Help Wanted

The Mail Tribune has taken on several new correspondents within the past couple of months, but we still need at least two more—one in Prospect and another in Rogue River.

Some experience would help, but it certainly isn't required. The main qualification is interest.

If anyone in Prospect or Rogue River is interested, I'd appreciate a call or letter. We want to print more news from both communities but, frankly, we need some help.

Our newest correspondent is Mrs. Dolores Armstrong in Central Point. Others who have joined us recently are Mrs. Hazel Davis and Mrs. Betty Reedy of Happy Camp, Mrs. Ann Katzenbach of Williams and Bessie Boyd Frazier of Yreka. If you have some news, they're the ladies you should contact.

But if the news concerns a house fire, call the fire department first.

Especially if it's your house.

Some of our Ashland subscribers, I understand, would like to see more school and club news from their fair city. The Mail Tribune will be glad to print these items but none of our staffers has time to gather them.

I suggest the publicity chairman for the various organizations and clubs and the student reporters at the schools mail their items to the paper. That's the way they're obtained from other communities within our circulation area, including Medford.

Numerous subscribers in northern California have asked that the paper list television programs received in their areas. Starting today, that's what we're going to do.

The schedule appears elsewhere on this page (translation: I'm not sure where the makeup men put it) and will be published each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. We'll have Monday's and Tuesday's programs listed Monday, Wednesday's and Thursday's listed Wednesday, and Friday's, Saturday's and Sunday's listed Friday.

The first schedule includes programs to be aired by KVIP-TV (Channel 7) in Redding and KHSB-TV (Channel 12) in Chico. We expect within the next week or so to include programs of Eureka's KIEM-TV (Channel 3).

We ask only that our northern California subscribers read the single sentence under the "N. California Television Log" headline.

"Programs listed below," it says, "are received from the television stations and the Mail Tribune assumes no responsibility except to make changes as supplied."

And there's one other thing. Remember: More people in northern California get their television schedules from this newspaper than from any other single source at 33 North Fir st., in Medford, Ore.

Thank you, and good night.

'Old Rose Garden' Dedication Slated For This Sunday

By BETTE HOSKINS
Mail Tribune Correspondent
Jacksonville—Final arrangements for this Sunday's dedication of the "Jacksonville Old Rose Garden" have been made by the Medford Rose society during a meeting at the home of the society's president, Dr. L. G. Gentner.

Ceremonies will begin at the garden site at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dedication address will be given by Mrs. Daniel Heffner of Portland, Pacific Northwest director of the American Rose society.

The garden, planted in June with 100 old fashioned roses, is ideally located immediately north of the old pioneer Methodist church and across the street from the historic Jacksonville museum. It is expected that thousands of visitors will see it each year.

According to the Rose society, the garden is believed to be the first in the United States devoted exclusively to old fashioned roses.

The garden was established as a result of an agreement between the city of Jacksonville and the Rose society last April 5 when the city donated the property and set it aside for this purpose.

The city agreed to provide reasonable maintenance and care, including irrigation and weeding as long as the garden exists, and the society assumed the responsibility of planting the roses, pruning and spraying them and performing other tasks to make the garden a worthwhile community project.
