Pirates Lose to Braves, But Cubs Eliminate Card Nine in National League

The New York Yankees took it in stride and the Pittsburgh Pirates took it any way they could get it. That was perfectly understandable. For the Yankees, Sunday's 4-3 pennant clincher against the Boston Red Sox marked the 25th American league championship in their history and their 10th during Casey Stengel's 12-year tenure.

They were bound to be a bit ho-hum about it, even though the completely dedicated Stengel commented, "It gets tougher and tougher to win 'em every year."

It was a different story with the Pirates, however. This was their first National League pennant in 33 years and they should have really whooped it up, but something of the edge was taken off because they felt they had backed into it.

The minor calamity came about when the Chicago Cubs mathematically eliminated the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, 5-0, and the Milwaukee Braves beat the Pirates, 4-2, on Eddie Mathews' two-run homer in the 10th inning.

Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh saw no reason for any gloom though. "Any club that wins 92 games in this league doesn't back into any pennant," he said.

Thus, the Pirates will meet the Yankees in the World Series just as they did in 1927. The Yankees won four in a row that year.

Murtaugh said the Pirates didn't care who they would meet in the World Series "but I think the Pittsburgh fans would rather have us play the Yankees because of what they did to us the last time we met them."

The twin clinchings by the Yankees and Pirates overshadowed the rest of Sunday's baseball schedule, of course. For the morbidly curious, however, Baltimore beat Washington, 3-1, Cleveland blanked Chicago, 4-0, and Detroit edged Kansas City, 6-5, in the AL. Over in the National League, Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati, 7-1, and San Francisco downed Los Angeles, 13-9.

Ralph Terry, 24-year-old bridegroom-to-be who killed off the Orioles' hopes by pitching a two-hitter against them a week ago Sunday, was credited with Sunday's win for the Yanks against Boston.

Terry had a four-hitter until the ninth when the Red Sox put together three singles for one run and knocked him out.

Luis Arroyo came in, made only one pitch and got Pete Runnels on a foul pop that gave the Yankees their ninth victory in a row plus the pennant. Roger Maris drove in two runs with three hits. Red Sox reliever Mike Fornieles tied the AL record by appearing in his 69th game of the season.

Mathews' game-winning blow against the Pirates was his 38th homer of the year and it came off loser Roy Face, who relieved starter Harvey Haddix in the eighth. The victory went to rookie Ron Piche, who took over for Warren Spahn in the ninth.

The Pirates knew they had clinched the pennant an hour before their game with the Braves was over. They had gotten the news that the Cubs had beaten the Cardinals.

Glen Hobbie limited the Redbirds to six hits in winning his 15th game against 20 defeats. The Cubs clinched the game by hopping on Larry Jackson for four runs in the second inning.

Brooks Robinson's three-run homer in the eighth off loser Jack Kralick enabled the Orioles to beat the Senachal was the winner and Stan Williams the loser.
