Claimants in Roseburg Blast Forced To File

Portland — UPI — The large number of damage claims resulting from the 1959 explosion and fire at Roseburg came up for another airing in Federal Court Tuesday.

The proceeding was brought against damage claimants by insurance carriers of Pacific Powder Co., who have filed a "bill of peace" to force all claimants to come before the court at one time.

The suits involve millions of dollars. An initial $500,000 has been technically filed with the court against which claimants may or may not be allowed demands.

Tentative Deadline — Purpose of Tuesday's hearing was to hasten appearance of all claimants in court. Judge Gus Solomon set a tentative deadline of 45 days but indicated he would be flexible for those who needed more time.

So far there have been 25 to 30 bodily injury and death claims filed, from 2,000 to 3,000 additional property damage claims and some 800 additional property and injury claims reported Tuesday.

The suits result from the Aug. 7, 1959, explosion and fire at Roseburg which claimed 13 lives and caused from $10 million to $12 million in damage.

Unusual Slaw — Grapes and raisins are a wonderful combination. Try slaw. Combine finely shredded green cabbage with shredded carrot, green or Tokay grapes and light or dark raisins plumped in orange juice. Toss together with a sprinkling of salt, sugar and a little mayonnaise thinned with lemon juice.

Delightful Dessert — For a delightful dessert, turn a can of fruit cocktail into a refrigerator tray and place in the freezing compartment until icy cold. A thorough chilling brings out the delicate flavors of the five sweet fruits. Very good straight from the can, but if you wish a little variety, add a dash of lemon juice, a tablespoon or two of rum, or a drop or two of almond extract.

UN Troops Forced To Open Fire on Kasai Tribesmen

Leopoldville, The Congo — UPI — United Nations troops were forced to open fire twice in the last five days when attacked by tribesmen in Kasai Province, a U.N. spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said the first incident occurred Sept. 16 near Lalenda, south of Luluabourg, when a "very large group" of Kanyoka tribesmen ravaging the area near the Katanga border attacked Liberian U.N. troops who tried to stop them. The tribesmen were reported to have suffered some casualties, although the U.N. forces were unscathed.

Second Incident — The second incident occurred Tuesday when a Tunisian U.N. patrol was ambushed near Gandajika, east of Luluabourg, when tribesmen fired on it. The Tunisians returned the fire, but there were no reports of casualties on either side.

The announcement came as Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu sent officials of his youthful caretaker regime to formally take over government offices and charged that the United Nations was keeping him from arresting ousted pro-Soviet Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Lumumba is in his official residence which is guarded by Ghanaian troops of the U.N. force.

The anti-Communist 15-member College of High Commissioners took over the main administration building under protection of a platoon of infantrymen and an armored car.

At the same time, the United Nations command launched an investigation into reports of atrocities against supporters of Lumumba in the North of Katanga Province. The atrocities allegedly were committed by gendarmes loyal to secessionist-minded President Moise Tshombe of mineral-rich Katanga.

U.N. officials here said 68 Baluba tribesmen were slain in the village of Luena alone. They said the final death toll probably would be higher.

But in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, a senior U.N. military official said "we have no news whatsoever to indicate any kind of massacre by the Katanga gendarmerie in the North."

'College' Appointed — Mobutu, who seized power last week to end the struggle between Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu, Tuesday appointed a 15-man "College of High Commissioners" to govern the Congo.

The colonel named Justin Bomboko, former foreign minister under Lumumba and now a Kasavubu representative in New York, to head the commission which promised to rule only until the rival political factions could reach agreement.

The commission was composed mainly of youthful students and university-trained Congolese, who refused the title of minister. It pledged to protect the Congo from Marxist-Leninist Imperialism.

Gabardine — Originally a loose cloak or garment reaching down to the feet, worn during Middle Ages by pilgrims and beggars, today gabardine is a finely woven, smooth, sturdy and easy to care for fabric. It is often made of Acrilan acrylic as well as traditional fibers.

Castro Peacefully Settled In Harlem's Theresa Hotel

Premier, Party Said Happy With Accommodations

New York — UPI — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was the picture of contentment today in his new role as darling of the communist world.

All settled down in his rooms at Harlem's Theresa Hotel, Castro was paying twice as much — cash in advance — as what he paid at Manhattan's Shelburne, from which he stormed in fury Monday night.

May Take Check

But he and his party of 80 bearded followers were said to be happy with their new accommodations at "The Waldorf Astoria of Harlem." Manager Love B. Wood said he was pleased too — so much so that he may even take Castro's check in lieu of cash for the remainder of the stay.

