been set for Salem to discuss a proposed ambulance regulatory code which prohibits ambulances from working in emergency status.

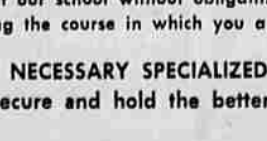

The meeting was arranged here Friday night by Vincent James, who said he was "just a citizen who had to wait too long for an ambulance."

He said last July he had to promise an ambulance driver he would take all financial responsibility before the driver would take James' seriously ill 20-month-old daughter through a red light.

Rehabilitation Center Planned

A definite need was established for an Alcoholic Rehabilitation center in southern Oregon at the first meeting of a committee organized to study the proposal.

At a meeting last week, it was pointed out that alcoholism is the third killer in the U.S., excluding accidents caused by drinking.

During the discussion, Dr. John W. Bradshaw, Ashland, stated that he thought the physicians in the area would welcome the help they could obtain from such a center.

Omar Bacon, librarian of the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County, told delegates he is stocking literature concerning alcoholism. Articles of incorporation are being formulated for the non-profit corporation exploring the field of medicinal, hospital and psychiatric help for persons suffering from alcoholism. Committees were appointed to contact the existing facilities in these fields to see what help is available.

An office established to secure referrals for different types of treatment is considered by the committee. Committee members present Wednesday included the Rev. Albert Soyars, Owen Conway, and Capt. John Smith, policeman, all of Grants Pass; Dr. John Bradshaw, Ashland; and Police Capt. Clyde Fichtner, Omar Bacon, Don Hansen, city councilman, Mrs. Thomas Cardona and Hale Greenman, Medford. Unable to attend was Dr. L. D. Inskip, Medford.

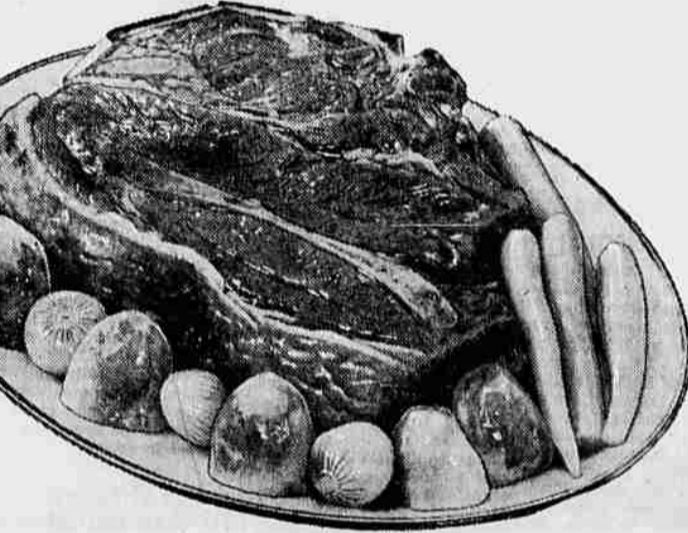

HIS AND HERS

Los Angeles - (UPI) - Newlyweds Joe and Marjorie Pickett found they were rival presidential candidates but you can't let a thing like politics interfere with wedded bliss. On the back bumper of their station wagon, they pasted two stickers: "His-Nixon. Hers-Kennedy."