It was at the Theresa that Castro had a surprise visitor Tuesday — none other than the big daddy of the communist world with which Cuba has been flirting. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Following a half-hour meeting, the tall, bearded Castro and the short, bald Khrushchev came out to the bar, and smiled and hugged for the 2,000 persons crowding about.

Russian Bear Hugs — At the United Nations less than an hour later, Khrushchev again sought out his new buddy. He walked all the way down an aisle in the general assembly to smother Castro in great Russian bear hugs, for scores of U. N. delegates and all the world to see.

It appeared today that Castro actually planned his sudden walkout from the Shelburne and shift to the Harlem hotel as part of a program to court support of U. S. Negroes.

Wood, manager of the Theresa, in the heavily Negro Harlem area, revealed Castro had made arrangements to stay there as early as last Saturday, the day before he arrived from Havana and checked in at the Shelburne.

Campaign Quotes

By United Press International
Sen. John F. Kennedy:
(In nationwide TV speech):
"During the next president's first 90 days he must assert leadership on three fronts in particular."

"First, on the military front. The next president must promptly send to the Congress a special message requesting the funds and authority necessary to give us a nuclear retaliatory power second to none, make it invulnerable to surprise attack and add conventional forces so mobile and modern that they can stamp out any brush-fire war before it spreads."

"Second, on the non-military front. The next president must promptly request our more prosperous NATO Allies, and possibly Japan and others, to join with us in approaching each underdeveloped area of the world... to request establishment through the United Nations of regional development plans, coordinating and stimulating the flow of those areas of long-term public and private capital, surplus food and technical assistance."

"Third, on the domestic front. The next president... must promptly set forth a sound legislative and executive program launching an all-out attack on poverty in this prosperous country... through a higher minimum wage, better Social Security and jobless pay, more slum clearance, aid to depressed areas, more help to the marginal farmer, the sharecropper and the migrant worker, a concentrated drive on illiteracy, improved distribution of surplus food and a better economic break for minority groups."

"This is no time to say we can out-talk or out-shout Khrushchev. I want to out-do him, to out-produce him, to prove to a watching world that we are the wave of the future and that the Communist system is as old as the Pharaohs."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon:
(In Mt. Clemens and Flint, Mich.): "On Thursday, the President of the United States will present once again to the United Nations the deep yearning of our country for a just and dependable peace..."

"This is a situation gravely important to our country and to the cause for peace. It places a special responsibility upon me... upon our opponents in this campaign... the responsibility of conducting ourselves, in all that we say and do, with maturity and judgment. We have responsibility in avoiding resort to statements which tend to divide America, which tend to disparage America, and which in any way would encourage Chairman Khrushchev and his fellow dictators to believe that this nation, the leader of the free world, is weak of will, is indecisive, is unsure of itself and hesitant to use her vast power, is poorly defended, is held at bay by imperialistic communism or is divided in opinion on world affairs believing that the majority of mankind holds her in disdain."

"A great struggle was never won by a lack of belief in one's own strength and ability or purpose or by a defeatist attitude..."

"As our free nation deliberately subjects itself, because of its freedom, to the impact of these dictatorial leaders and their twisted philosophy, let us not panic or search for faults in ourselves that would give strength to their distorted reasoning. Instead, let America, all partnership aside, stand confidently in the right, united behind the President as he presents our case before the United Nations, secure and unperturbed in the knowledge that we are on the side of freedom and justice, supported by our nation's vast military and economic strength, the greatest on earth."

To perk up lagging appetites at breakfast time, top ready-to-eat cereal with juicy slices or balls of canoloupe, drizzle with a little honey and serve with milk or light cream.

Don't Pass Clothing Along in Family, Say Psychologists

Chicago — UPI — Passing one child's clothes along to a younger one may be psychologically damaging for both recipient and former wearer.

That's what child psychologists, surveyed by the Garment Dyers Guild of America, report.

Psychologists said the younger child inwardly resents the fact that he is not considered important enough to warrant new clothes.

The older child, meanwhile, may be harboring some "normal jealousy" resulting from attention to this relative newcomer in the family — a younger brother or sister.

And, say the psychologists, he may view the transfer of clothes — despite the fact he's outgrown them — as another "sign" of transferred parental affection.

MEETS PRESIDENT — President Eisenhower posed for photographs with a number of GOP congressional candidates at the White House Tuesday. Among them was State Sen. Edwin Durno, Medford, who is opposing Rep. Charles O. Porter in Oregon's fourth congressional district.
